HOUSE TAX BODY AGREES ON NEW INCOME LEVIES

Rates Hit Highest Point in History.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—After three months of wrangling, the house ways and means committee today approved and made public the new tax rates on 1942 income which the committee will recommend to congress.

Under the new rates an estimated 3 billion dollars more in income taxes will be levied upon the wage earner and the nation's taxpaying group will be swollen by 7 million more persons to an estimated 30 million individuals.

The rates represent a compromise between the harsh new surtaxes suggested by the treasury department on March 3 and the lighter rates proposed by the committee's own staff of experts.

What New Rates Mean.

The new rates hit the low and moderate income groups. To single men in the $12 to $25 a week class the committee proposal means that they will pay taxes where they previously paid none, or will pay as much as 400 per cent more than before.

Married persons, either with or without dependents, in the $2,100 to $4,000 a year class, will be subject to similar increases.

The committee reserved decision on whether to include in the new tax bill a provision to permit the treasury to collect income taxes, which ordinarily would not be due until next March 15, out of the pay envelope beginning some time this year. Under such a plan the taxpayer who is paying his 1941 income tax in quarterly instalments this year would be paying taxes on both 1941 and 1942 income at the same time.

How Taxes Will Affect You.

A $600 a year single man paid nothing under the present law; he will pay $14 under the new schedule, largely because his personal exemption has been cut from $750 to $500.

The $2,500 single man's tax bill will rise from $69 to $171.

The $5,000 a year single man will pay $875 instead of $483 as under the present law.

The married man with children gets a break in that the $400 credit for each dependent has not been lowered, but his personal exemption as a married person has been cut from $1,500 to $1,200.

Thus a married man with two children, receiving $2,200 a year, paid no income tax under the present law, but he will have to pay $24 under the new program.

A married man with two children gets off with a $12 tax on a $2,500 income at present, but will have to pay $75 under the new law.

The $4,000 a year man in this group, whose tax bill now is $154, will be asked to kick in with $336.

Higher Brackets Hit, Too.

The increases also are severe in the higher income brackets, but because persons in this group already have been hit hard, the boosts will not be felt so heavily. A $10,000 a year single man, for example, will pay $2,295, instead of $1,493; the $25,000 a year single man gets his $7,224 tax raised to $9,831, and the $100,000 a year single man forks over $63,646 instead of $53,214.

The committee already had decided to raise the so-called normal tax on incomes from 4 to 6 per cent. This tax is applied to all net incomes, no matter what their size. The surtaxes proposed by the committee start at 12 per cent on the first $2,000 of net income, instead of 6 per cent as under present law.

But surtaxes rise rapidly under the committee's plan, becoming 19 per cent on incomes between $4,000 and $6,000; 23 per cent on incomes between $6,000 and $8,000; and 27 per cent on the $8,000 to $10,000 class.

Those in the $25,000 income class will pay more than half their income in surtaxes alone, the rate being 51 per cent. The rates rise to 81 per cent for incomes of $200,000 and over.

Alienists Tied 3-3 on Sanity of Movie Killer

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

Five psychiatrists testified yesterday at the trial of Clarence McDonald, 17 years old, for the Palace theater slaying of his high school sweetheart, Dorothy Broz. This brought the psychiatric total to six and the final score to: Insane, 3; sane, 3. Since each side summoned three of the witnesses the deadlock occasioned no great surprise.

The defense completed its case and closing arguments will begin this morning. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon or tonight.

Hospital Expert Testifies.

Dr. Thomas Cusack, a former all-Ireland Rugby player, was the next defense expert. He is now a member of the board of governors of the King's Park state hospital in Long Island, N. Y.

He told Defense Attorney Frank Ferlic that he examined McDonald April 25 and made a survey of his surroundings and associates in Berwyn and is convinced that the youth suffers from schizophrenia [split mind] now and did so Feb. 24 when he kissed and killed Miss Broz.

Ferlic then read a long hypothetical question dealing with a "male person 17 years and eight months old," with McDonald's background, appearance, and ancestry, who shot and killed his girl in the darkened balcony of a Chicago theater. Cusack said the hypothetical person was insane.

Doomed from Birth, He Says.

McDonald, he added, suffers from a narcissus complex and is "in love with his own person and features," is childish in his reactions, his crime didn't fit into reality, and—to Cusack's mind—he was doomed from birth to probable insanity.

Curtis traced the actions of McDonald the day he shot Dorothy, but couldn't shake Cusack. The witness said he thought it "bizarre and strange" that McDonald bought candy for himself and Dorothy if he intended to kill her. He also said that "shooting her before 2,000 people and then going home" was "very bizarre."

Finally, after gently correcting Curtis' mispronunciation of schizophrenia, his cross-examination was concluded and Dr. Cusack bowed to attorneys for both side, to the jury, and to Chief Justice Robert Jerome Dunne, and retired. The defense then rested.

Sane, Captain Believes.

Police Capt. Thomas J. Duffy, who was with McDonald thruout Feb. 25, the day after the shooting, was then recalled by the state. Curtis brought out his long experience with boys' clubs in the Sheffield avenue and Woodlawn districts, and asked whether he thought Clarence insane. He said he considered him sane on that day.

There followed in rapid succession Dr. John J. Madden, Loyola university psychiatrist; Dr. William H. Haines, head of the Cook County Behavior clinic, and Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, state alienist and head of the Neuropsychiatric institute [and incidentally Dr. Kraines' superior].

Three Declare Him Sane.

All said they considered the hypothetical person sane when the crime was committed and capable of distinguishing and choosing between right and wrong.

Dr. Hoffman admitted under Ferlic's cross-examination that he arrived at the conclusion that the hypothetical person was sane after about 45 minutes' consideration of the hypothetical question before he testified.

Professor Sues Woman; Tells His Secret Life

The secret life of a former history professor at Northwestern university, allegedly hounded for nearly 12 years by a woman he chanced to pick up, was bared yesterday in a damage suit filed in the Circuit court.

Prof. Ernest Lauer.

In the action, the former professor charged that she bled him out of almost $10,000 by threatening to expose his illicit relationship with her and finally succeeded last February in forcing him to resign his faculty position.

Beauty Operator Named.

Principals in the strange case are Prof. Ernest Lauer, 47 years old, Evanston, and Mrs. Grace Stoner, also 47, who, according to Lauer's attorney, Fred A. Gariepy, last worked as a beauty operator in a shop near Van Buren and Paulina streets. She lives at 1507 Van Buren street.

Prof. Lauer in yesterday's suit—technically a counterclaim—demanded $25,000 damages from Mrs. Stoner, charging that she ruined his career and wrongfully took his money. It was his answer to a suit filed by Mrs. Stoner in March asking him to make good on a $4,000 check he gave her.

Prof. Lauer recited the alleged history of his secret life with the woman. His bill asserted that he met her on Oct. 1, 1929, and was intimate with her then and upon various occasions thereafter.

Tells of Exposure Threat.

In July, 1931, Prof. Lauer alleged, he tried to break off the relationship, but she learned his true identity and threatened to expose him. At the time his wife, Oretta, was living. [She died in 1940.] Mrs. Stoner demanded $500, he charged, and he paid that sum.

"From then on," continued Prof. Lauer's suit, "she [Mrs. Stoner] repeatedly demanded large sums of money, threatening to expose him, and on each occasion he paid her the sums demanded, the total approximately $10,000."

Then came Feb. 15 when Mrs. Stoner allegedly made fresh demands and he gave her the $4,000 check but stopped payment. As a result, the suit alleged, Mrs. Stoner "published to his friends, relatives, students, and faculty officials that she had maintained immoral relations with him," and as a further result he resigned and is now jobless.

At N. U. Since 1918.

Prof. Lauer was educated at Iowa Wesleyan university, Garrett Biblical institute, Northwestern, and Harvard. He joined the Northwestern faculty in 1918.

Two untoward incidents marked his professional career. In 1927 he resigned after charges had been made that he had expounded atheistic doctrines; he rejoined the staff soon afterward. In 1937 he disappeared mysteriously from his home for several nights. The mystery of that disappearance went unexplained until yesterday. The cause, according to Attorney Gariepy, was Mrs. Stoner. "Prof. Lauer ran away from home because she harassed him," he said.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT TO CURTAIL HABIT OF USING OFFICIAL CARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt revealed today that henceforth she will commute to her innumerable engagements by day coach and street car rather than by plane or government automobile.

The President's wife said she reached this decision yesterday while riding in an official car to a private luncheon engagement. She suddenly asked herself: "Have I a right to ride like this?"

"It came over me that I do things without thinking," she mused. "So I have decided that I am entitled to ride in official cars only when I am doing something as the President's wife. Anything I do for personal interests does not entitle me to it."

Of course, she explained, she would go to New York by plane later today to attend an executive meeting of the International Student Service committee, but it was a prior engagement, she said.

"But I don't know," she reflected, "if it makes a pin's difference if I canceled all my speeches."

Union Forces City to Drop Economy Plan

Because the city of Chicago is afraid of sabotage if it doesn't, it will pay union workmen $50,000 to $250,000 more a year to get its truck fleets repaired than it would if it hired members of a second union, the one that does this sort of work for everybody else.

How the city took orders from a labor union was revealed yesterday. A city official, who urged that his name not be used, said flatly that he is afraid of the consequences if the higher paid workers do not get their demands.

Last year, with the authorization of Mayor Kelly and the council finance committee, the street department hired six auto mechanics to work in the city shops.

Big Wage Difference.

The mayor and the aldermen said then that private industry hires auto mechanics for this work, and there was no reason why the city should hire construction machinists to do it. The difference between the two, so far as the city is concerned, is that the mechanics get $1.12½ an hour, while the machinists get 50 cents an hour more.

So, three weeks ago the finance committee ordered all city department heads to report any truck repairs which might exceed $300, and the aldermen said such work might be done cheaper by the mechanics.

At that time Lloyd Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, put the six auto mechanics in charge of salvaging material from 90 city trucks which had been scheduled for the junk pile. The mechanics told him they could construct 30 usable trucks out of the junk. Yesterday Johnson fired them.

Mechanics Charge Bad Faith.

Don Burrows, business manager of the auto mechanics' union, charged the city had broken faith with him. Johnson's explanation was that a jurisdictional fight was involved. He said: 'The machinists' union, is the stronger of the two. That union said it would not countenance having the auto mechanics work in city shops."

Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of the finance committee, said last night when told of the city's change in attitude: "It will investigate this the first thing tomorrow."

When Mayor Kelly was asked about the firing of the mechanics, he said, "It is entirely in Johnson's hands—he is head of the department."

PROBE VAST FEE SHAKEDOWN AT ARMS PLANTS

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Bloomington, Ill., May 20 [Special].—Sensational charges that many residents of central Illinois towns were forced to pay fees running into large sums of money to get jobs on the government's construction of big ordnance plants in Illinois were under a sweeping investigation tonight by Attorney General George F. Barrett and Clifford N. Coolidge, state's attorney of McLean county.

It is charged that the money was paid to a politico-union combine that dealt directly with men who wanted jobs as laborers and truckers. Among the allegations are:

Truck owners were forced to pay a $300 advance fee to get work on the government plants at Wilmington and Kankakee in 1941.

They had to pay $60 initiation fees and $3 advance dues to the teamsters' union in Joliet.

They then had to pay $50 a week to keep the trucks on the job.

What Laborers Paid.

Laborers had to pay $15 dues in the hod carriers' union and $6 advance dues, as well as $25 memberships in the Democratic club of Weston, home town of a mystery man, George W. Ziller, who was the official collector.

Most of the accusations center on the huge form of Ziller. He is more than 6 feet tall and his neighbors vary in guessing his weight only as to whether it is "more than 300 or less than 400 pounds." Ziller has offices in his Weston home, in Springfield and at times in the Louis Joliet hotel in Joliet. He is head of the Democratic Club of Weston [$25 a year dues] and reputedly has state-wide influence in the Democratic party.

Altho Westoners say that Ziller has never had a job, they all know his big black Cadillac car, usually chauffeur driven, with one red headlight. They remember his Democratic picnic last summer where one wag asserted that it had cost some of the guests $25 a sandwich. But none of them doubts his power.

Collects for Two Unions.

Ziller collects dues for two unions in Joliet, local 179 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and local 75 of the Hod Carriers, Building Construction and Common Laborers International. He signs receipts for both initiation fees and dues, as agent for Virgil Floyd, the teamsters' union chief, and John Groff, business agent of the hod carriers.

These unions decreed and enforced a closed shop for all the labor engaged in 1940 and 1941 on the great ordnance projects of the government in Will and Kankakee counties, which

WASHINGTON BUILDS DORMITORY QUARTERS FOR EMPLOYED GIRLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Dormitories for housing 14,000 or more girl defense workers will dot Washington and its environs before the year is out. Government funds will finance the project thru the Federal Housing administration.

Several of the dormitories now are under construction. Details were given out today by Mrs. Roosevelt. The dormitories, aimed to solve a major problem in Washington's current congestion, will be made up of 8 by 10 foot rooms available at a monthly rate of $50 or less, including breakfast and supper.

The rooms will be furnished with a studio couch or double decker bed, closet, arm chair, straight chair, drop leaf table, and lamp. Communal baths will be located on each floor. Each dormitory will have a large reception lounge, laundry, hospital, shopping center, game court, and matron. The larger buildings will contain a small theater for motion pictures.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

Chinese forces fought to stem two Japanese drives along the eastern coast of Chekiang province, Chungking announced. Japanese planes were bombing paths for five columns sweeping southward. No major action occurred in Burma.

Allied bombers destroyed two grounded Japanese planes and started large fires in an attack on Koepang, Dutch Timor, while military objectives in Dili harbor, in the Portuguese half of the island, also were attacked, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced. Four of 12 Japanese fighter planes were damaged when intercepted by allied planes during an attack on Port Moresby, New Guinea.

Reds Gain at Kharkov.

The Russians said their drive toward Kharkov, now in its second week, still was gaining ground despite German smashes at the soviet flank, 80 miles to the south. They claimed the Red armies also were fighting near Kerch, in the Crimea. Berlin said the Russian attacks at Kharkov were repulsed "in hard struggles."

Hundreds of planes showered 40,000 incendiary bombs and "great loads" of explosives on Mannheim in a renewal of British night raids. It was the 54th raid on the German industrial center.

Nazis Give U.S. Citizen, 80, One of Two Choices

LISBON, Portugal, May 20 (AP).—Among the Americans who arrived today on diplomatic trains for repatriation from axis countries was 80 year old James Spellman of San Francisco, a disabled veteran of the last war who elected to leave Austria when ordered to give up his daily hoisting of the Stars and Stripes over his farm home near Vienna.

"All my five sons, Milton, Henry, Morton, Robert, and"—the feeble old man just couldn't recall the name of the fifth, and this brought tears—"already have joined up," he said.

"I know they have done so even tho I have had no news from them—they just couldn't help doing it now because they did it the last time."

Sent Away with Only $4.

Unable to walk unaided, even with crutches, the old man whose last few hairs are white but whose eyes sparkle and who can speak five languages, was taken to a nursing home.

"They stripped me of everything," he said, "and gave me 10 dirty marks [nominally $4]—not even silver. They must have hoped I would die before I could tell my whole story and about all I saw, but I am determined to disappoint them, to tell of the crimes I have seen committed in Austria."

In Austria he always hoisted the American flag at his farm and his fences and a tower there were painted red, white, and blue. Authorities told him he either must give up such manifestations of American patriotism or go to jail.

Farm to Housekeeper.

They finally expelled him and he thanked them for letting him bring his crutches.

Declaring he had gone to Austria with thousands of dollars, he said he left there "a beggar." He was awakened at 5 a. m. last Saturday, forced to deed over his farm to his housekeeper, and go with the others expelled, he said.

FBI CLEARS HIM; QUIZ ASKED OF HIS DETRACTORS

Publisher, Lawyer, Winchell Named.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—What was described as a diabolical conspiracy to besmirch Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee and a leading prewar noninterventionist, was exposed and denounced on the floor of the senate today as one of the most despicable attempts at character assassination that could be conceived.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky announced that the department of justice had made a complete investigation of charges published by the New York Post involving a so-called "house of degradation" in Brooklyn, which was represented as a center of Nazi espionage and of loathsome offenses. The newspaper charged that Sen. Walsh frequented the Brooklyn resort.

Complete Exoneration.

Sen. Barkley said he had received from the justice department official reports and documents "which amply and overwhelmingly justify the complete and thoro exoneration of the senator from Massachusetts from any suspicion of ever having been to the place referred to or anywhere near it, or ever having engaged in any activity which could have justified any honest man in making the assertion that he ever was there."

Majority Leader Barkley disclaimed any knowledge of the motives behind the plot to smear Sen. Walsh. Noninterventionist leaders charged, however, that it was part of a far-reaching and almost incredibly fiendish movement to destroy the character and influence not only of Sen. Walsh and other prewar noninterventionists in congress but of all others who opposed our entrance into the war prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Inquiry Demanded.

Identified in recent smear plots against critics of the administration, pre-Pearl Harbor noninterventionists, and newspapers have been The New Republic, of which Bruce Bliven is editor; Archibald MacLeish, poet and director of the Office of Facts and Figures; Henry R. (White Feather) Luce, publisher of the Time-Life-Fortune axis; the Rev. Leon M. Birkhead, a dissident Methodist minister and head of the so-called Friends of Democracy, and Charles Michelson, publicity chief of the Democratic national committee.

Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] and Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] demanded a senate investigation of all aspects of the conspiracy in order that the guilty persons might be haled before the bar of the senate for punishment. Sen. Barkley said he would consider the proposal, but did not wish to give a categorical answer immediately.

Sen. Clark demanded that the

A challenge to Chicago to resume its place as the nation's leader in recruiting men for the navy was given and rapidly and enthusiastically accepted yesterday.

The gauntlet was thrown down by Lieut. David N. Goldenson, navy recruiting officer for the area, speaking at a meeting called by Mayor Kelly in the city hall council chambers. It was picked up by the mayor and the more than 80 civic and business leaders, who pledged full coöperation in urging young men to join the navy.

Tells of Recruiting Lag.

Lieut. Goldenson said that on Dec. 8—the day after Pearl Harbor—the navy recruiting office in the United States courthouse was jammed with 600 prospective recruits, whereas the usual number before that had been 25 or 30 a day. The boom continued until April when, he said, Chicago enlistments "slipped miserably, falling almost out of sight."

"Enlistments have picked up since then," Lieut. Goldenson went on. "We might say they were good enough, but good enough is a slogan of defeat.

"Chicago has been first, and it should be first again. This city has the 'I Will' spirit. We need men right away."

Mayor Promises Action.

Mayor Kelly said that Chicago will respond to the plea.

"I now proclaim June as Navy month for Chicago," he declared, "and we will flood the city with campaign material to boost enlistments. I am calling on newspaper publishers for editorials, pictures, and stories, on radio men for time on the air, on outdoor advertising men to put up recruiting billboards. We will have a thermometer in the Congress street plaza to record the enlistments. We will have a patriotic festival on July 4, when recruits will be sworn in at Soldiers' field."

The mayor is honorary chairman of a committee to increase the recruiting. He appointed Victor Dreiske, president of the Rotary Club of Chicago, as executive chairman.

W. E. Macfarlane, business manager of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and president of the Mutual Broadcasting system, appeared on behalf of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and told how this newspaper and W-G-N already are coöperating in the drive.

Vigorous Support Pledged.

"Col. McCormick has assured vigorous support for the campaign," he said, "thru editorials, stories, cartoons, and pictures in the newspaper, and in his addresses on the radio. On Thursday night W-G-N and Mutual will have a half hour program to speed navy enlistment. I can promise the unstinted and vigorous support of THE TRIBUNE, W-G-N, and Mutual."

Others who spoke and promised coöperation included Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, J. G. Kennedy, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union; Charles R. Walgreen Jr. of the Walgreen drug store chain, E. J. Doyle of the Commonwealth Edison company, Frank V. Martinek of the Standard Oil company, James B. McCahey, president of the school board; Arthur Canty, county American Legion commander, and Mrs. Helen Joyce, head of the Navy Mothers' club.

The following committee chairmen were named: Finance committee, Harold H. Swift; industrial committee, Edward L. Ryerson; office and supplies committee, W. O. Kurtz; outdoor advertising committee, Harris Pearlstein; newspaper committee, Elmer T. Stevens; contact committee, Canty; printing committee, Gen. Robert E. Wood; theater committee, John Balaban, and radio committee, Hill Blackett.

CHICAGO SCHOOL ROTC UNITS WIN OFFICER'S PRAISE

High praise was given yesterday to Chicago's high school Reserve Officers' Training corps by Lieut. Col. R. T. Rouse, who has been in Chicago since May 1 making a federal inspection of the cadets for the war department. The federal inspection is made annually.

Lieut. Col. R. T. Rouse.

"I have been very much impressed by the interest shown and the outstanding leadership displayed by these young cadets in Chicago," said Col. Rouse. "At each of the schools I held inspection in ranks, drill, and practical and theoretical work. General appearance was excellent, and deportment above reproach. I am sure there is good future officer material among the Chicago ROTC cadets."

Col. Rouse, who is regularly attached to an armored division in the east, was assigned to inspect the ROTC while on leave. His assignment covered 27 public high schools and one parochial school in Chicago, one in Evanston, and several in downstate Illinois and in Wisconsin. He will rate the Chicago schools in numerical order according to their showing in his formal report to Washington.

OCD CHIEF RAPS LA GUARDIA FOR LOOSE REMARKS

Washington, D. C., May 20 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York was accused today by James M. Landis, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, of "irresponsibility of utterance" which he characterized as second in wartime "only to giving information to the enemy."

Answering repeated charges by La Guardia that the federal government—"presumably the OCD"—had halted delivery of 22,000 steel helmets to New York City, Landis asserted that New York City officials had declined to accept steel helmets of a design which seemingly had been approved while the New York mayor was OCD director.

Free gas masks will be distributed to all civilians beginning the last of this month under a program for produc- Landis declared. He said the first masks would go to persons most likely to need them first, such as policemen, firemen, and air raid wardens.

NAVY PREPARES TO TRAIN NEGROES IN COMBAT UNITS

Washington, D. C., May 20 [Special].—The navy department tonight started machinery which on June 1 will begin the recruiting of Negroes for their first chance at combat service in the navy and the marine corps.

The navy plans to absorb 1,000 Negroes a month and to train them in virtually all the skills fitting them for shore and sea service. The marine corps will form in June and July a complete battalion of 900 Negroes equipped and trained in all arms, from machine guns to tanks.

This program carries out a policy already announced in general terms by the navy. Secretary Frank Knox said some weeks ago that when Negroes were enlisted they would be assigned to unit service on shore or patrol boats. He indicated there would be no mixed service by whites and Negroes at sea.

As outlined by an official navy announcement tonight, the new program appears to open to Negroes most types of specialized service as well as general enlisted service, with base pay ranging as high as $72 per month, or $96 a month if the pending pay increase bill is passed by congress.

Negroes accepted for general service, it was stated, will receive eight weeks' training at the Great Lakes Naval Training station and will have opportunity for training in vocational schools. Specialized courses lasting 16 weeks will be given Negroes who specalize as electricians, carpenters, ship fitters, machinists, metal smiths, firemen, and cooks. This training will be undergone at Hampton institute, Virginia.

Some Negroes will be chosen for special training as aviation machinists and metal smiths. The most proficient among those at Great Lakes station will be trained further as gunners, quartermasters, yeomen, storekeepers, cooks, radio men, and other specialists. A number of bandsmen also will be trained.

Plans announced for the marine corps battalion of Negroes indicate that the marines will endeavor to form an élite group of fighters into a task force patterned after the latest model for such forces—a miniature Negro seagoing army equipped with every device used by combat troops, except aircraft.

M'CAHEY DEFENDS BUYING SYSTEM FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Those Who Use Materials Help Purchase Them.

[Serious and repeated charges have been made against the Chicago board of education by citizens' committees, teachers' unions, and individuals. The Tribune has laid these charges before James B. McCahey, president of the board. In this and subsequent articles Mr. McCahey's answers to the charges are presented.]

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

THE ANSWER:

Home grown experts in the purchasing system of the Chicago board of education satisfy President James B. McCahey, he says, despite the recommendations of Dr. Russell Forbes, $12,000 a year commissioner of purchases of New York City, who made a study for the Mellinger citizens' committee here.

As to New York's "supercentralized" purchasing system, McCahey feels that's New York's hard luck.

Cites Private Business.

In his private business, McCahey says, he develops his own men from the ground up. He gets them young, sends them to school, and takes them back into his coal company. He doesn't find it necessary to get someone from outside when a special job comes up.

In the Chicago school system, specifications for needed supplies are drawn by engineers and principals in the schools — "the people who will use the purchases"—and then pass thru the hands of the home grown experts.

These experts, according to McCahey, include the chief engineer, John Howatt, of 29 years' service; the chief architect, John C. Christensen, of 34 years' service; the head of the printing department, Julius Plum, of 40 years' service; Col. Howard P. Savage, the business manager, who has been with the board for 10 years, and William J. Cooney, of more than 30 years' service, who heads the bureau of educational expenditures.

Committee of Experts Used.

Textbook purchases and buying of food for the school lunchrooms are directed by two other departments, which McCahey said he will tell about later.

"Suppose a piece of machinery is to be bought for a technical high school," says McCahey. "With Howatt, Cooney, and Col. Savage you would have Wilson Frankland, the board member representing the AFL and who knows machinery, as a committee of experts. Their decision is about the best you can get."

McCahey picked up an order for paper stock for the printer; samples [as required for every item] had been submitted and the veteran Mr. Plum had decided which fulfilled the specifications. In New York the decision would be made by a purchasing department employé.

Purchasing Example Cited.

A new requisition called for 100 pieces of wool trousers remnants, the order to be divided between two of the largest men's tailoring firms in the country. The tailoring teacher at the Washburne Trade school had stated the names of the suppliers. Why? Col. Savage answered:

"Investigation showed that the two firms were willing to supply a limited quantity of the material at $1.25 and $1.75 a yard because of their interest in the tailoring course. The market price was $3.25 and $3.50 a yard. That's why the teacher named the suppliers."

The purchasing department proper for Chicago schools consists of 35 employés, Col. Savage said, with 77 others in other departments concerned with the same type of work.

In New York the local governments have a central department of purchases with a budget of $1,502,928 for salaries and overhead in the fiscal year 1941-'42. Examination of this budget showed 732 employés. In addition, there is the New York office of the superintendent of school supplies, whose new budget shows 312 employés.

Col. Savage Is Boss.

"If you put a budget like that in front of Chicago taxpayers, they'd faint," said Col. Savage.

Christ A. Jensen, Democratic 40th ward committeeman, has held the title of purchasing agent since 1935. McCahey is emphatic in stating that Col. Savage is the boss of purchases, quoting the law which says: "The business manager shall have general charge and control, subject to approval of the board, of all purchases."

All purchases of $300 or more must be put thru the sealed bid process, wherein bids are opened in public and submitted for board approval, but many under that amount are handled the same way.

New York Figure Cited.

In New York the comparable bid figure is $1,000. In buying for federal defense courses, by government order, the school board uses the $1,000 figure, too.

Ironically, McCahey says, this caution of the board also has drawn complaints. It means more paper work, and McCahey said that Dr. Forbes recommended general adoption of the $1,000 starter for sealed bid purchases.

"Apparently we can't please some people no matter what we do," McCahey said.

Dr. Forbes reported that the existing purchasing organization "assumes no responsibility for specifications, responsibility for bidders, award of contract, testing and inspection, storage or disposal of salvage, all of which are functions of a modern purchasing organization."

These functions are carried out by various officials and divisions, while the New Yorker favors an elaborate centralized setup to take them over, McCahey said. He added that he was unable to get from Forbes any assurance that money would be saved if the changes were made.

Many of Mrs. Thorne's miniatures were exhibited at Chicago's A Century of Progress exposition and also at the New York fair.

At the close of the nursing convention in Chicago, Mrs. Belmont, chairman of the Red Cross Committee on Home Nursing, will take the miniature to New York, where it will be exhibited at various Red Cross chapter offices and centers. Eventually, it is believed, the miniature will be placed in a New York museum.

FRENCH PATRIOTS ESCAPE ISLES TO JOIN DE GAULLE

'Mystery Man' Tells Their Hardships.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN WEST INDIES, May 20.—The amazing story of an underground movement which is aiding hundreds of Frenchmen in Martinique, Guadeloupe, and French Guiana to escape and join Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces in Africa, was revealed to a group of American war correspondents recently by a cultured Frenchman.

The mystery man made correspondents swear they would not reveal the place of meeting nor give a personal description of him.

He told how patriots from Martinique and Guadeloupe are making daring escapes under the eyes of Vichy officials and the island police, risking their lives to join the "Free French" cause.

"These men of the islands must give up all—homes, family, everything," he said.

Escape in Small Boats.

"Their only escape is by small fishing craft or pleasure boats, and the voyage is a dangerous one, over a sea often swept by hurricanes. Some have even come by row boats, their hands masses of blisters on their arrival after many hours of rowing.

"Some are caught in ill planned escapes or when they try to flee by sailboat and the wind dies. These are punished with long sentences in the awful jails of the colonies."

The escape procedure is this: The men buy a boat or pay fishermen to take them to the nearest free island or colony. There they go to police authorities, who take their statement. The many ears of the underground soon pick up the fact that some escapees have arrived. They are met, fitted out with clothes and sent on their way to a secret rendezvous in the Indies.

Meet at Secret Place.

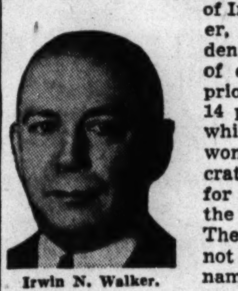
There they meet a recruiting agent of the De Gaulle forces and are enlisted. They are then shipped to London or Africa and eventually join the fighting forces.

The informant refused to disclose the number of men who have fled in such a manner since the fall of France, but it was understood to be more than 300. Most recruits are for colored regiments. He explained that it was very difficult for whites to escape, and said that any suspected of "Free French" sympathy are guarded night and day.

"Despite the close watch, the men are getting thru," said the mystery man. "What we hope is that the number of our recruits grows."

MAYOR REVEALS WALKER HAS QUIT SCHOOL BOARD

Mayor Kelly disclosed yesterday that he had accepted the resignation of Irwin N. Walker, vice president of the board of education, prior to the April 14 primary in which Walker won the Democratic nomination for congress in the 9th district. The mayor did not announce the name of Walker's successor.



Irwin N. Walker.

"I foolishly asked Mr. Walker to keep our agreement quiet as a favor to me," the mayor said. "My reason was that immediately a vacancy on the school board is announced, I am deluged with requests from organizations sponsoring candidates and I wanted a little time to think about it first.

"I say it was foolish because it brought unnecessary attacks upon Mr. Walker as a candidate for reappointment. And he has not attended a school board meeting since his term expired in April."

Postoffice Sells $406,162 Worth of Bonds in a Day

The Chicago postoffice system had one of its biggest war bond and stamp sales days yesterday, with a total of $406,162.55. Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said stamps outsold the bonds, stamp sales being $205,331.50 and bond sales $200,831.25.

DOOLITTLE TELLS OF TOKIO RAID ON W-G-N PROGRAM

Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the American flyers in the bombing of Tokio on April 18, told his experiences last night in a W-G-N-Mutual radio broadcast from the war department in Washington, D. C.

Doolittle predicted that his surprise attack was only the first of many that both Japan and Germany would suffer at American hands. He said:

"We have in our training centers, on our production lines, the pattern from which will be built many more surprises for Japan and Germany. It is the ultimate pattern for our own victory."

"The greatest result of the bombing," the flying hero said, "was the material and psychological effect on the enemy. In neither respect will they recover soon.

"My faith in American fighting men and fighting planes was never so strong as it is now."

Doolittle revealed one new fact: One rear gunner looked back at a distance of 30 miles and saw columns of smoke rising thousands of feet in the air, presumably from one of the bombed cities.

Doolittle did not reveal the place of the takeoff or landing, explaining that this would be a secret until the Japanese could find out for themselves.

REDS' KHARKOV PUSH ROLLS ON; 5 TOWNS TAKEN

Halt Calls to Sweden

STOCKHOLM, May 21 [Thursday]—(AP).—Telephone communication between Sweden and Germany was cut off by Berlin last night without explanation. It was the second recent disruption of service between the two countries. The service was cut for nine hours May 9-10 and at that time Berlin hinted that "good news is appearing in due time."

[International telephone disruptions are favorite devices when Germany is playing a war of nerves. The Nazis periodically stopped telephoning between Germany and Russia for a month before they attacked the Reds.]

MOSCOW, May 21 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Red army offensive around Kharkov still was rolling ahead at dawn today over ground "littered with wrecked German tanks and machines," the official news agency Tass said.

Fresh German reserves have been thrown against the soviets but five villages have been recaptured by the Red army, and an attempted German counteroffensive 80 miles south of Kharkov in the Barvenkova-Izyum sector has been checked, the dispatch said.

Moreover, the Russians declared their armies still were fighting near Kerch in the eastern Crimea [where the Germans claimed complete occupation of bridgeheads on the narrow straits opposite the Caucasus].

In the Barvenkova sector where the Russians yesterday acknowledged the Germans had begun a counter-offensive, the soviet communique said "our troops repulsed several attacks of German Fascist troops."

The midnight communique said a soviet ship had sunk three German transports totaling 26,000 tons in the Barents sea [a part of the Arctic] and Red airmen were declared to have shot down 27 Nazi planes while losing 12 of their own in aerial combat on Tuesday.

Chute Attack on Caucasus.

LONDON, May 20 (AP).—Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's power drive toward Kharkov was reported by Russian sources today to have penetrated "into the heart of the city's defense," while in the battle torn Kerch isthmus of the Crimea the Nazis were believed massing 100,000 parachutists for a mighty air borne invasion of the Caucasus.

Assert Soviets Repulsed.

BERLIN, May 20 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—While acknowledging renewed Russian attacks in the Kharkov area, the German communique today said these were repulsed "in hard struggles." In the Kharkov fighting the communique said that the Russians yesterday lost 34 tanks and 36 planes.

WAR IS HARDEST GERMANY EVER FOUGHT: GOERING

BERLIN, May 20 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, speaking at a ceremony at which decorations were conferred on workers, declared tonight that "this war is the hardest Germany has had to fight."

"The winter campaign has been terrible. The Fuehrer suffered deeply for his troops, but he knew he must not yield. There was no question of giving up our front positions because behind us there was only a heap of ruins. Therefore we had to hold the front—and only those who have experienced this know what it costs."

Goering said, "Russia's entry into Rumania and Finland showed that she intended to put Germany between two pincers and pounce upon her while she was still engaged in a life and death struggle in the west. The Fuehrer decided that it was necessary to strike first.

"Three extremely hard winters are behind us," he added. "The elements have not been kind to us. Last year's harvest was bad. Even now, while we rejoice in good weather, we hope it will rain soon because we need rain."

RECEIPTS BY U. S. AHEAD OF OUTGO SO FAR FOR YEAR

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—A treasury summary of its war business showed today that receipts from taxes, war bonds, and other sources from Jan. 1 to May 15 reached a total of $15,797,000,000.

This sum, it was shown, exceeded by $270,000,000 all expenditures of the treasury and government corporations. The spending figure included $12,192,000,000 for war activities.

The money taken in by the treasury, the statement said, included $5,860,000,000 from taxes, with the remainder coming from borrowings. One of the borrowing factors was the sale during this period of $3,117,000,000 worth of war savings bonds and stamps.

The tax figure showed receipts of $3,905,000,000 from income taxes [mostly in March, when annual returns were filed], $1,553,000,000 from tobacco, liquors, and other miscellaneous internal revenue, and $402,000,000 from other sources. Borrowing from the general public brought in $9,200,000,000, while that from government trust funds such as the old age reserve fund, brought in another $737,000,000.

Honor Slain Soldier

A check for $500 was presented last night to the Red Cross by members of the Rothschild lodge of B'nai B'rith in honor of the memory of Pvt. Sherman Levine, 19 years old, who was killed in action with the army air corps at Pearl Harbor. The money was raised at a memorial dance April 19. The presentation was made at the Midland hotel by the young hero's mother, Mrs. Esther Levine, who was accompanied by another son, George. The check was accepted for the Red Cross by Hal C. Bangs Jr. More than 200 persons attended the ceremony.

HOME CANNERS LIMIT OF SUGAR RATIONS EASED

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Sugar allotments for home canning were liberalized tonight. Under a new regulation, home canners will be entitled to one pound of sugar for every four quarts of canned fruit, and an additional pound of sugar for each member of the family to make jams, jellies, preserves, and fruit butters.

Previous regulations restricted each sugar ration cardholder to five pounds for home canning. If this amount has already been used in putting up early fruits and berries, it must be computed in any new canning allotment.

The liberalization was made, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said, to conserve fruit which might otherwise be wasted.

The much smaller allotment for jams and preserves was deliberately figured, OPA said, to encourage home canning instead of preserving, because the amount of sugar required per can of fruit is less in canning than in jam making or preserving.

WALL OF 'DON'TS' PINS GERMAN TO CHEERLESS LIFE

If He Violates the Rules Neighbor Will Tell.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, May 20.—Practically no one in Germany today stands a chance of escaping punishment for violations of rations restrictions. Reporting one's neighbor to the authorities is a favorite way of settling private grudges.

The average German has a hard, cheerless lot. He must work long hours, bolt down his insipid, and sometimes nauseous diet, lacking meats and fats, and he must remain in his home town. He is deprived of comforts. If he steps out of line he risks years in jail, or death.

Repressions More Severe.

Repression of violations has become more frequent and more severe. Judges and Nazi party orators from Hitler down repeat that no mercy will will be shown any one who tries to shirk his duty to the community or weaken its collective effort.

The most frequent violations, to judge by the judicial reports printed, are in food restrictions. The average of sentences to death or to long terms at hard labor, is near one a day. This sort of offense seems to come in waves, as if the people were terrorized for a time and then tempted to take chances.

Press Changes Its Tone.

In the first two years of the war the Germans were induced to bear their hardships with the assurance that they would have their reward with victory. The tone today is an exhortation to dogged endurance in the hope of victory.

The German press gives evidence unconsciously of the change in fortunes. Until last November it disdained to print news of any but the gigantic successes, where the German army allegedly destroyed planes and tanks by the thousand and took prisoners by the hundred thousand. Now it gives big play to stories of five Russian tanks put out of action.

From the official communiques and such comment on them as is allowed the average German can get little idea of the war. He can get some real news only on the back page where families insert paid notices of fallen kinsmen. Last winter they were taking up more space each day.

America and its place in the war are subjects of frequent press comment. Here the line is invariable—that America is a land of bluff and publicity, hence nothing Americans say or do is to be taken seriously.

Any optimism still remaining in Germany was hit a hard blow this winter by Hitler's action in removing Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch from his post as commander in chief of the German armies. That, and Hitler's speech later announcing there would be no more vacations for any one, inspired as much underground comment as Germans dared make and made many doubt whether things are as well as the official views would make them believe.

New War Action

LAVAL CONFERS WITH ARMY AND NAVAL CHIEFS

Four RAF Planes Downed Off Africa in 3 Days.

VICHY, France, May 20 (AP).—Chief of Government Pierre Laval conferred with his leading military and colonial advisers tonight after the French had announced that four British planes were destroyed or forced down off French African coasts in the last three days.

Successive communiques said an RAF plane was forced down Monday on the beach at Port Bouet, in the outer harbor of Abidjan, the capital of the Ivory Coast, and that the same day a British plane was destroyed in Algiers bay off North Africa and another shot down in an ensuing engagement. The French admitted losing one plane off Algiers.

Down One Near Dakar.

A fourth British plane, it was asserted, was brought down Tuesday at Conakry, the capital of French Guinea, 440 miles south of Dakar.

A communique—which nearly coincided with these announcements of clashes with the British—said Laval talked with Marshal Petain after returning from Paris late yesterday. Later Laval called a council including Jules Brevie, secretary for colonies; Vice Adm. Paul Auphand, navy secretary; Adm. Rene Platon, Laval's aide in the foreign office; Lieut. Gen. Eugene Bridoux, secretary for war; Gen. Henri Dentz, former commander in chief in Syria, and several other high ranking generals.

Seek to Block British.

Interest here centered on the increased determination of the Vichy French to block the skies against passage of British planes in the face of what appeared to be increased RAF activity over French territories, including Vichy.

Conakry and Abidjan are two important colonial ports. They are the only two African railheads south of Dakar in Vichy hands.

Port Bouet is on a sandbar, somewhat more than a mile wide, thru which a canal is now being dredged to the lagoon behind it to make Abidjan a port as important as Dakar. The British, with possessions on either side, have been intensely interested. [It is near the allied supply line across the heart of Africa.] Conakry is wedged between Bathurst and Freetown, both British possessions, 700 miles northwest.

ROBBED OF LIQUOR AND $25.

After two men forced him to lie down in the back of his truck as he stopped it at 2054 Lake street, they took $25 from his wallet and $80 worth of liquor which he was hauling, Abraham Lewis of 821 South Independence boulevard, reported to police yesterday.

JAPANESE PUSH TWO DRIVES INTO CHINA PROVINCE

Rains Drench Battlefields in Burma.

CHUNGKING, China, May 20 (AP).—A heavy downpour, perhaps the beginning of the months long summer rainy season, drenched the southwestern Burma-Yunnan battlefields today as China hastily strengthened defenses along the Indo-China border to the south and fought to stem the Japanese offensive on the eastern coast in Chekiang.

The Chinese looked to the rain as an ally which might fill the roads with landslides, wash out bridges, ravage Japanese camps with malaria, and hold up for months the invaders' advance thru the mountainous, sparsely populated southwestern zone.

Throw Back Japanese.

No military action was reported at all today from that area, where at last accounts the Chinese had thrown back the Japanese along the Burma road at the Salween in Yunnan and fought a series of battles 250 miles to the south along the Thailand [Siam] frontier.

But the Chinese press said Japanese forces in Burma had been raised to six or seven divisions—close to 150,000 men and about 50,000 higher than previous estimates.

In Chekiang the Japanese, who had gathered a surprising force from the garrisons of Hangchow, Nanking, and Shanghai for a new offensive, continued to sweep southward.

Planes Bomb Path.

With planes bombing a path ahead, the Japanese had reached the Tung river, some distance beyond Chuki on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, and in a parallel drive about 40 miles to the east of the line had taken Chenghsien and Changlochen. The latter point is about 70 miles southeast of Hangchow. There were five Japanese columns in these drives, the Chinese said.

Japanese planes also bombed various points in Kiangsi and Kwangsi provinces, concentrating particularly on Kweilin, capital of the latter.

Bomb Akyab Twice.

NEW DELHI, India, May 20 (AP).—The RAF twice raided the Japanese airdrome at Akyab, Burma, yesterday, destroying probably two and damaging three navy Zero planes on the ground, a communique said today. Runways were hit by bombs.

Declaring that "offensive action by the RAF against Japanese forces in Burma continues to increase in scale and frequency," the communique reported enemy trucks were machine gunned "a few days ago" in northern Burma and the Myitkyina airdrome in that area was ground strafed recently.

No Change in Burma.

A second communique announced that the Japanese bombed "a peaceful rural locality on eastern Assam" Monday, causing some casualties.

The British command announced that "there is no change in the Chindwin front in Burma," where British forces have been fighting a long rear guard action against Japanese forces advancing northward along the Chindwin river, northwest of Mandalay.

Yanks Destroy 47 Planes.

KUNMING, China, May 20 (AP).—The American Volunteer group of "Flying Tigers" destroyed 47 Japanese planes and blew up 31 enemy trucks during April, a communique said tonight.

FUGITIVE BACK IN PRISON.

Philip Yates, 48 years old, colored, an escaped convict, was returned to Joliet penitentiary yesterday to finish a life sentence under the habitual criminal act. Yates, who was seized at 48th street and Indiana avenue Tuesday night, escaped in November, 1941. He had been in prison since 1930.

2 MORE MAYWOOD TANK BATTALION MEN ARE MISSING

Two more members of the Maywood tank battalion have been officially reported missing by the war department. They are Capt. Ruben Schwass, 1305 Chicago avenue, Melrose Park, and Pvt. Laprade Brown, 6400 Irving Park road.

Capt. Ruben Schwass.

Pvt. Laprade Brown.

Capt. Schwass was attached to headquarters of the battalion. He is 42 years old and was a tester for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. His wife and daughter live at the Melrose Park address. They last heard from him by card dated March 14.

Pvt. Brown is 23 years old and enlisted in July, 1941. He formerly was employed at Hines hospital. Both were reported missing "after action at Bataan."

PREDICTS HUGE AIR FLEETS WILL BEAR ALL FREIGHT

New York, May 20 (AP).—Grover Loening, consulting engineer of the Grumman Aircraft corporation and a noted aircraft designer, predicted tonight that cargo planes would replace oceangoing ships in carrying the world's heavy freight immediately after the war, or sooner, if the war lasted many years. He declared that gliders would be used as freight cars.

He asserted that 40,000 B-19 planes, capable of carrying 20 ton loads at 250 miles an hour, would be able to replace "the whole enormous ton-mile carrying capacity of all the ships of the world available to us."

It might jolt the New York public, Loening said, to realize that the "inevitable development" of air transport would strip New York harbor of its commanding trade position.

"There is no shoreline in the air," he said. "There is no reason why Detroit, for instance, might not be a port for European trade."

ALLIED BOMBERS RAID JAP AIRFIELD AND HARBOR AT TIMOR

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 21 [Thursday]—(AP).—Allied bombers destroyed two grounded Japanese planes, damaged the runway and started large fires yesterday in an attack on Koepang, Dutch Timor, and also attacked military objectives in Dili harbor in the Portuguese half of the occupied island.

A communique from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters also said 4 of 12 Japanese fighter planes were damaged when intercepted by allied planes during a strafing attack on the Port Moresby, New Guinea, airdrome.

Jap Radio Reveals Anxiety.

[By Wireless to The New York News and Chicago Tribune.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 20.—Japan's anxiety over the allied strength in the southwest Pacific and the threat to its newly seized strongholds there is mirrored in radio propaganda, observers here said tonight. The Japanese were said to be dropping hints in broadcasts to Australia that the United States and England are planning to betray Australia. These appeals urge Australia to save itself from conquest by joining Japan. The radio also has said that the Australians are suffering from a food shortage because American troops are using up all the available supplies.

PREDICTS JAPAN WILL TRY TO GRAB CHINA AIR BASES

OTTAWA, Ont., May 20 (AP).—Maj. Gen. T. H. Shen, head of the Chinese delegation to the 14 nation Ottawa air training conference, said today that he expects the Japanese to try to seize the airdromes China has prepared for a counteroffensive to be waged when planes are available. The bases, however, are well defended, he added. China hopes to obtain transport planes to help bring supplies into the country, the general said. Canadian Air Minister C. G. Power, chairman of the conference, said he expects most of the conference committees will complete their reports tomorrow.

JAPS NOT MUCH ON ATTIRE; PACK PLENTY BULLETS

Soldiers Carry Food to Last a Week.

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, May 20.—The Japanese army "puts all its money in its killing tools," but doesn't bother much about uniforms or comforts for soldiers, according to veterans of the Bataan campaign.

The troops slop along in canvas sneakers, shorts, white cotton shirts, and floppy hats, but as a rule their weapons are pretty good.

One thing the Jap troops in the Philippines didn't bother about was gas masks. Secure in the knowledge that the Americans wouldn't use gas if they didn't, they left this item behind.

They simplified their supply problem by equipping troops with little else in addition to rations, weapons, and plenty of ammunition. Used to hard work and few luxuries, the Jap soldier could carry everything needed to keep going for a week.

Carry Much Ammunition.

Infiltration patrols, which operated behind the defenders' lines, were self-sustaining for five to seven days at a time, due largely to the fact that they could carry enough rice to live on. The Japanese rifle is .25 caliber, which enables each soldier to carry from 300 to 500 rounds. Altho this ammunition is light, the bullets are about two inches long and the gun has a high muzzle velocity.

These weapons gave small raiding parties a high fire power and, it was said, "provided a solution to jungle fighting."

The enemy used two mortars; one two-inch mortar, and the other about 3.2 inch size. These, also used in Malaya, proved very effective. The trench mortar has a barrel only about 10 inches long and is very light.

Two Long Range Guns.

The enemy has two good long range guns, the Bataan battlers say, but they were unable to use them as well as the Americans, whose artillery did a superb job. They had a 4 inch gun with a range of 21,000 yards, and a 6 inch weapon with a 23,000 yard range. These guns were used in batteries of five.

They used pompom type guns for anti-aircraft work and also a weapon of about 3½ inches. An anti-tank [1⅛ inch] weapon is used by the American army.

One new wrinkle the Japs have produced is the magnetic tank mine. These are slapped on the side of a tank from a fox hole as the tank passes over the hole, or by a soldier who slips up close on the tank's blind spot. These mines, when pressed against the steel side of the vehicle, cling there until they explode.

As far as American intelligence officers could find out from captured Japanese air crews, many of them didn't know what their bombing objective was to be when they left on a mission. The Americans believed the leader of the formation, which frequently consisted of 27 planes flying in a V formation, knew the objective and had an excellent bomb sight, and that he gave the signal for the bombs to be dropped.

"Dive Bombing" Incorrect.

In this type of bombing, which I witnessed in Singapore, the idea is to make sure of hitting the target by dropping as many as 200 bombs at once on the target area. It is hard to miss where this system is used.

As a result, American anti-aircraft gunners always tried to pick off the formation leader first.

Altho much has been written about Japanese dive bombing, the enemy has never used this technique in the strict sense of the word. It can be more properly described as "glide bombing," in which the plane goes into a steep glide but the bombs are dropped after the plane has straightened out and is flying level.

The Japs also frequently swing around and throw bombs out of the planes while in a vertical bank. These two methods are used particularly in bombing gun positions.

1. Is the ice cream in a Martha Washington soda just a small, elusive, floating ball?
No—the whole bottom of the glass, more than half way up, is solidly packed with ice cream. It's like a sundae as well as a soda.

2. Are there any ice splinters and crystals in Martha Washington's ice cream sodas?

3. Is a Martha Washington soda full of empty, fizzy bubbles?
I should say not! The very little carbonated water that's used is smoothly blended so that it's creamy yet tangy.

4. Do the flavors have any artificial taste?
Not a bit of it! All the fruit flavors are from honest-to-goodness fruits. And the famous "Glorified Chocolate Soda" is made with wonderfully rich bittersweet chocolate.

5. Are you limited in your choice of ice creams when you order a Martha Washington soda?
No, indeed! You may have any of a wide variety of tempting ice creams at no extra charge. Think up your own combination—peppermint stick-candy or pistachio ice cream with chocolate syrup, for instance!

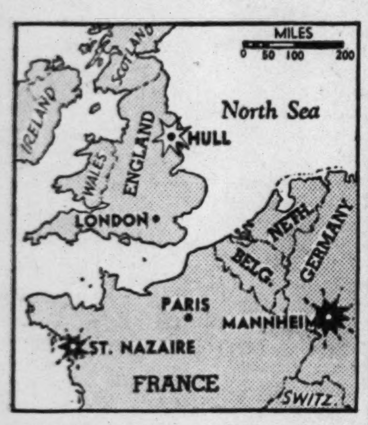
RAF POURS 40,000 FIRE BOMBS UPON NAZI WAR PLANTS

Predict 1,000 Planes Will Raid Germany Nightly.

LONDON, May 20 (AP).—Forty thousand incendiary bombs and "great loads" of the biggest explosives from hundreds of bombers were showered upon the German industrial center of Mannheim last night, the British said today, and even greater attacks employing up to 1,000 RAF and American bombers a night were promised for the aerial offensive against the reich.

Intelligence reports quoted the raiders as saying the destruction in the big chemical, armament, and engine building center reminded them of Germany's ruined Baltic port of Rostock.

It was the 54th raid on Mannheim, a city of 283,000 inhabitants in southwestern Germany, and the first against Germany since the weather forced a lull in Britain's air offensive 11 days ago.



Black splotches indicate targets for British bombers, and white one indicates British city attacked by German planes.

Heavy Air Attacks Forecast.

Lifting the curtain on the plans for this offensive, authoritative quarters said they were building up to the point where 1,000 bombers would be sent against Germany any night the weather permitted. United States planes would fly with the British, it was indicated.

The informant added that most British bombing now is being done by four engined planes with a minimum bomb load of four tons each.

At the same time, Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal, told the house of commons that bombing Germany is the best way of assisting Russia "until such time as we are able to make a carefully planned attack upon the continent of Europe, which we intend to do."

The submarine base at St. Nazaire, France, also was strongly attacked last night. Fourteen planes from the raiding forces failed to return.

Hull Raided, Nazis Report.

BERLIN, May 20 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Strong German air formations last night raided Hull, English town on the Humber estuary, the German high command said today, while eight bombers made a daylight attack on factories on the British south coast.

VICHY CONSULS IN CANADA ASKED TO SHUT OFFICES

OTTAWA, Ont., May 20 (AP).—The Canadian government has asked the Vichy government to close its consular offices and agencies in Canada, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told the house of commons today.

The request does not mean a breach of diplomatic relations with France, however. The prime minister told commons only yesterday that the government had decided not to change the status of the French legation here or the Canadian mission in Vichy for the present.

Mackenzie King said, however, that present conditions had reduced the duties of the consular offices, that they rendered little service and had become objects of suspicion.

It was thought advisable to ask the French minister to take action to close them.

French consular offices are situated in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Quebec, and Montreal and agencies at Halifax, Toronto, Edmonton, and Calgary.

The slender diplomatic link between Ottawa and Vichy is the last between the Petain régime and the British empire, since the Union of South Africa broke off relations last month.

RANSACK HOME DURING FUNERAL.

Burglars yesterday ransacked the home of Arnold J. Lethen, secretary of the R. W. Sears estate, 724 Central street, Evanston, while the Lethen family was attending the funeral of Mrs. Hanna Lethen, Arnold's wife. About $300 worth of jewelry and luggage was stolen.

Hear Sofia Regrets Axis Entry; Red Uprising in Army Reported

Lose Faith in Victory

BERNE, Switzerland, May 20 (AP).—The Bulgarians now regret their hasty entrance into the axis last spring and have lost faith in a decisive German victory, it was indicated by advices reaching Switzerland tonight.

Even the enemies of the axis in Bulgaria thought a year ago that Britain was finished, but now, it was stated in a Sofia dispatch to the Neue Zeuercher Zeitung, "even the most fanatical followers of Germany doubt the axis powers will be able to bring about a really decisive victory against the enemy coalition."

"The most favorable possibility upon which they count is a peace by compromise," the dispatch continued.

Dodge Entry Into War.

This declaration takes on added significance when it is taken into account that Bulgaria maintains a press censorship thru which dispatches such as this presumably must pass.

The dispatch disclosed why the Bulgars have avoided outright entrance into the campaign against Russia, altho in compromise their troops have taken over a share of the patrol work in Jugo-Slavia—conquered a year ago but where armies hidden in the hills still wage a guerrilla war.

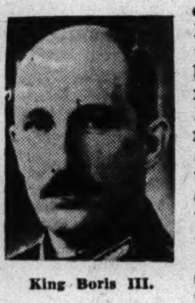
Many Urge Policy of Waiting.

"The number of those who recommend a policy of careful waiting is increasing," said the Zeitung. "All Bulgarians are decided enemies of direct participation in the war, especially against Russia."

Not only has public opinion begun to doubt an axis victory, said the newspaper, but "even among the ruling classes there are many who reckon now on the possibility of a victory of the Anglo-Saxons and the Russians."

King's Rule Periled

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 19 [Delayed]—(AP).—Reports that the régime of King Boris III. of Bulgaria was threatened by Communist uprisings in the Bulgarian army, reflecting widespread discontent thruout the axis aligned nation, were received here today and given considerable credence in informed allied quarters.



King Boris III.

A neutral traveler from Bulgaria said the uprisings developed into a distinct threat to the government during the last half of April and, altho actual outbreaks were suppressed, considerable fear was felt that there might be further disturbances.

Report 140 Arrests.

This informant said that after the April uprisings 140 army officers were arrested and some were shot.

[The German radio broadcast a dispatch from Sofia that 86 Bulgarian soldiers at Sliven were being tried by a military court on charges of having formed a Communist organization and participated in Communist propaganda. The broadcast said the death penalty was asked against most of them.]

Troop Uprisings Told.

Other reports have been received here recently that widespread Gestapo [Nazi secret police] arrests and an increasing food shortage in Bulgaria were causing unrest in the country whose people have a deep rooted sympathy for Russia.

These reports said there had been uprisings by troops garrisoned in the capital and other large cities.

Such outbreaks, it was said, were aimed at the overthrow of the government which led Bulgaria into the axis camp against Russia.

PACIFIC COUNCIL ADOPTS SLOGAN: JAPAN FOR JAPS

Rallying Cry Proposed at White House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The Pacific war council, which is composed of representatives of allied nations having a common stake in the western Pacific, today adopted a slogan, "Japan for the Japanese," as a rallying cry for the war effort in that theater of the world conflict.

"The most interesting development was the adoption of the general slogan, 'Japan for the Japanese.,'" Walter Nash, New Zealand minister, said after leaving the White House meeting.

Guess Who Did It.

Reporters guessed that the slogan was offered by the President. Members of the council smiled knowingly, but said nothing. All agreed that it was a good slogan.

The slogan was presumed to have been proposed as a slogan-answer to Japan's war cry, "Asia for the Asiatics."

"We want to put the slogan out to get general attention and an expression of views and from this there will be a synthesis of opinion," said T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister.

Nash told reporters that the President had given the council a general picture of the war situation.

"It is not bad," he said, "but we have a long way to go."

Roosevelt Reviews Situation.

The Pacific council is known as the "sewing circle" in the navy department. After its first session Lord Halifax remarked drily that the time was taken up with a review of the situation by the President. After the next meeting he said that the meeting followed the general pattern established at the first meeting. Today Nash disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt is still doing the bulk of the talking.

BRITISH PAPERS CALL CHURCHILL DEFENSE CLUMSY

Cripps Silences Critics of Prime Minister.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 21 [Thursday].—Some British newspapers this morning branded as "clumsy" the government's handling of yesterday's war debate in the house of commons.

Their criticism followed closely that of parliament members in the lobbies after Sir Stafford Cripps' defense of Prime Minister Churchill, who did not attend the session, and his [Cripps] refusal to make any concessions to the critics.

The Daily Mirror declared that the criticism of the conduct of the war has reached a "point of rebellion" in commons because most of the attacks come from Conservatives or professional critics. The Mirror, which has been toeing the line since the ministry of home security threatened to suppress it, commented that "we are hardly in a safe position to contribute to the criticism but we are presumably permitted to report it."

Risks Vote of Confidence.

Cripps, lord privy seal and government spokesman, warned critics in commons they had gone far enough in assailing the cabinet's conduct of the war and offered to risk a vote of confidence, but the challenge went unanswered. The members had demanded, among other things, Churchill's replacement as director of war strategy.

Cripps, after refusing to allow an inquiry into the disasters of Hongkong, Malaya, and Singapore, defended Churchill as a great authority on military and naval strategy, tactics, and operations. He said the prime minister was the best defense minister he could name.

Before Cripps wound up the debate, he faced a barrage of interruptions when he said Churchill would not attend, finally being forced to admit that it was impossible for him to do so.

Separate Defense Chief Urged.

The main critic in the session was Leslie Hore-Belisha, former war minister, who demanded establishment of a separate defense ministry, thus divorcing Churchill from his present position as director of both the government and the war strategy.

He pointed out that the Japanese still are advancing and said Churchill's management of the dual office of prime minister-defense minister has resulted in "an almost unbroken" series of disasters. Warning that the opening of a second front prematurely in Europe might allow the Japanese to set up a second front against Russia in the east, Hore-Belisha drew from Cripps the promise that the second front would be established only when it could be done with the certainty of success.

Others Back Hore-Belisha.

Other members who joined Hore-Belisha in demanding separation of the political element, represented by Churchill's position as defense minister, from the purely military element in management of the war were W. J. Brown, who defeated the government candidate in a by-election last month; Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, and Sir Ronald Cross, Conservative. Their criticisms, mainly, were elaborations of similar complaints which have been voiced in the press and in parliament for several weeks.

Cripps rejected the suggestion that the government's major war strategy should be guided by a chairman of the combined general staffs, saying that what was asked for was a superman, that none could be found, and that the present method was satisfactory.

BARKLEY BARES SCHEME TO RUIN WALSH CAREER

Senators Demand Quiz of Conspirators.

1. "The old hussy who runs the New York Post." This referred to Mrs. Dorothy Schiff Backer, daughter of the late Mortimer Schiff, an international banker, and wife of George Backer, former publisher of the Post, whom she recently succeeded in that capacity.

2. Judge Samuel Leibowitz, judge of the Kings County court in which one Gustav Hermann Beekman was convicted of operating the "house of degradation." Beekman signed an affidavit, which he later repudiated, naming Sen. Walsh as a frequenter of the place. Clark charged that Judge Leibowitz induced Beekman to name Sen. Walsh and was guilty of subornation of perjury. Leibowitz attained considerable notoriety a decade ago as counsel for the communist defendants in the Scottsboro case.

Ernst and Winchell.

3. Morris L. Ernst, counsel for the New York Post, for the American Newspaper Guild, and various other radical organizations. Clark charged that Ernst sat on the bench with the judge and later brought the charges against Sen. Walsh to the White House, where he sought unsuccessfully to persuade President Roosevelt to assist in the smear effort.

4. Lieut. Comm. Walter Winchell, Broadway gossip columnist and radio commentator, who asserted in a broadcast that the notorious Beekman case would involve one of four noninterventionist senators with names beginning with the 23d letter of the alphabet.

5. Leonard Lyons, gossip columnist for the New York Post, who first reported that a senator would be involved in the Beekman case.

Attorney Also Cited.

6. One Strelzin, attorney for Beekman who admitted to agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he wrote the statement which Beekman signed without reading, upon being promised leniency by Judge Liebowitz.

Altho Sen. Barkley said it was a credit to the newspapers of America that none of them carried the story published by the New York Post, Sen. Wheeler pointed out that there was an exception. He reminded the senate that Marshall Field's PM in New York stated that the New York Post had named Sen. Walsh as the mysterious Sen. X mentioned in its earlier stories on the Beekman case.

"They did not dare to carry the story but they did carry in their newspaper the statement that the mysterious Sen. X was the senator from Massachusetts," Wheeler said.

Recalls Writers' Dinner.

Sen. Clark said the conspiracy against Sen. Walsh recalled a recent dinner of the Overseas Writers in Washington, at which Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, MacLeish, and other administration officials applauded a statement by Edmond Taylor, an employé of the Office of the Coordinator of Information, that former noninterventionists should be charged with subversive activities, violating the Mann act, the income tax law, or anything necessary to "get them."

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] told the senate that an investigation would reveal "the existence in this country of a secret society that has been engaged for the last two years in an undertaking to gather such information as would permit the smearing of individual members of the senate."

"I have in my possession information that goes directly to the existence of such a society," he said.

Details Post Stories.

Barkley informed the senate that the New York Post carried a story on May 1 concerning the trial of Beekman, who had been convicted and was awaiting sentence by Judge Leibowitz.

"Following his conviction, before sentence was pronounced, he issued what was alleged to have been an affidavit involving a member of the United States senate as a frequent visitor to the house which he operated," Barkley said.

"Based upon that affidavit or alleged affidavit the New York Post on Friday, May 1st, carried a headline that occupied practically the whole front page which reads:

"'Link senator to spy nest.'

"'Senator linked to spy nest which lured service men.'"

"The article proceeds to describe the place, the name of the street, and the number of the house. The article contains the charge that a member of the United States senate had been frequently seen in this place talking to an alien who was suspected of being a spy in behalf of the Nazis, while the article indicated that the conversation which was supposed to have taken place between the senator and this German was not audible. No one could testify to what was said or on what subject anything was said.

"The article contained a silhouette of the senator involved in the charge, a white silhouette, blank as a tombstone, which in all probability might, in the imagination, fit any one of a dozen or more members of this body."

Biddle Takes Notice.

Barkley said the publication was brought to his attention by Attorney General Francis Biddle, whose attention had been called to it because of intimations made to federal agents in New York that there might be a violation of the espionage act.

Barkley said he discussed the matter with Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican leader of the senate, and they agreed that the department of justice should investigate the charges informally without any official request by the senate.

"A day or two later," Barkley continued, "Sen. Walsh, who had not been named in the article, called me over the telephone and said he wished to see me. He had been told by the New York Post that on that day they were going to publish his name as the member of the senate involved in seen there.

"Diabolical Lie"—Walsh.

"Sen. Walsh came out to my house and we had a long conference about the matter. He told me then what appeared later in the paper that he had told the representative of the New York Post, when he was called up and advised that they were going to name him, that the whole story was a diabolical lie and that if they published it that would be what they were publishing. That afternoon they came out in a story and in an editorial naming Sen. Walsh of Massachusetts as the member of the senate involved in the charge."

Barkley said he advised Sen. Walsh that unless the charges should be published in other newspapers it would be better to take no action pending the completion of the justice department's investigation.

"Day before yesterday," Barkley said, "the attorney general called me over the telephone and said that their investigation had been completed and that it entirely exonerated the senator from Massachusetts. . . . Yesterday afternoon Mr. Biddle and one of the special agents came to see me—and they turned over to me copies of the original documents now in the custody of the attorney general.

Calls It "Fantastic Story."

"A statement of the facts in the case presents a weird and fantastic story. I do not deem it necessary to go into any details in describing the house, or the charge made, or the practices which were carried on until the defendant's conviction. This Gustav Hermann Beekman had supposedly made an affidavit, after his conviction, which was supposedly made under some sort of inducement that if he would tell the whole truth and reveal the name of those who were described as some of the topnotchers who frequented his resort, he might receive leniency by way of punishment on the conviction which had just been secured in the state court.

"In the statement submitted to the department of justice by this man Beekman he states that he did not know what was in the original statement secured from him; that it was not read to him; that it was prepared by his lawyer who had defended him on the trial in the state court; that he did sign it because his lawyer advised him to sign it, but that he did not hold up his hand and swear to it, altho the document itself on its face shows that it was sworn to.

"In the statements made by not only Mr. Beekman, but others who were frequenters of this resort, they show that there was a man who came to this place about the time and during the time it was alleged in the original affidavit or statement, whatever it may be called, that the senator from Massachusetts was accused of having been to this place. The department of justice has submitted to me a photograph of the man who actually was there, and I will submit to any senator or to any one else who wants to inspect the photograph, that it looks no more like the senator from Massachusetts than I look like Haile Selassie.

"The only similarity is that they are both large men, weighing about the same, perhaps within a few years of the same age. I have four of these photographs. I have the name of the man, which I shall not reveal, because I do not think any purpose could be served by revealing his name.

"After the statements were made by Beekman, who made the original statement involving the senator from Massachusetts, and by a man named Zuber who also made a statement involving the senator, and by one or two others, they were shown this photograph, and all of them stated that Sen. Walsh was not the man to whom they referred. The photograph of Sen. Walsh was also submitted to them, and they all stated that he was not the man they had ever seen in this place.

"Walsh Not the Man."

"After these statements were made by Beekman and by Zuber and by a man named Fox, and by one or two others, the agents of the department of justice visited the man whose picture this is, and then took a statement from him, in which he admitted that he was the man; that he had visited this place time after time for purposes which I do not reveal, at the very times and during the very periods which the original affidavit of Beekman indicated as the dates on which the senator from Massachusetts was claimed to have been seen there.

Never Slightest Suspicion.

"Unpleasant as this episode has been, it is a pleasure to be able to state that from beginning to the end there was never the slightest foundation or basis for the opinion, charge, or suspicion that the senator from Massachusetts was the man involved in the descriptions which were given in this publication on May 1.

"It is most regrettable that for any reason or any motive a member of this body, or any American, should be involved in such an unjustified, malicious, degrading charge, or that a member of one of the legislative bodies should be accused of conspiring with alien enemies. Nobody who was acquainted with the senator believed it. I hope that as the result of the fair, impartial, and exhaustive investigation made by the department best equipped to make it, those who have been responsible for it will see to it that justice is done with respect to this despicable accusation."

The veteran naval affairs committee chairman did not come to the senate chamber to hear himself exonerated. He remained in his office, where friends later conferred with him concerning possible action against his traducers.

Demand Further Action.

Both Sen. Wheeler and Sen. Clark commended Barkley and the department of justice for their action in the case but Clark said the senate should conduct its own investigation to ascertain "the motives behind this filthy conspiracy to smear a member of this body."

"I think the senate should call to the bar of the senate the old hussy who runs the New York Post," Clark said. "We should call Walter Winchell, the radio commentator who disgraces the uniform of the navy of the United States.

"In a radio address he undertook to smear not only the senator from Massachusetts, but three other members of the senate whose names happen to begin with "W."

Judge Is Denounced.

"The report of the senator from Kentucky makes it perfectly obvious that there has been subornation of perjury, to which the trial judge himself, in view of the statement from the trial judge quoted in the New York paper, must have been a party. I think he should be summoned to ascertain whether he was a party to subornation of perjury.

"In addition I think that the great reformer Morris Ernst, who sat with the trial judge in the trial of the case, and who afterward brought these charges to Washington, as I understand, in an effort to smear the senator from Massachusetts, should be brought to the bar of the senate.

"It seems to me that the attempt to smear the senator from Massachusetts is plainly and clearly a conspiracy, in view of the FBI report on the matter. We ought to find out where Mr. Winchell obtained his information, where the New York Post got the story, and who were the parties to the conspiracy."

Ernst Angle Denied.

Barkley interjected that he had heard the charge that Ernst sat on the bench with the judge. "I asked the attorney general about it," he said, "and he said that that statement was incorrect; that some time during this episode, when these statements were being made, Ernst was present as attorney for the New York Post. I do not know what happened, but that is the information I have."

"I have no personal knowledge of the subject," Clark resumed, "but I have been informed by a very reputable newspaper man, whose information is usually correct, that Mr. Ernst brought the story to Washington and went to the White House with it, in an attempt to interest the highest authority in Washington in an effort to smear the senator from Massachusetts. To the credit of the President and his advisers, Mr. Ernst's suggestions were entirely rejected."

Barkley said he had no knowledge of the report that Ernst took the charges to the White House.

Intimidation Charged.

Sen. Wheeler said he was informed yesterday that after the FBI had completed its investigation the New York Post charged that Beekman had been forced to repudiate his original statement involving Sen. Walsh. This accusation demonstrated "viciousness" on the part of the newspaper, Sen. Wheeler said.

Sen. Wheeler said Judge Leibowitz was quoted by the New York Post as saying to Beekman:

"The defendant's fate lies in his own hands. If he assists us and tells the truth and makes a clean breast of his activities and those in connection with them and if he uncovers the whole spy ring with which he was connected the court will give him extreme leniency. If he fails to tell the truth, I will give him the maximum of 20 years."

"If this man does not make a statement telling what Judge Leibowitz and the New York Post wants, he will be given 20 years!" Wheeler exclaimed.

"If a federal judge had made that statement I should say that he ought to be impeached. I doubt that there are any men in this body who would not vote for such impeachment."

"Some members of the senate have been prosecuting attorneys, just as I have been. How many of the members of the senate who have prosecuted cases would believe under oath a man who was running a house of degradation, the very scum of the earth? How many would take his word, and would smear a member of the United States senate?

New York Post Denounced.

"Some persons talk about stopping some newspapers in the name of unity; and yet I say that this newspaper and some other newspapers are doing more to stir up disunity in the United States of America and they are doing more to break down the confidence of the people in their government of the United States than anything else that can possibly happen could do.

"In one breath this newspaper is shouting about democracy and fighting for it all over the world, and yet it is doing more to tear down democracy in the United States and to bring the senate of the United States into contempt and to stir up racial and religious hatreds in this country than any individual or group of individuals could possibly do otherwise. If a newspaper is entitled to be stopped because of its spreading of disunity, certainly the New York Post, which was aided financially by the Federal Reserve bank, should come under the ban of the government of the United States; and I agree that this matter should not stop here.

Smear of Entire Senate.

"Some persons may say, 'Well, it involves only one senator.' No, that is not correct; in my judgment this is a diabolical attempt on the part of certain individuals in the city of New York to smear every member of the senate of the United States who has disagreed with them on matters of foreign policy. I have no apologies to make for the position I took before we got into this war; but I know that there is not a member of the senate, and I do not think there is a member of the house of representatives, who does not want to do everything he possibly can and humanly can do to aid in the winning of this war in the shortest possible time.

"Yet a number of persons constantly attack members of the senate who disagreed with them prior to Pearl Harbor, and then they say they want to bring about unity in this country!"

Wheeler Quotes Ad.

Sen. Wheeler read a large advertisment in the New York Herald Tribune, asking, "Will you help stop votes for Hitler?" it was signed, Citizens for Victory, National Headquarters, 8 West 40th street, New York, N. Y. The advertisment, as read by Sen. Wheeler, said:

"Let's face the facts.

"The congress of the United States has the power to speed—or to prevent—our victory in this war of survival.

"Votes in congress can be cast for —or against—that victory. For or against Hitler, Hirohito, and Mussolini.

"It does not matter that congressmen who vote to retard the war effort think they are patriotic. In times like these, the vote of a dupe is as deadly as the vote of a knave. The vote of the man who thinks that we can exist in the same world as Hitler is as deadly as if he actually favored Hitler."

Asks Funds for Purge.

The advertisment then appealed for contributions to help "purge" congress of pre-war noninterventionists, Sen. Wheeler said.

"The members of this outfit are the members of the Fight for Freedom group and other groups which were raising money prior to our entry into the war, doing everything they could in advocating that we get into the war regardless of whether or not the people of the country wanted to get into it," Wheeler said.

"I say that in my judgment it is not only an attack upon Sen. Walsh. If the members of the senate had permitted those responsible to get away with a smear upon Sen. Walsh it would only have been a question of time before they would have tried to smear and frame every other member of the senate."

Conspiracy to Ruin Public Career of Sen. Walsh Exposed

SEN. D. I. WALSH.

The career of United States Sen. David I. Walsh has been in the cherished American tradition. Ninth in a family of 10 children and left fatherless at the age of 12, he peddled newspapers, worked his way thru Holy Cross college and Boston university law school, and in a long public career twice survived political defeat to come back stronger than ever.

Since 1926 he has been reëlected regularly to the United States senate, where his chairmanship of the naval affairs committee has made him one of the most influential figures in the upper house. He fought prohibition and led the fight for a repeal plank in the 1932 Democratic platform. He went along enthusiastically with the New Deal on labor legislation but broke with the President over Supreme court reorganization and the plan to reorganize the executive department.

He was an outspoken foe of the Ku Klux Klan, once calling on President Harding to emulate President Grant in demanding that it disband. Among 10 institutions of learning which have awarded him the honorary degree of doctor of laws are Holy Cross college and Notre Dame, Fordham, and Georgetown universities.

DEWEY BACKED FOR GOVERNOR BY G. O. P. GROUP

New York, May 20 [Special].—The executive committee of the Bronx county Republican committee tonight endorsed the gubernatorial candidacy of former District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. Chairman John J. Knewitz announced the support for Dewey after a meeting at party headquarters. He said the executive committee action was unanimous. This is the second of New York City's county committees to come out for Dewey. The Queens county executive committee started the ball rolling last month. The state-wide convention of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs, Inc., added its endorsement at last week's meeting at Hamilton.

are now in operation. It was this control, the Chenoa men assert, that enabled Ziller to talk his own kind of business with them.

Truck owners found, they told THE TRIBUNE, that after they had satisfied the demand in advance for $300 to Ziller and $60 in fees to the teamsters union they could keep on trucking only by paying a flat $50 a week to Ziller! The exactions were so great and the work available so short of the big promises made them, the truckers averred, that none of them made any money and some were so strapped that they had to sacrifice their trucks to get out with losses of $1,000 to $2,000.

Two of Complainants.

Two of the complainants are Emanual Streid, owner of a gas station in Chenoa, and John C. Kauffman; road commissioner of Chenoa township.

Streid has a son, Francis, 23 years old, and Kauffman has a son, John C. Jr., 24. Young Kauffman wanted a job at Wilmington early in 1941 and, his father said, went to Ziller when he heard he was "the big fellow" in labor placement there. The rest of the story as told by the elder Streid follows:

"Ziller told young Kauffman he could do better than that," Streid said; "if he could get a big truck he could get in on two shifts, with another driver, and get $1,000 a week for it on the government project. He said to have his dad come in and talk it over.

Buy 14 Ton Truck.

"So Commissioner Kauffman called at the house in Weston and Ziller told him the same story. Kauffman and I got together to help our boys and bought a 14 ton truck for $6,000. It was delivered Jan. 15, 1941, and we then called on Ziller. He said he'd have to have $300 'for a split' to put the truck to work, also that the two boys would have to come across with $63 apiece for the union.

"On Jan. 20 Ziller called the elder Kauffman and said to meet him the next day in the Louis Joliet hotel in Joliet. We went and took our boys with us. One by one we went up to Ziller's room. The boys paid $63 apiece and got receipts signed Virgil Floyd, per Ziller. We also paid the $300 'shakedown' and an extra $5 for a first weekly payment.

"An hour later our truck was working at the Chicago Sand and Gravel company on route 6, near Rockville. But we didn't get the 70 cents a yard Ziller had promised us for hauling—we got 60 cents and I don't know where the other 10 cents went. We paid $50 a week to Ziller every Sunday, in advance. He held open house in Weston each Sunday and others paid just as we did. We hauled only $1,900 worth in seven weeks and the operating costs ate us up."

Quizzed by Federal Agents.

Streid said he and Kauffman put up $1,800 cash for the truck and paid $280 a month on the balance. Kauffman got out of the deal when the seven weeks were over and Streid said he took over the truck obligations and made good on them.

The FBI has questioned both Streid and Kauffman.

Clyde Stapp, 29 years old, of Chenoa, said he was working on a farm near Chenoa when he heard of Ziller's influence and went to him to obtain a job as laborer on the government projects.

"Four of us went down to see him—myself, Arlen Gadberry, Charles Ragnel, and Willie McBath," Stapp said. "In Jan. 15 of last year. We paid Ziller $21 apiece for the Hod Carriers dues and initiation fee, and Ziller signed my card with Groff's name. He gave us all green slips telling us to be at the employment office at 508 North Chicago street in Joliet at 7:30 the next morning.

Joins Democratic Club.

"We went and got jobs, altho a lot of fellows with no green cards were ignored. My pay was $46 a week. After about six months I had a call from Ziller to call at his home in Weston.

"Ziller said I had made over a thousand dollars on the job. He said I ought to join the Weston Democratic club. The initiation fee was $25. He said he was the president of the club. 'It's not compulsory,' he said, 'but if you don't join you'll never get another job.' So I paid and worked until Dec. 13, 1941. I have the receipt card signed by Ziller.

"In January of this year Ziller wanted another membership fee for the Democratic club and I wasn't working so I beefed about it. He said I had better join, as he was going to be in charge of things at the Illiopolis ordnance plant. I paid, but I haven't got the job yet."

The Illiopolis munitions plant in the vicinity of Springfield is to cover 22,000 acres of rich land condemned by the government. Work on it was started this spring.

Garage Owner Tells Story.

Harley Boles, a garage owner in Chenoa, said he sold a truck to a patron. The vehicle cost $6,000.

"It was called by Ziller," Boles said. "He demanded a cut in my profit on the job, and told me unless he got it the truck wouldn't have any work. I held off two weeks and the truck didn't work on the government projects.

"My patron and I agreed we would pay him $80, splitting it—this was because the patron couldn't pay off on his truck unless he had work for it. But first I went to Ziller and protested I wasn't making anything on the sale. He opened a drawer in his desk and showed me all the invoices to show that I had made $250 profit.

"We compromised and he agreed to take $60. When I went in to pay it off—Ziller wouldn't have a check—there were two men with him. He laughed and said to them, 'This is my commission for selling a truck.' That's all, except that the patron didn't get enough work to make his payments and turned the truck back to me."

Another Story of Fees.

Ralph Blue, a farmer living near Mahomet, Champaign county, said his wife Madge, who dabbles in Democratic politics, was introduced to Ziller by a woman friend in the statehouse in Springfield and told, "He can get anybody a job at Wilmington." Mrs. Blue said then that she had a husband and a son, Paul, who wanted work.

"Ziller told her to have us see him," said Blue. "I saw him. He said that we could run a truck for the ordnance plant and take in $800 a week. So I bought a truck that cost $7,300, including a special body. I paid $63 for a union card for a driver and have Ziller's receipt for it. I also paid his 'split' of $300 and $50 a week for three weeks. I started to work with the truck, but I got 10 cents a yard less than was promised and had only a little work. I sold the truck at a $1,500 loss."

Another Pays $250.

L. L. Dunmire, a dealer in farm machinery at El Paso, Ill., said that he had paid Ziller $250 to get his son, Richard Dunmire, a job driving a truck on the Wilmington work and that Richard also paid $63 to the union.

"After he got to the plant Richard worked a half day—that's all," Dunmire explained. "There wasn't any more work and Richard has since joined the army.

Emil Borchers of Gibson City, in Ford county, said he had owned two dump trucks, and that he turned them in on a new big truck after Ziller told him he could have an income of more than $1,000 a week.

He said Ziller told him: "We can find all the little truckers we need. They just congest traffic. What we want is men rich enough to buy big six wheelers and make real money."

His new truck, Borchers added, cost $4,300 and was delivered in March, 1941. He said that he had paid six weekly $50 fees to Ziller.

"One Sunday I went around to Weston and complained loudly," he continued, "and Ziller told me never to show up again; to send my money by a friend. I only got 60 cents a yard for hauling dirt and he had told me up to $1.08 a yard; also I had to pay $63 fees for a driver. I lost more than $1,600."

Maurice Smith, a farmer and machinist, said that he was told by a friend to see Ziller and get himself "a really profitable contract." After talking to the big Democratic boss, who is jocularly known as "Slim," Smith said he bought a second hand truck for $3,500 and went to work after paying the customary $300 split fee and the $63 union charge.

Pays $863 in All.

"Altogether I paid Ziller $863," Smith continued. "After I quit the $50 a week advance fee, because I wasn't making anything much on the long hauls and scant days I drew, he told me if I wanted a fight he would send some boys out of Chicago to take care of me and it would cost him only $50. Well, I didn't make a cent on my deal and the truck I bought has been repossessed."

"I never got anybody a job and never took any money from any truckers," he asserted.

He was asked about his signature on the union receipts.

"If my name is on a receipt, does that make me a member of the union?" he demanded. "I have many political enemies. The Weston Democratic club is legitimate."

SLAIN DURING QUARREL.

Talmadge Johnson, 36 years old, colored, 5045 Prairie avenue, was shot to death yesterday by Al Evans, 30, also colored, 4416 South Park way, in a quarrel in front of 4447 Langley avenue.

TWO POLICEMEN ARE ACQUITTED IN EXTORTION CASE

Altho acquitted by a jury yesterday of having extorted $5 from a young automobile driver, Policemen Frank Cunningham and Michael Marren still face an investigation by the civil service commission. Meanwhile, the policemen are suspended from duty.

A jury of 10 women and two men deliberated for 40 minutes yesterday before returning the not guilty verdict before Judge John T. Zuris in Safety court.

Members of the jury declined to comment individually, but in a collective statement said they could not believe the story of Theodore Johnsen, 16 years old, 11215 Parnell avenue, who testified the policemen threatened to arrest him for reckless driving and then accepted $5 to let him go.

Both policemen testified that Johnsen had driven thru a stop sign and denied that he had given any money to them.

Mrs. Paul Douglas Gives Blood to Bank; Is 19,000th

She was No. 19,000 in the list of those who have given blood at the center since it was established on Feb. 2.

CHAPTER 26

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR organized the 42d Division at Camp Mills, New York. Under his direction it became one of the most colorful divisions in the American Army.

In September, 1917, Douglas MacArthur was appointed Chief of Staff of the 42d Division with the rank of Colonel of Infantry. He was exceptionally proud of the Division which had been trained under his command, even tho its training period was, of necessity, a brief one. America had entered World War I on the side of the Allies. Speed was essential. In October, 1917, the famous 42d Division, under Colonel Douglas MacArthur, arrived in France—the first American division to ______

DISASTERS SEEN IN JEALOUSY OF ARMY AND NAVY

Colonel Asserts Disunity Hinders War.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Col. Hugh J. Knerr.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Jealousy and reactionary thinking in the army and navy high commands is seriously imperiling the nation's war effort, Col. Hugh J. Knerr, retired former chief of staff for the headquarters air force charged here today.

Unless service jealousies are adjusted and the high command learns lessons tragically taught at Pearl Harbor the nation will suffer other disasters, the colonel, now chief technical adviser to the Sperry Gyroscope company, said.

He warned that defense of the Panama Canal Zone and the Pacific southwest is endangered by the same lack of coöperation which existed between the army and navy at Hawaii.

Urges Defense Department.

The colonel urged the creation of a department of national defense, with subsections for army, navy, air force, and war industry. Under such a unified defense setup, he said, definite theaters of war could be laid out and absolute military authority could be given to one man in each theater with unequivocal control of every branch of the armed and unarmed forces in his area.

"Only thus can we dissolve the ambiguities of the conditions evident in the Panama sector and nearly everywhere else," he said. "Only thus can we assure the war's favorable conclusion and our own future security on land, sea and air."

Assails Reaction.

The colonel, an ardent proponent of the creation of a separate air force, discussed the threat to national security in service jealousy and what he termed reactionary thought in the military high command at a press conference. The press conference was called to discuss an article entitled "The Dangerous Struggle in Our War Command," he wrote for the June issue of the American Mercury.

Col. Knerr argued that defeats like Pearl Harbor can never be excused but can be turned into advantage if the lessons they offer are immediately employed by the war command. He said he has seen no evidence to date that the "vicious division of responsibility, the intense struggle for command and the undervaluation of the airplane" are being corrected by the army and navy.

Blames Few in Navy.

"This is no time to be charitable with inefficiency and outmoded military procedures, or to hesitate in placing the blame," he wrote. "I am convinced that much of the blame for the persistence of a dangerous condition in critical areas must be shouldered by a small number of men who compose our navy command.

"I have known most of them for years and can testify that they are brave, patriotic, and able Americans. But I believe that the navy leaders are allowing their own human eagerness to preserve 'navy prestige' to interfere with the most efficient prosecution of the war effort."

In the Panama Canal Zone, Col. Knerr said, Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, whom he served as chief of staff from 1935 to 1938 when Andrews was head of the air force, was given full responsibility for the protection of the canal.

Trimmed His Wings.

Knerr said the navy trimmed Andrews' wings by taking away command of the Windward Islands, vital to the defense of the canal, from the general.

In the event the canal is destroyed, Knerr said, Andrews—and not the admiral in charge of the Windward Island patrol—would be held accountable; yet Andrews has no voice in the patrol.

Col. Knerr declared that every American is disappointed and confused by the pulling and hauling over the command in the southwest Pacific area. He said that while Gen. Douglas MacArthur was nominally given supreme command of the area, his command was restricted.

"Who was it that didn't want MacArthur to have genuine over-all command of the entire sector?" Knerr asked. "We have a hint of the answer in the fact that the 'New Zealand sector' has been taken away from MacArthur and placed under navy command."

THE UNIONS ARE RUNNING THIS COUNTRY

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

To protest the picketing of her rooming house by a janitors' union, Mrs. A. O. Madson, 61 Cedar street, yesterday armed herself with a sign reading, "The unions are running this country," and matched steps with the picket in front of the house.

The house is being picketed by local No. 1 of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union because Mrs. Madson does not employ a union janitor.

"We do not need a janitor," she said, "as we have a stoker furnace."

She does employ a handyman to keep the basement clean and do odd jobs, she declared.

"I am going on a hunger strike until I have beaten the union. I will never give in to their demands," she stated.

Mrs. Madson said that she had more than 65 roomers and had been running the house for 14 years without trouble.

CUNEOS ORDERED TO PAY $30,000 CRASH DAMAGES

A verdict for $30,000 damages against Frank C. Cuneo and his father, Columbus F. Cuneo, was returned yesterday in Hartford, Conn., in a suit alleging injuries to one of Frank Cuneo's former mates at the Milford Preparatory school as the result of an auto accident. The plaintiff was Robert Danahy, 19 years old, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Young Cuneo, who is now 21, is the grandson of Frank, wealthy commission merchant and president of Garibaldi & Cuneo since 1881. He is the nephew of John F. Cuneo, head of one of the largest printing and publishing businesses in the world. His father lives at 1400 Lake Shore drive.

Another youth who was injured in the crash, when young Cuneo was driving his father's car, was Thomas Cathcart Jr., 19, of New York, who was awarded $2,000. Danahy's claim set forth that he suffered 10 broken ribs, broken back and pelvis, and that he spent more than 16 weeks in two hospitals.

GROCER IS HELD AFTER A BLAST FIRES HIS STORE

John Pereyma, operator of a grocery and market at 2200 Chicago avenue, was in the custody of Earle Downs, fire attorney, following an explosion and fire in the store late in the evening that forced five families, including Pereyma's, to flee to the street.

Occupants of five flats, three behind the store and two above it, said they first heard an explosion and that flames followed at once. Police and firemen, together with Downs, said they found naphtha and traces of the explosive and highly inflammable liquid in a number of parts of the store and found two quarts of distillate in at tub in the icebox. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

SEVERSKY URGES DELIVERY OF ALL PLANES ON WING

Insists Fighters Could Be Ferried Overseas.

New York, May 20 [Special].—Maj. Alexander De Seversky, noted flyer and plane designer, today urged the United States to ferry all its war planes to overseas bases. He said it is entirely possible and practical to modify pursuit and fighter ships so they can fly 3,000 to 4,500 miles.

The war department's present method of dismantling and crating planes for shipment by boat where they face danger from attack by submarines, planes, and warships, was branded by Maj. De Seversky as "ridiculous, outmoded, and unnecessary." sary."

Now Ferry Bombers.

Giant bombers, with a longer range than other planes, are the only aircraft now being flown overseas, so far as is known. With modifications, the designer insisted, all war planes could have their range stepped up to insure self delivery to such key points as Hawaii, Iceland, England, and even Africa.

Maj. De Seversky said such modification is a simple matter. He would not list details, because of the possibility of giving away military secrets, but said that the changes could be made at comparatively minor cost.

"For 300 mile per hour planes to depend on a 10 mile per hour convoy to get them to their destinations is absurd," he said. "Equipping them for long range flying is only common sense.

Sees New Avenues Open.

"The government is planning the production of nearly 200,000 aircraft for 1942 and 1943," he continued. "Modifying them to give them this long range ability would mean the opening—the wide opening—of avenues of operation now closed to us."

"More than any other factor," Maj. De Seversky said, the government's reliance on sea transport of aircraft has been responsible for setbacks in the Pacific. Except for this "shortsightedness," he insisted, pursuit planes could have been flown swiftly and with considerable safety to Hawaii, Guam, Wake, and the Philippines.

Appeals Decision on City's Handling of Traction Funds

Attorney Weighstill Woods, representing six street car riders, yesterday filed an appeal with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from a recent federal District court decision dismissing Woods' suit against the city of Chicago for alleged mishandling of the 70 million dollar traction fund.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

R. M. T. writes: "I am 19 years old. Next year I will enter my sophomore year in a university where I am an honor student. Is these any branch of the service I can enlist in that will allow me to finish my college work and get my degree?"

ANSWER: You may apply for enlistment in class V-1 of the naval reserve, if you do so before reaching your 20th birthday, and if you are found to be qualified you will be enlisted as an apprentice seaman. You then will be placed on inactive duty until you have completed your college training. Upon graduation you will be eligible for a commission in the naval reserve. You also may apply for air cadet training in the army air corps, and if qualified you may enlist in the air force enlisted reserve.

M. T. asks: "What procedure shall I follow to get into army warehousing? I am 35 years old and have had 10 years' experience as a warehouse foreman and stock control man of raw materials."

ANSWER: You are no doubt referring to the army quartermaster corps to which a man with your experience might be assigned. You would have to volunteer for induction at your draft board. Upon being inducted into the army you will have the opportunity to state your preference for that branch.

J. M. writes: "I am 17 years old and would like to enlist in the marine corps. Is it possible for me to enlist, and if so can some allotment be made for my mother who is dependent upon me?"

ANSWER: With your mother's consent you would be accepted for enlistment in the marine corps. However, as yet, the only allotment your mother would receive would have to come from your pay of $21 a month.

J. W. writes: "I am a high school graduate and have been attending a photography school for the last six months. What chance would I have to be a photographer in the army air corps?"

ANSWER: You are not qualified for enlistment as an air corps photographer as applicants are required to have completed three years of university chemistry or geology in addition to having photography experience.

To J. T. C.: Only the commanding officer of the air cadet examining board where you were enlisted would be able to help you.

To J. W. W.: If in the opinion of the examining army physician the ailment is not likely to be reactivated under conditions of military service, you will be inducted.

JURY WILL HEAR YOUTH ARRESTED ON DRAFT CHARGE

David R. Nyvall Jr., 20 years old, 1460 East 57th street, who refused to register for the draft but changed his mind after a week in jail, was served with a subpena yesterday to appear before the federal grand jury investigating alleged seditious activities in the Chicago area. His father, David Sr., who persuaded his son to register, also was called.

The youth was placed on probation for three years on March 9. Since Nyvall was a member of the War Resisters' league, it is assumed that other members of the organization would be called by the grand jury.

Others who received subpenas included Mrs. Mittie Maud Gordon, colored, of 4451 South State street, who heads a group called Peace Movement for Ethiopia and the Kingdom of Judea; Mrs. Ada Coleman, 7112 Harvard avenue, vice president of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Inc., and Frederick Kistler of 1100 North La Salle street, described as a speaker before alleged seditious groups.

Attorney Robert M. Adams testified yesterday, but federal officials said he was called as a government witness "like any other public spirited citizen." Adams contributed background for the investigation, officials said.

JURY'S CLEARING OF FLYNN HELD NEW WHITEWASH

Citizens' Committee Again Asks Lehman to Act.

New York, May 20 [Special].—The action of the Bronx grand jury last night in again exonerating every one concerned in the use of New York City labor and paving blocks to improve Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn's country estate was characterized today by the citizens' committee to reopen the case as "another blundering, brazen whitewash."

In a joint statement, Prof. Herman A. Gray, chairman, and Sydney S. Baron, secretary of the committee, called on Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to intervene. They said that there were "threats of contempt or criminal proceedings" against the unidentified juror who in an affidavit to the committee last week stated that District Attorney Samuel J. Foley's advice to the grand jury had "prevented it from seriously considering an indictment."

Ten Hours to "Convince" Juror.

Their statement added that it required the grand jury 10 hours to "convince" the juror he acted under "misapprehension."

Foley is a political protégé and golfing partner of Flynn, who is the Bronx boss. Gov. Lehman also is a Democrat.

The grand jury first refused to return indictments against Flynn and Bronx officials on May 5. The second presentment also cleared Foley of any laxity in the case and angrily assailed public critics of the jury's findings.

Charges La Guardia Deal.

Paul J. Kern, who blamed his ouster as president of the municipal civil service commission on his exposure of the case and charged that Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia made a deal with Flynn to hush the investigation, said:

"Two coats of whitewash on Mr. Flynn will not conceal what one coat failed to hide. The action of the grand jury is consistent with the attitude of Bronx law enforcement officials that larceny from the city is not a serious offense but the exposure of it is serious."

DU PONT Wet Paint

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT keeps houses white!

THE SIGN OF A GOOD PAINT JOB —HERE'S WHY:

Du Pont House Paint is "self-cleaning"—stays white

Gives protection that lasts and beauty that endures

Has exceptional hiding and fast, easy application

Available in light colors, too

DU PONT House Paint gives long-lasting protection to your home. It gives you extra value, too, because it stays white.

Like all paints, Du Pont House Paint collects dirt on exposure to the atmosphere. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carrying the dirt with it. The surface is left clean and white. "Self-cleaning" starts after a few months' exposure under normal conditions. Unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions in extremely sooty industrial communities may delay it. "Self-cleaning" is so gradual that the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Neat, clean, white houses are a symbol of America. So when you paint, why not make sure of the lasting whiteness of your paint, as well as its protective value?

The new Du Pont Tru-Tint formula offers you attractive light tints which are also self-cleaning.

SAVE BY PAINTING NOW

Since paint protects America's war equipment, it is a vital defense material. Don't waste paint. Consult a reliable painter before you paint. He knows how to do the job right—how much or how little paint to use. His skill means savings for you, and paint conservation for America.

There's a Du Pont Paint Dealer near you. For his name see your Classified Telephone Directory or call Du Pont Co., Brunswick 6900.

NATION-WIDE GAS RATION DECISION LIKELY TUESDAY

Due After WPB Session; Seaboard Groans.

Rubbernecks Halted

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—All sightseeing bus services were prohibited today by the Office of Defense Transportation, effective June 1, and chartered bus services were ordered to confine themselves to such essential operations as transporting troops, war workers, and school children. The action, expected to save more than 100,000 pounds of crude rubber a year, was intended to save tires on sightseeing vehicles now "so that they will be available for operations essential to the war production program," ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman said. He called on "local and state police authorities and the general public to assist in enforcement of the decree."

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—While federal agencies are working on plans for a nation-wide gasoline rationing, Atlantic seaboard states are suffering travail of motor fuel curtailment that may be experienced in Chicagoland and elsewhere in America after July 1.

The decision on whether to invoke the driving restriction as a tire conservation measure is expected to follow a meeting of the War Production board on Tuesday. The outlook, due to current concepts of the rubber shortage, is discouraging for the 28½ million passenger car owners in this country.

Motorists Groan.

In the 17 seaboard states and the District of Columbia, where rationing became effective last Friday, local ration boards are hearing the groans of motorists protesting the inadequacy of allotments under cards issued to them at last week's registration. They are seeking supplemental allotments. The number and the ardor of these petitioners is expected to increase next month as unsupplemented allotments are exhausted.

The ration cards now in the hands of 8½ million passenger car owners in this territory authorize and limit their purchases from now until July 1, when the temporary ration order is to be superseded by a permanent order, probably national rather than regional.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson, the ration boss, today advised motorists to arm themselves with evidence to support claims for more gasoline than was obtained on the original registration. His statement indicated that it is going to be tough to get additional allotments under this temporary regional ration order which is being watched as an experimental model for a permanent national order.

Outlook Is Not Bright.

Whether the skimpy present allowances in the region of petroleum shortage will be adopted nationally as a tire conservation measure has not been decided. However, the outlook is not good. The meager allotment on the seacoast, virtually forbidding pleasure driving, is calculated to conserve approximately half the normal wear on tires in service. The former consumption, which is continuing, is limited to essential uses—trucks, buses, and business errands in passenger cars, including transportation to and from work.

The WPB is aiming at some such conservation. Tires in service, with unrestricted use, are calculated to wear out at the rate of a quarter of a million pounds of rubber every 24 hours. The WPB foresees a likelihood that some of this rubber will be needed for armament equipment and for essential civilian services.

Third of Cars Now Affected.

As a rubber conservation measure, it was said that there would be no exemptions for territories with an abundance of petroleum, such as Illinois, Oklahoma, Texas, and California, where the breakdown in tanker transportation which caused gasoline shortages in coastal areas caused surpluses in the production districts.

The ration cards here, an indication of what Chicagoland motorists might well fear, allow a total of 21 gallons for the 47 days from May 15 to July 1 for the common family car that averages less than 6 miles a day of essential travel.

For cars with a higher average daily business mileage three classes of cards were issued, authorizing total purchases of 33, 45, or 57 mileages, depending upon the declaration of the owner when registering. Another class of cards, the "X" cards, permits unlimited motor fuel purchases. These are for ambulances, taxis, buses, ministers, doctors, nurses, trucks, and "for official business."

Overpowered in Church; Faces Burglary Charges

Otto Parkinen, who says he has no home, was found in Trinity Lutheran church in Waukegan early yesterday and, after a battle with the sexton, was held last night on charges of burglary and larceny. The sexton, Carl C. Gustafson, caught Parkinen in the church, he said, and after a battle for a knife which was on a nearby table subdued Parkinen and caused his arrest. In Parkinen's pocket was $10.32, the amount known to have been in the children's collection box from the preceding Sunday.

PREDICT CHICAGO AREA GAS RATION WON'T BE SEVERE

Experts Say Curb Will End Auto Journeys.

The heavy summer flow of week-end and vacation motor traffic from Chicago will be cut to a thin trickle if the government imposes severe gasoline rationing rules thruout the nation similar to the three gallons a week limit for pleasure travel in the east, travel authorities said yesterday. However, oil company spokesmen doubted the curb would be as drastic as in areas where gasoline is scarce.

Chicago, which receives oil by pipeline, barge, truck, and tank car, has abundant supplies of gasoline and other oil products, it was said. Gasoline rationing would be invoked, it was indicated, to conserve tires by reducing or eliminating nonessential travel.

Railroads Can Carry Many.

Representatives of railroads and intercity bus lines declared they would be able to carry a large portion of the vacationists who would be unable to make long pleasure trips under gasoline rationing.

Chicago Motor club travel experts said that the average week-end trip out of Chicago in the summer covers from 200 to 500 miles. With many of the resorts and vacation spots in Michigan and Wisconsin requiring round trips of more than 200 miles, such motor travel would be eliminated under a three gallon a week ration.

R. H. Ethridge, assistant to the chairman of the National Bus Traffic association, said intercity bus companies would be swamped with traffic if motorists had to store their cars in garages under severe rationing. He said thus far the bus lines have been able to obtain tires and all the gasoline they need.

RFC to Buy Tires from Public.

The effect of gasoline rationing on state and federal motor fuel revenues would be serious, it was indicated. The state receives about 42 million dollars a year from its 3 cents a gallon tax on gasoline sales and the federal government about 20 millions from its 1½ cents a gallon tax from Illinois motorists.

The federal program for rubber conservation was highlighted by an announcement by Frank M. Murchison, manager of the Chicago loan office of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, that the agency soon will be ready to buy new and used tires and tubes from the public.

Meanwhile food and other distributors using rubber wheeled vehicles for delivery worked on programs to cut their route mileage 25 per cent below that of a year ago. The Associated Milk Dealers, representing 87 milk companies in Cook county, yesterday studied plans by which the rubber conservation order of the Office of Defense Transportation effective June 1 can be met. Similar plans are being considered by the Chicago Laundry Owners' association.

ANTI-SABOTAGE JOB GIVEN OCD BY ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—President Roosevelt today directed the Office of Civilian Defense, in coöperation with nine other government agencies, to undertake an anti-sabotage campaign designed to protect essential civilian activities not already being guarded by the army, navy, and federal power commission.

In an executive order the President called for the creation of a "facility security program" for the protection of all communication and transport systems, mines, gas and water facilities, and forests, brush, and grass lands.

The White House order directed the Office of Civilian Defense to

1. Serve as the center for coördination of plans by federal agencies.
2. Establish standards of security to govern the development of security measures for essential facilities.
3. Review existing and proposed security plans and measures and require the adoption of any additional measures deemed necessary.
4. Take steps to secure the coöperation of owners and operators of essential facilities and of state and local governments in security measures.

"The order makes it clear that protective measures are the primary responsibility of the owners and operators of essential facilities, public as well as private," the White House statement said.

TWO SEIZED AS BURGLARS.

Test New Type Air Raid Siren in Loop Area Today

Intermittent wailing of a siren in the loop from 11:50 a. m. to 1 p. m. today will not signify an air raid. It merely will be the test of a new type siren under joint direction of the army and the Office of Civilian Defense. The new siren is a mobile unit, mounted on a truck and produced by the Chrysler corporation and the Bell laboratories. The siren will be parked atop a garage for the test.

PURGE ATTEMPT PROVES BIG FLOP IN PENNSYLVANIA

Two Interventionists Lose in Democratic Poll.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—In its first test in the Pennsylvania primary yesterday the campaign of the Roosevelt administration and the left wing groups to purge congress of prewar noninterventionists appears, on the face of incomplete returns, to have been a flop.

Maj. Gen. Martin.

All the Pennsylvania congressmen seeking reëlection who opposed the President's intervention policy before Pearl Harbor were renominated with the exception of Benjamin Jarrett, who had been gerrymandered out of his district and ran at large. Two Democratic prewar interventionists were defeated.

At the same time Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, Pew-Grundy Republican organization candidate, and J. Clair Ross, state auditor general backed by the Democratic state committee, were nominated for governor at the head of organization party slates for other state offices.

Van Zandt Wins Support.

The Republican noninterventionists received an overwhelming vote of confidence from their party. Among them is Rep. James Van Zandt, former commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who was singled out for political liquidation by the Union for Democratic Action in a pronouncement in which the left wing New Republic joined.

One of the prewar interventionists defeated for renomination in the Democratic primary is Rep. Charles I. Faddis. By the test applied by the Union for Democratic Action Faddis was a 100 per cent interventionist, but the left wing organization and the New Republic marked him for the purge on the charge that he had been anti-labor. The other Democratic prewar interventionist defeated was Guy L. Moser of the 14th district.

Try Again in November.

The administration and the left wing groups will make another try in the November election in support of candidates opposing the prewar noninterventionists. Extraordinary interest attaches to this undertaking, the success of which will depend upon the degree to which the would be purgers are able to bring about a repudiation of noninterventionists by their constituents.

Inasmuch as there was abundant evidence that the noninterventionists faithfully reflected the views of their constituents what the purgers are seeking is to impel such citizens to recant the convictions they held before the country became involved in the war. The votes in congress and polls of public opinion left no doubt that the country was pretty strongly noninterventionist before Pearl Harbor. And since Pearl Harbor no doubt remains that the noninterventionists yield naught to the interventionists in determination to win this war no matter how long it may take or how much it may cost.

Really NEED a New Car?

Liberalized rules may let you get one

Who is Eligible to Buy a New Car?

There are seven major classifications for persons eligible to buy new cars under basic rationing rules.

These include persons engaged in the production of war materials or in the prosecution of the war, directly or indirectly, physicians, nurses, clergymen, veterinarians; car-owners engaged in public service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance, etc.; owners of taxicabs and other means of transportation; farmers; newspaper wholesalers; and traveling salesmen in certain fields.

Your Buick dealer will be very glad to help you determine whether you come under the rules of eligibility. He also will be glad to help you fill the proper applications.

Don't guess about your eligibility—see your Buick dealer now and make sure.

If your work is connected directly or indirectly with the prosecution of the war, you may be eligible to buy a new car—right now.

Under newly liberalized rationing rules it is easier than most people think to replace cars now in use with brand-new, long-lived, gas-thrifty 1942 Buicks.

Maybe you can wash out worries about tire-life by starting afresh with a complete new set—tires that will last longer, if they're on a Buick, because new Broadrim wheels both ease the ride and lengthen tire-life.

Remember, the 1942 models your Buick dealer now has ready for immediate delivery were built to serve you through the duration and beyond.

They are wartime tough, durable beauties built to last, built to go a long, long way with a minimum of upkeep.

So if you're eligible, you may be money ahead getting a new Buick now rather than trying to make an old car "do."

Why not drop in, talk it over and see if the new liberalized rules do not entitle you to a new automobile now?

If you're eligible for a new car—Better Buy Buick!

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE MAN FROM NOWHERE.

To the Japanese, in their neat, ordered world, where everything and everybody has a place in a plan almost as meticulous as a flower arrangement, it must have seemed completely incredible when the white devils came riding down the labyrinthine ways of the sky on April 18. The Japanese plan gave every man, and woman, and child his task. Those at home would work for the army, and the army would carry the glory of Japan to the far places of the earth. Of course, there could never be a moment's doubt of success. The men from overseas would be helpless and would go down to defeat. It was there in the plan for all to see, and it had to be so.

Then low over the rooftops from the sea came the strange silver ships, with the white star in the blue circle. They came over Tokio, and the naval bases, and the great industrial plants, which every one in Japan knew could never be bombed by America, and then the world began exploding around Japanese heads. It was as if Fujiyama and a thousand brothers had all gone mad. And then the silver ships disappeared out over the sea.

Long afterward the Japanese broadcasters were chattering hysterically into the microphones. In his palace the emperor awaited the ceremonial visit and the stumbling explanation from his ministers of how this could have happened. The great edifice of certitude erected in the Japanese mind was beginning to crumble.

And now a plain, honest American face, grinning out of the newspaper page, tells the American people that it was Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle who led the raid on Tokio. The bombing of Tokio may seem compounded of magic and the spirits of evil to a Japanese, but the American people will know that to Jimmy Doolittle it was a job. It was a job of planning, of organization, of navigation, of flying, of finding the target and releasing the bomb loads—and all of this has been Jimmy Doolittle's life.

He was a flyer with the Lafayette escadrille in 1917, in the days of the De Havilands, the Capronis, and the Paige-Handleys, which seem like crates compared with the modern military plane. He was in the American flying force at the end of the war and for 10 years afterward, and during the next 10 years in commercial aviation flying was still his life. He set records for speed, for transcontinental flights, was the first pilot to fly blind, and the first to try the Andes mountains. These things in their time were as astonishing as the bombing of Tokio, but they were never astonishing to Doolittle. With his faith and knowledge in aircraft, there was nothing impossible for a plane to do, and that is the clew to April 18.

Of course, it took courage. Both the flying general and the 79 young Americans who went with him had that in plenty, and the medals they have received are a merited reward. But the principal thing was that here the government called upon a man with all the qualifications—knowledge, and experience, and faith in the potentialities of the plane—for the task in hand.

The very fact that Doolittle tackled an assignment that might look impossible and carried it out as if it were a routine day's work will cause dread in Japan. What happened once can happen again, today or tomorrow. The Japanese know in their bones that they will see the star in the blue circle again.

A QUESTION OF TASTE.

An American correspondent arrived a few moments late at a meeting of newspaper men with Field Marshal Jan Smuts of South Africa at Cairo. The marshal "beamed mischievously" and remarked, "Just like America; always late. In fact, you are nearly always too late."

The remark seems to have been intended as a joke, but it wasn't in very good taste. It might be retorted in the same spirit that South Africa isn't really in the war now, for there is no conscription in South Africa and the dominion's troops are not to be permitted to serve outside Africa.

Whatever may be said about the earliness or lateness of any of the associated nations, it cannot be said that any of them has contributed to the common cause so unselfishly as has America. We are already carrying a large share of the whole effort and we are destined to carry an increasingly larger one as time goes on. There is nothing half-hearted, nothing parochial, about America's participation. In prudence, Marshal Smuts might well have restrained his famous sense of humor.

NO PAPER SHORTAGE.

The newsprint shortage hoax has by now been definitely laid to rest. R. J. Cullen, president of the International Paper company, which is the largest single supplier of newsprint, assured his stockholders at their recent annual meeting that regardless of the predictions of a paper shortage broadcast by various governmental agencies there is an actual surplus at present over the demand.

About the same time the War Production board, some of whose officials had been coöperating with Mr. Henderson in alarmist predictions of a shortage, issued the following statement: "Deliveries have improved on practically all kinds of paper. The Newspaper Association of Canada has announced that there is sufficient newsprint to carry North American consumers over 1942, despite possible hydroelectric power diversion for war purposes."

The last statement is significant. The capacity of the newsprint mills was so obviously equal to any possible demand upon them that the only way that any shortage could be conjured up was by the imaginary diversion of power for munitions purposes. This fiction the Canadian association has laid to rest. Munitions manufacture will get all the power it requires, but there will also be plenty of power for newsprint.

The making of newsprint is the largest single peacetime export business of Canada. If it had not been for the vigorous action taken by the publishers of the country, with THE TRIBUNE in the forefront, to expose the various assertions of Mr. Henderson and the WPB, the propagandists in this country, anxious for any weapon with which to intimidate newspapers, would have been able with their talk of fake shortages to deal a most serious blow to the economy of our neighbor and ally.

POLITICS AS USUAL.

The truce on politics announced by the President at the outbreak of the war is taking some strange forms. There are the statements of Edward J. [Paving Block] Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Charley Michelson, press agent for the national committee, about the catastrophic effects to be expected from the election of a Republican congress. There is also the proposed purge of 44 representatives and 3 senators, which is urged by a strange medley of communists, fellow travelers, administration jobholders, social climbers, expatriates, and a few eccentrics in the publishing field.

But perhaps the strangest contribution to the political truce is that of the senate majority leader, "Dear Alben" Barkley, who has read into the Congressional Record a Jackson day speech made by Oscar R. Ewing, a corporation lawyer, of 1 Wall street, New York. It is not usually to be expected that Sen. Barkley would permit himself to be caught traveling in Wall street company, but Mr. Ewing just happens to be assistant chairman of the Democratic national committee, so the Kentucky statesman is able to bear the onus.

Mr. Ewing took the position that the election of 1940 determined which party will control the Presidency and senate until January, 1945, and that the declaration of war "made it imperative that the house of representatives which we will elect this fall be of the same political faith." Mr. Ewing generously conceded that this is "not because the Republicans are less patriotic than the Democrats. It is solely because fate has decreed when the Japanese struck on Dec. 7, the Democrats controled both houses of congress and the Presidency. It was this compelling circumstance," Mr. Ewing continued, "that cast the die, rather than any particular virtues of the Democrats or lack of virtues by Republicans."

The necessity of the house being of the same political complexion as the President and the senate would be just as great, Mr. Ewing asserted, if the situation were reversed and there were a Republican President, a Republican senate, and a Republican house. "Under such circumstances," he said, "it would be just as tragic not to elect a Republican house. I feel this so deeply that if the situation were reversed and there were a Republican President sitting in the White House, I would vote for Republican congressmen and senators this fall. I am not saying this," Mr. Ewing hastily assured his auditors, "in order that my party may gain any advantage out of the present war." No, it is just that "we must face facts."

Mr. Ewing can afford to be generous in declaring what he would do if circumstances were what they are not. Meanwhile, he is happy to show the Republicans their duty, and Dear Alben is happy to promote his views by reprinting them in the Record at an expense to the taxpayers of something like $55 a page. This contribution to the political truce and to national unity should sit well with the more than 22 million Republicans. It seems that fate is a Democrat, too, and fate "has decreed" that their patriotic duty compels them to sacrifice their voice in the conduct of their government.

A REAL CHARTER OF FREEDOM.

Fortunately, in all the confused and embarrassed thinking about Asiatic problems, the position of the United States is unambiguous and its purpose will remain so unless it is deliberately distorted. The Filipinos are the only Asiatic people over whom the United States has had a governing rôle. That was a very gentle custody when the war broke out. It had underneath it a virtually self-governing nation, definitely promised the responsibilities and privileges of full freedom four years from now.

America does not have to formulate any new program for Asiatics demanding that the charter of liberties be extended to them. That charter of liberties was written in Washington long before Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt met at sea and long before the 26 nations signed a prospectus of freedom.

The Filipinos are not among the Asiatics asking what the charter of freedom means to them. They don't have to depend upon what may develop at a peace conference or what may be the decisions of the nations now fighting the Japanese. And it is quite probable that they will not have to wait until 1946 to celebrate their first Fourth of July, the significant date when they were to have obtained their full stature as a nation if peace had prevailed that long.

When the American and Filipino armed forces have again taken possession of the islands, when the American flag is again over Corregidor, and the Americans are back at Bataan, this time to receive the surrender of the Japanese, it may be thought quite proper that a part of that victory, whenever it comes, should be the recognition of immediate Filipino independence. The people are prepared for it, they have proved that they will fight for it, and Americans can make their purpose clear to the world by immediate action. When the Jap has been chastened, the independence granted our brothers in arms will be more secure than it might have been in 1946. That the Jap will be put in his place we can admit no doubt.

The remainder of the Asiatic problem is still sunk deep in misgivings and highly charged with old colonial aspirations. The military situation has been worsened by doubts, uncertainties, and resentments leading in many instances to opposition to the opponents of Japan. No subject peoples anywhere can doubt the intentions of the United States and it is to be hoped that nothing in subsequent events will lead them to question the anti-imperialistic disposition of the American people.

WHEN WILL GOVERNMENT SAVE?

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Last December—22 days after Pearl Harbor—the Brookings institution published a pamphlet on the "Curtailment of Nondefense Expenditures." In that pamphlet it showed how the federal government could, by sacrifice of nonessentials, reduce its "ordinary" budget by approximately $2,100,000,000 a year.

Now, more than five months after Pearl Harbor, congress is still fussing with the question of government economy. Nothing concrete has yet been accomplished. There is still a "desire" to do something, but there is also a "feeling of helplessness" on the part of congressmen and the President. It is extremely difficult, they apparently think, to find ways to effect substantial savings without doing damage to the federal governmental structure.

All right, let's "do damage." Nothing in this country is normal today. The war has had its effect on all of us. Legislation and rulings presently to go into force will affect us still more. Why should the government structure remain untouched?

WE LIKE GAMES, TOO.

In the story of the bombing of Tokio, that was a home-folksy touch about the panic among the fans at a baseball game. . . . This column is somewhat vague about the history of baseball in Japan, but we can remember, 'way back 40 years ago or so, when the University of Chicago teams used to make summer pilgrimages to Nippon and run up big scores against the Yellow Perils, all for the sake of international amity.

* * *

Japanese baseball has not contributed any material to the American major leagues, and maybe this failure has increased their grudge against us. Their honorable Bushido is pained by the thought that in baseball America rates them below the Cubans.

* * *

As for football, there may have been some Americanized Japs in the Hawaiian conference, but usually the triple-threats of the Pacific are of Kanaka ancestry, noted for 50-yard punts with bare feet. . . . To inflict new agony upon the Bushido of Nippon, we will point with pride to a good Chinese half back, observed on the soil of Chicago 15 years ago or longer.

* * *

This Chinese ball carrier, unknown to Arch Ward's hands in the sports department, may have been named Ching, or Chang, or Moy. Anyway, he played with a professional team from Dayton, O., against the Cardinals in their old Normal Park lot. He refused the protection of a helmet, and his shiny black head was a pleasing spectacle as he went slithering thru the foemen like a seal diving for fish.

* * *

We take particular pride in the memory of Ching, or Chang, or Moy, because we discovered him in an era when it was a social misdemeanor to attend professional football games. Our taste for such proletarian pastimes caused the old school ties at the club to shrink away from us as an untouchable.

A Trip Around Lake Chicago.

If you had asked the gas station attendant at Dyer, Ind., 35,000 years ago where the Glenwood beach was, he would have replied, "Why, this is Glenwood beach," for Lake Chicago extended as far south as Route U. S. 30. If on the return trip from the east you came back by the way of Route U. S. 6, passing thru the little town of Munster, Ind., you would again be traveling on another old beach line. This road is rightly called Ridge road.

Then if you go north on Sheridan road to Christ church [Episcopal] in Winnetka, you may follow another shore line, eventually connecting with Ridge road, Wilmette, Evanston, and Skokie. Or if you are interested in modern times geologically, start at Northwestern university, Evanston, and proceed south on Chicago avenue, Evanston; you will find your car on Clark street in Chicago.

Blue Island, Summit, Stony Island [an old stone quarry], and Mount Forest Island are not just names—they were once islands in the southern end of Lake Chicago. The rock ledge at Summit is 90 feet above the rock level in the loop.

So straight and strong he stood in his uniform
(New as his fighting faith its trimness seemed),
And so like morning flashed his smile of warm
Young triumph, that you thought perhaps you'd dreamed.
This the once toddler and romper, climber and pleader,
Who laughed, and teased, and was hungry, and grew like a weed?
This tall lad here, with his eagle's look of a leader,
And the athlete's fist of the unafraid and freed?
"Mother, I've grown, that's all!" He laughed as he said it,
And you laughed, too. And suddenly you both knew
The mirth and the moment alike stood to God's credit
And yours on the eternal record of the True!
He'd grown, that baby of yours, to America's size—

ALLERGY AS A FACTOR IN BEDWETTING.

BEDWETTING has been a bugaboo since—as Blackstone, the lawgiver, said—"The memory of man runneth not to the contrary." While most little ones are afflicted, the disorder passes after a time. As growth occurs and the bladder enlarges, emptying pressure will abate.

No less than several hundred remedies have been proposed and tried. While sedatives are helpful, nothing seems to replace training, the restriction of water drinking after 5 p. m., and the use of an alarm clock to rouse the youngster at intervals.

We cannot allow the habit to persist because it may prove so embarrassing that undesirable personality traits may develop. The child is likely to become shy, introspective, and feel sure that he is abnormal. Punishment has no place in the program of cure. Rewards may be offered, but no one feels worse about the matter than the victim.

Recently the suggestion has been offered that in many instances the cause may be an allergic [sensitivity] phenomenon. Investigation has shown that not a few of these patients are bothered by certain irritants. A check on 200 unselected subjects revealed a history of allergy in 65 per cent of the children or some one in the family. In addition, there were signs [minor in some cases] of migraine in 48 per cent, asthma in 23, hay fever in 18, and eczema in 11.

Now, all these manifestations have been traced to the absorption of substances to which the victim is susceptible. In fact, recurrent headaches with biliousness or vomiting are considered significant and positive. Migraine is hereditary and usually is observed in households where some member reacts to a noxious material in the food or about the home.

Along with the inability to control the urine, many experts have observed a tendency toward more frequent nightmares. While every boy and girl will dream on occasion, a few will exhibit "terrors" during each period of slumber. Perhaps this indicates merely a highly organized nervous system which responds in hair-trigger fashion to the slightest stimulus, such as an overfilled bladder. The night riding steed may serve to waken the tot—when a journey to the bathroom will prevent an accident. On the other hand, the vivid apparition may follow evacuation.

While it would seem that stammering has very little connection, nevertheless there are more bedwetters among stutterers and vice versa. But, here again, the delicate nervous machinery may be strengthened with excellent results.

Furthermore, on the basis of an allergic origin, a search may be made for the "starter" which is retarding the building of reserve, the absorption of edibles, and the development of a strong constitution. With careful study, including patch tests applied to the skin, the causative factor may be identified and eliminated with marked improvement.

MILL ON LIBERTY.

Chicago, May 19.—More power to you in your efforts to wake people up to the fact that the Nazis, the Communists, and the New Dealers are all contributors to the world movement to deprive the individual of his liberty on the assumption they will better him materially. Let all who have favored letting the state do for individuals the things he should do for himself consider the following passage from the essay of John Stuart Mill on liberty:

"The third and most cogent reason for restricting the interference of government is the great evil of adding unnecessarily to its power. Every function superadded to those already exercised by the government causes its influence over hopes and fears to be more widely diffused, and converts, more and more, the active and ambitious part of the public into hangers-on of the government, or of some party which aims at becoming the government. If the roads, the railways, the banks, the insurance offices, the great joint stock companies, the universities, and the public charities were all of them branches of the government; if, in addition, the municipal corporations and local boards, with all that now devolves upon them, became departments of the central administration; if the employés of all these different enterprises were appointed and paid by the government, and looked to the government for every rise in life; not all the freedom of the press and popular constitution of the legislature would make this or any other country free otherwise than in name." START BALL GAMES EARLIER.

Chicago, May 10.—Chicago is considering staggered hours for business to relieve rush hour traction congestion. Why not include baseball games which now cause the greatest evening rush hour congestion? If games were started not later than 1:30 p. m., ball fans would be transported before the rush hours, eliminating the present overcrowded condition of "L," bus, and surface lines, which are attempting to transport thousands of fans plus regular rush hour crowds. F. R.

USE FOR DEFENSE STAMPS.

Chicago, May 15.—Why not buy a pocket full of war stamps and when a friend picks us up in his or her car, slip one of these stamps in his pocket. They would accept these when money might be embarrassing. ANNE JESTY ROGERS.

BEHIND IN HER ALLOTMENT.

Chicago, May 11.—To Pvt. C. D., in May 11 issue: Think nothing of not getting paid, soldier. My husband is in the navy and we haven't received an allotment check since January. PATIENCE.

A CORRECTION.

The age limits for membership in the Illinois reserve militia are 18 to 55 years. Thru a typographical error in a recent letter from Raymond E. Dreyer in this column they were given as 18 to 35 years.

PSYCHIATRIC TREATMENT.

Chicago, May 13.—The writer on "Politics and Psychiatry" of May 13 touched on a subject which I think is a disgrace to the state. I am one of those former mental patients who was cured and made to feel human again by the class methods at the Illinois Research hospital. For five consecutive years I suffered from frightful depressions. I went from doctor to doctor and from clinic to clinic until I was finally admitted to the psychiatric institute of the Research hospital. There I was cured by the new "group and class" methods, altho I had despaired of ever regaining my mental health.

As a member of Recovery, the association of former mental patients, I know a great number of former patients who owe their mental health to the "group and class" methods. This system of psychiatric treatment was discovered at Research hospital some five years ago. To my knowledge, Chicago is the only city, and Illinois the only state in which this treatment is available. It seems shameful enough that a method that can benefit thousands of patients should be limited to so few. But now if also those few are to be denied the benefits of this method, then it is time that patients and relatives rise in protest and force the state to do its duty to patients and citizens. With overcrowding rampant in state hospitals, why is the state department of public welfare indifferent to a method which is certain to reduce the hospital population? ROSALIE TAGLIERI.

TOO MUCH LEANING.

Evanston, Ill., May 11.—To be more successful in our undertakings, what the people of this country need is more self-reliance. There are altogether too many leaning on the government and the public for subsistence. Surmounting handicaps and adversities is what builds character, and without character how can we be successful? ARTHUR H. MEYER.

SUGAR.

Chicago, May 15.—We are on a sugar ration of ½ pound a week and Canada has an honor restriction of ¾ pound a week.

Until sugar registration a citizen could go over the Mexican border and bring back 11 pounds of sugar, which was much cheaper in Mexico. Since sugar registration, this is no longer permitted. Why? J. A. WEBER.

DR. WIRT'S PROPHECY.

Chicago, May 16.—Truly, a prophet has no honor in his own country. About eight years ago the late Dr. William A. Wirt warned the American people against the regimentation and socialistic intent of the New Deal. P. W. KINCHEN.

PARK BENCHES.

Chicago, May 16.—In Jackson park north of the Museum of Science and Industry are hundreds of park benches stored there thruout the year from year to year. In Grant park one is hard put to even find a bench on which to sit. You can walk for blocks over the hard gravel in the blazing sun, but benches are at a premium. It seems that if the park authorities were really on the job they would see that the parks were in such condition that the public might enjoy them. MARY H. COLEMAN.

BROWDER'S RELEASE.

Chicago, May 16.—When I read about the President releasing that arch-conspirator, Browder, from prison, I saw RED! What are our boys fighting for—communism? My war enthusiasm dropped considerably.

To those who don't know, living under a Communist dictator is just as bad as living under a Nazi. The President should be apprised of the attitude of Americans on communism. R. R.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Streator, Ill., May 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, B, and C own a residence property, each holding equal share. The property is rented and A collects the rent, holding it until the end of the year paying from rent proceeds insurance, repair expenses, and taxes. Whatever sum is left is divided equally. Nearly a year ago needed repair work was done, the cost of which exceeded the amount of rent money on hand. Each shareholder was to pay one-third the expense. In order that the work be paid for when finished A made a personal check for A's share, B's share, and C's share. When the rent was collected A returned to his personal account in the bank the full amount of the check to cover check.

1. Should A return the full amount or only that of the shares of B and C?

2. Did not A return his share of expense to himself? P. R.

If there had been enough money in the firm account A would have paid the creditor out of the firm account thereby reducing the assets available for distribution. Ultimately the amount payable to each of the three would be affected pro rata.

Where the money is not available, substantially the same result should be achieved by three steps, [1] the money that A pays in should be shown on the books as added to the firm assets, [2] there should be a charge for the expenditures as above, and [3] A should [after the money is available] retrace step [1] by taking the amount from the firm assets, thus reimbursing himself.

Clearly A is cheating himself if he simply handles the expenditure out of his private funds and then reimburses himself out of funds that are already one-third his.

BIG CHICAGO AREA PLANE PLANT TO 'RISE LIKE MAGIC'

Production by December Is Douglas Goal.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

A site in the Chicago area has been selected for the new 150 million dollar Douglas Aircraft company plant, and the foundation work is to begin within the next few days, it was learned in Chicago yesterday.

This new factory, which will be one of the largest in the country, was announced first by THE TRIBUNE on April 23. It is being constructed for the fabrication and assembly of huge four engined cargo and freight planes considered vital to the nation's war efforts and transport systems.

17,000 to Be Employed.

When operating at its peak the new factory, which will be windowless and camouflaged, will employ more than 17,000 men and women. The craft they will construct will be turned over to both the army and commercial air lines.

Exact location of the factory site is a military secret carefully guarded by the war sites board, which has just approved the acreage.

Several other cities were considered for the new plant, it was learned. The Chicago area finally was chosen because it is a center of machine tool manufacturing, because there is a yet untapped supply of workers trained in the use of such tools, and because there is unlimited power and water supply here.

According to word received here yesterday, the new plant is to rise with almost magic rapidity. The schedule, which Douglas officials expect to maintain, calls for production as early as next Dec. 15.

Several Subcontracts Signed.

Several subcontracts already have been signed for fabrication of outer wings, fuselage parts, landing gears, tail units, etc., and subcontractors will commence work on them about the time the first workmen begin erecting the assembly plant. By the time the plant's roof is on and tools are installed parts will begin flowing into its doors. It was explained that only thru some such dispersion of work here could the Dec. 15 production date be met.

According to word from Douglas officials in California, the type of plane to be manufactured here will weigh more than 50,000 pounds and be similar to the army's new C-47 cargo craft. The C-47, announced by the army recently, is the military version of the production model of the Douglas DC-4, ordered in quantity by the nation's air line operators nearly two years ago.

The army has only a few C-47s, but these craft have proved to be outstanding carriers. The C-47 is constructed entirely of duralumin [an aluminum alloy], and it is said that the first of the new Douglas planes to be built here also will be all-metal machines.

PLANE PLANTS ORDERED GIVEN BACK TO OWNERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—President Roosevelt late today directed the navy department to return four plants of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation to private operation.

A month ago the President commandeered the plants and placed them under navy operation because their existing management "had not proved adequate under the circumstances confronting it effectively to operate the corporation's plants" to assure delivery of combat aircraft needed for the war effort. It was said that the plants were operating at less than half of their capacity.

Today's executive order restoring the plants to private owners avoided any mention of either labor or management troubles. The announcement merely said that the President "now finds that the plants will be privately operated in a manner consistent with the war effort."

The company has two plants at Long Island City and additional plants at Newark, N. J., and Johnsville, Pa. They had contracts totaling millions of dollars for the production of fighters, bombers, and training planes.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Beatrice Penczel, 6922 South Maplewood avenue.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

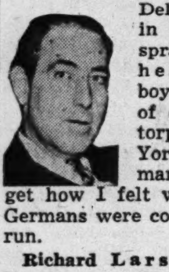
THE ANSWERS.



Frank Wagner, aeronautical equipment production manager, 25' East Delaware place—I was in bed with a badly sprained ankle when I heard the newspaper boys screaming that one of our ships had been torpedoed off the New York coast by a submarine. I'll never forget how I felt when I thought the Germans were coming and I couldn't run.

Richard Larsen, salesman, 5653 Kenmore avenue—The epidemic of German measles that was going around right after the war was most memorable to me. My brother was very sick and for a long time I thought the epidemic was part of the war scheme. I also remember I thought no disease was ever as fatal as the measles.

Janice McClain, secretary, 4245 North Ashland avenue—I thought armistices were pretty wonderful things—mainly because our school was dismissed as soon as it was made public. Whistles blew, bells rang, and everybody danced and shouted. The crowd of people gathered on the streets was the biggest and noisiest I had ever seen.

Gertrude Reiners, candy clerk, 223 West 58th street—I'll never forget what an awful looking creature the German kaiser was pictured as being. The upper grade students had made a monstrous model of him and when they hanged it and burned it I was one of the terrified but happy onlookers.

Mrs. John Foster, housewife, 5003 Woodlawn avenue—When the war was over it meant one important thing to me. All the time that I was trudging thru the crowds of happy people with my mother, brother, and sister I thought my uncle would be coming home again. That's what the armistice meant.

Mrs. Robert Mitten, housewife, 8237 Ingleside avenue—I remember what a fuss everybody made when my brother left home to join the army. My mother spent hours making, packing, and shipping fruit cakes to him in France. Then she'd wonder if they would ever reach him and I'd wonder with her until I thought no tragedy was worse than if they shouldn't.

Car Lines Consolidation Measure to Be Discussed

Members of the Union League club will meet today to hear a discussion of the city's traction unification ordinance which will be voted on at a public referendum June 1. The ordinance will be explained by Ald. James R. AN INVESTIGATOR OF 'GLAMOR' DIGS INTO NAZI 'NEWS'

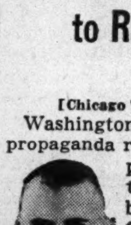
He Offers 'Test' Questions to Rate Papers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



H. D. Lasswell.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The propaganda rating of American newspapers, it was disclosed today, is being studied by Harold D. Lasswell, a former University of Chicago assistant professor, who attained publicity a decade ago thru:

1. A scholarly investigation of the meaning of "it," a feminine quality now popularity known as "glamor" and termed thruout history by various titles, all meaning what the boys like in the opposite sex.

2. A learned thesis on the meaning of the Bronx cheer—an expression which also has historic qualities but which Dr. Lasswell now thinks has no place in newspaper columns.

A Formula of Questions.

Lasswell is director of war communications research for the library of congress and has produced a "weighted average" system intended to be used in measuring the volume of Nazi propaganda in American publications. The system was explained at a postoffice department hearing by Dr. Lasswell himself.

The formula, as explained by the witness, who was testifying in a case involving the barring from the mails of The X-Ray, Muncie, Ind. weekly, edited by Court Asher, accused of seditious leanings, is based upon answers to the following questions about a publication under analysis:

1. Does it follow the Nazi propaganda that the United States is economically corrupt?

2. Does it oppose the administration's foreign policy or conduct of the war?

3. Does it assail the President on moral or ethical grounds?

4. Does it disparage Great Britain or other allies?

5. Does it say that Washington is run by Communists, plutocrats, Jews, or crooks?

Offered for Court Use.

Dr. Lasswell, who presented his charts and statistics at the close of Asher's hearing before three assistant postmasters general, said that his system is offered only for such use as courts or government departments see fit to make of it in determining whether publications are guilty or innocent of subversion.

Lasswell was associate professor of political economy at the University of Chicago in 1931 and 1932. He wrote a book "Propaganda and Promotional Activities" in 1935. In 1939, he was on the staff of the left wing "new school for social research" and also "of the William Allen White Psychiatric Foundation of Washington."

SAYS U. S. PRESS OFFICE IS TRYING TO DO BETTER JOB

John Herrick, chief of the press division of the Office of Facts and Figures, told the Inland Daily Press association yesterday that the OFF is trying to improve its service. He spoke at the closing session of the association's convention in the Hotel Sherman.

"There is need," he said, "for some means of arriving at one set of official facts and figures which will result in harmonizing official statements concerning such matters as the rationing of gasoline and the development of synthetic rubber.

"There should be a curtailment in the amount of information material going out from the government, and that which has no bearing on the war should be cut to a minimum."

HOOVER ASSAILS 'SMEAR' OF EARLY ENEMIES OF WAR

Calls for Tolerance in Interest of Unity.

New York, May 20 (AP).—Herbert Hoover said tonight that "from a philosophical viewpoint" he would like to see the "sixth columnists given a little more liberty."

The former President, speaking on "the limitations on freedom in war," defined sixth columnists as "ones who discuss the war or speculate or even criticize in private conversation."

In an address before the 26th assembly of the National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., a research organization, Hoover called for the "healing of our prewar differences" as necessary to national unity. He added that "moral limitations on the liberty to smear should be increased drastically as a war measure."

Asks Criticism—Not Abuse.

"No public servant can be free of criticism if democracy is to continue to live," said Hoover, "but the first rule of criticism is that it must not take the form of personal detraction and abuse.

"We Americans have pioneered in the sadistic and higher art of abuse—that is, smearing. The great officers who lead our people in war must have respect."

But neither congress nor the public, he said, should be criticized for exposing mistakes and wrongdoing in conduct of the war on the ground that such exposure lowers morale.

"It is not the action in exposing these things that lowers morale; it is the terrible stuff that is exposed which lowers morale," he said.

Free Enterprise to Suffer.

To win total war, Hoover said, "President Roosevelt must have dictatorial economic powers. There must be no hesitation in giving them to him and upholding him in them. Moreover, we must expect a steady decrease in economic freedom as the war goes on.

"We must start our thinking with a cold, hard fact; that the economic measures to win total war are just plain Fascist economics.

"But there are two vast differences in the application of this sort of economic system at the hands of democracies or by dictators. First, in democracies we strive to keep free speech, free press, free worship, trial by jury, and other personal liberties alive.

"And second, we want to so design our actions that these Fascist economic measures are not frozen into American life, but shall thaw out after the war."

Hoover suggested "we adjourn trying to reform freedom and to make America over anew socially and economically during the war. . . . There will be plenty of time to exercise the spirit of reform after the war."

In the five months since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Hoover said, "some war intolerance at the hands of self-appointed persons and organizations has risen to great heights. There are a number of varieties of intolerance.

"One cult undoubtedly believes that outside the obvious alien enemy agents and crackpots, who are in care of the attorney general, there is a great group of Americans somewhere in some dark corner who want defeat. I have not heard of a single sane American who wants defeat. They want victory.

"But the national gunning for this phantasmagoria has taken in too much ground. The high priests of this cult have concluded that all those who were opposed to war before Pearl Harbor cannot possibly be patriotic Americans ever.

75% Opposed to War.

"Or at least they are under suspicion of being appeasers, compromisers, various obnoxious bipeds, reptiles, and Cliveden sets, Nazi sympathizers and sixth columnists. Yet, 75 per cent of the American people were opposed to war before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"Nevertheless, this 75 per cent who now are in outer darkness are willingly sacrificing their sons, their brothers, their husbands, and they are working and paying without murmur. . . .

"But is all this name calling the way to national unity? To have unity we need the healing of our prewar differences, not this pouring of acid into the wounds."

LEWIS DOUGLAS NAMED TO SPEED WAR SHIPPING

Adm. Vickery Appointed to Rush Construction.

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—To tackle the problem of making the available supply of cargo ships do the biggest possible job of hauling war supplies overseas, Lewis W. Douglas today was appointed deputy war shipping administrator.

Lewis W. Douglas [top] and Rear Adm. H. L. Vickery.

At the same time Rear Adm. Howard L. Vickery was named deputy administrator for new ships.

Douglas left congress in 1933 to become director of the budget. Later he resigned because of personal disagreement with the President's monetary and spending policies.

Recently he had been chief adviser to Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, war shipping administrator, and particularly concerned with working out transport problems with the British war transport ministry.

To Plan and Direct.

"He has, however, had no administrative responsibility and with this appointment, Mr. Douglas will join with men in not only planning but directing the use of our merchant marine," Land said.

Douglas' duties are to assist in making best possible use of available tonnage. This involves the complicated task of routing vessels or assigning particular ships to carry particular cargoes between specific ports as the need for the supplies may dictate.

Vickery's tasks will deal with the urgent phase of building new ships. Criticism has been directed at the progress of the shipbuilding program. Steel shortages have handicapped it, and the rate of launchings has been unfavorably compared with the rate of sinkings. Administration officials recently declared however that construction was coming along satisfactorily.

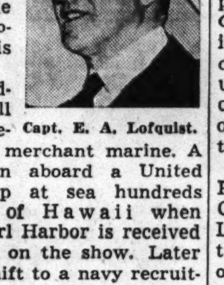
House May Probe Delay.

Meanwhile the house merchant marine committee projected an investigation of alleged delay by the maritime commission and the war shipping administration in carrying out provisions of recent legislation governing the internal movement of cargo destined for overseas.

The legislation directed the agencies to assume jurisdiction over the handling of such freight. It was designed to withdraw control from the British organization set up in this country, to preserve the domestic freight forwarding machinery for postwar competition.

W-G-N STARTS BIG NAVY PROGRAM SERIES TONIGHT

Americans at the Ramparts, in its broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 8:30 tonight, will boost the new United States navy recruiting campaign. Ten thousand recruits from the middle west are the objective of this new drive.



Capt. E. A. Lofquist.

On this broadcast W-G-N will salute the bluejackets and the merchant marine. A drama of action aboard a United States battleship at sea hundreds of miles west of Hawaii when the news of Pearl Harbor is received will be unfolded on the show. Later the scene will shift to a navy recruiting office at home with hundreds of young men fighting for a chance to enlist.

Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff of the 9th naval district, will speak during the broadcast. His address will be followed by a medley of naval tunes—"Navy Blues," "Navy Blue and Gold," United States Naval academy song, and the rousing "Anchors Aweigh," played by the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of Robert Trendler.

The script was written by Sidney Gerson. Morrison Wood will be the producer. W-G-N is planning other programs to boost the navy recruiting drive.

MAHIN STRESSES UNIT TRAINING IN 33D'S EXERCISES

New Commander Wins Respect of All.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., May 20.—"Time is the one thing we don't have. We must save time—time—time. Cut every corner that can be cut safely. Much, much less emphasis on parade ground perfection and drill. Intensification of combat training."

With this soldier's philosophy, the 33d division's new commanding general, Brig. Gen. Frank C. Mahin, has started work to whip the former Illinois National Guard unit into shape for fighting duty. In the short space of time he has been here Gen. Mahin's personality and drive have already been noted with respect by every one.

Gen. Mahin, a regular army officer who started soldiering 32 years ago as a private, replaced Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, who was transferred to Chicago as second in command to Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear in organizing the central defense command. Gen. Lawton has charge of protecting the upper Mississippi valley and vital defense and industrial installations in the central west.

[Gen. Mahin was nominated for promotion to the rank of major general today, according to dispatches from Washington.]

Classmate of Col. Roosevelt.

Deeply tanned, rugged, square of jaw with steady blue eyes that flash suddenly to emphasize a point, Gen. Mahin is a soldier's idea of what a fighting general should look like. In appearance he resembles Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who was a classmate at Harvard university in 1909.

This came after several years in school on the continent and in England where in 1902 he joined the Robin Hood Rifles, an English territorial [militia] regiment. There was tension then between Germany and England, and Gen. Mahin had just returned from study in Germany.

"There were several in Germany I'd like to have seen over the sights of a rifle," he remarked drily.

Today he is just as eager to see action as he was as a boy, and as he was as a man in France during World War I. At St. Mihiel with the 5th division he was one of four officers who came out with the remnants of a brigade headquarters and five companies, one of them commanded by a corporal. Gen. Mahin was wounded there and again later in the Meuse-Argonne where he was also "beautifully filled with phosgene gas."

Trained in Small Units.

Small unit training is the present order of the day here, with the men out in the fields and woods, learning how to function in small groups.

Information on the exact stage of training of individual regiments or smaller units, or of the division as a whole, is prohibited under the censorship code. According to officers, however, it can be stated that all of the soldiers who have been here since the 33d first came to camp have received basic training in their arms, while such replacements as the division has received recently are now undergoing that phase.

"They must learn how to take care of themselves," said the general, puffing on a cigaret in division headquarters. [He scorns tailor made cigarets and rolls his own.]

USO OPENS NEW SERVICE LOUNGE IN UNION STATION

The new United Service organization lounge for service men was opened yesterday on the mezzanine level off the main concourse in the Union station. A similar lounge—for small groups traveling between posts—was established a month ago in the Illinois Central station at Roosevelt road.

The dedication yesterday followed a parade led by the drum corps of the Continental-Illinois post of the American Legion and presentation of colors by Legion posts of railroads using the station. Representatives of the armed services, the mayor's office, the railroads, and the USO attended the ceremonies.

The speakers included Holman D. Pettibone, general chairman of the Chicago USO war fund campaign; Lansing Macfarland, chairman of the troops and transportation committee of the USO, and O. H. Frick, general manager of the station. Trained volunteer hostesses will supervise the lounge, which will provide free checking, reading, and writing facilities, and games and information service for men in uniform.

CAMP FORREST COUNTIES PLACED IN NO-VICE AREA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today invoked the anti-prostitution act, passed by congress this month, to designate 27 counties around Camp Forrest, Tenn., as an area in which prostitution is forbidden. The area covers most of the counties in middle Tennessee.

Under the act the army and navy along with the Federal Security administration are empowered to take such steps as they deem necessary to suppress vice in their areas in cooperation with civilian authorities.

GEN. CAMPBELL IS NOMINATED ARMY ORDNANCE CHIEF

15 Brigadiers, 46 Colonels Also Are Promoted.

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell Jr., 55 years old, was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be chief of ordnance for the army, succeeding Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, who will retire from active service on May 31.

In addition Mr. Roosevelt asked senate confirmation of promotion of 15 brigadier generals to be major generals and of 46 colonels to be brigadier generals.

James Roosevelt, son of the President, has been selected for temporary rank as a major, the marine corps revealed in announcing the names of 310 captains chosen for advancement. The list includes 11 believed to be prisoners of war. Young Roosevelt once held a lieutenant colonel's commission in the marines.

Campbell, an expert on ordnance design and production, has been in the office of the chief of ordnance since the summer of 1940, and has had direct supervision ot the development of new ordnance production facilities.

Hopkins Protests Shift.

Maj. Gen. James H. Burns previously had been nominated by the President to succeed Wesson, but at the urgent request of Harry L. Hopkins, chairman of the munitions assignment board and supervisor of the lend-lease administration, he is being retained in his present assignment as executive of the munitions assignment board.

Campbell, born in Washington, D. C., Nov. 23, 1886, was graduated in 1910 from the Naval academy. He entered the coast artillery corps in 1911 as a second lieutenant and transferred to the ordnance department in 1921.

He has held important assignments in the design and production sections of the ordnance department, including command of the artillery ammunition department at Frankford arsenal at Philadelphia immediately prior to his assignment in Washington in 1940.

Others on List.

Among the others nominated are Brig. Gen. Robert Olds of Washington, D. C., former commanding officer of the air corps ferrying command, and Col. Ward M. Harris of Kansas City, Mo., now in the war plans division of the general staff, who was in charge of public relations for the war department from January, 1940, to February, 1941.

Others in the list to be major generals are:

Albert E. Brown, Washington, D. C.; Henry L. C. Jones, Broken Bow, Neb.; William H. H. Morris Jr., Ocean Grove, N. J.; Durward S. Wilson, Greenville, N. C.; William M. Grimes, Washington, L. C.; Rapp Brush, Vancouver barracks, Wash.; Joseph D. Patch, Washington, D. C.; John E. Sloan, Greenville, S. C.; William H. Gill, Unison, Va.; Harry L. Twaddle, Wakeman, O.; Frank C. Mahin, Washington, D. C.; Homer R. Oldfield, Highland, N. Y.; J. Lawton Collins, Washington, D. C., and Harold R. Bull, Springfield, Mass.

Among colonels nominated for brigadier general were Donald Armstrong, commander of the Chicago ordnance district, and Kenneth Buchanan of Urbana, Ill.

HUSH UP SECRET GAMING REPORT AT POLICE TRIAL

Exhibit No. 104 was the bone of contention thruout most of yesterday's hearing by the Civil Service commissioners on the case of Policeman Fred Trauth, former morals division leader of the gambling squad. It was waved repeatedly in the faces of Commissioners Wendell Green and William P. Ronan, but each time the commission refused to accept testimony concerning it.

Exhibit No. 104 is a secret report made by Trauth on June 12, 1940, to Capt. Martin McCormick, then commander of the morals division, against whom charges of inefficiency, neglect, and the making of false reports are pending. It is on the same charges that Trauth is being examined.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin said the exhibit contradicts the policemen who testified in contradiction of state's attorney's investigators, whose testimony contradicted Trauth's reports that certain gambling places were closed. Austin wound up his presentation yesterday.

DONALD ARMSTRONG WINS PROMOTION TO BRIGADIER GENERAL

Brig. Gen. Donald Armstrong.

Col. Donald Armstrong, chief of the Chicago ordnance district, yesterday was nominated by President Roosevelt to be a brigadier general. Col. Armstrong has been stationed in Chicago since July, 1939.

He is 53 years old and is the holder of bachelor's and master's degrees from Columbia university. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the coast artillery in 1910 and was promoted thru the grades to colonel in 1939.

During the World war Col. Armstrong was a major of coast artillery and a member of the staff of the chief of artillery. From 1919 to 1923 he was a military attaché at the embassy in Paris and from 1927 to 1931 attached to the office of the assistant secretary of war, during which time he also was an instructor in the Army Industrial college. From 1935 to 1939 he was chief of the army's maintenance division.

He is married, has one son, and lives at 5807 Dorchester avenue.

PLAYS DROWNING VICTIM'S ROLE IN LIFESAVING CLASS

Betty Baker, who has auburn hair and lives at 5359 Irving Park road, was the willing victim of imaginary drownings Tuesday night so that Leo Freisinger, swimming instructor, might demonstrate the chest carry, the fireman's carry, and artificial respiration for 46 young men who want to be Chicago park lifeguards.

This Red Cross course in life saving and first aid at the Portage park pool is being duplicated at three other park tanks. Those who earn graduation cards will qualify for park district tests to be held June 8 thru 18 at the Washington park pool.

Of the 100 young men registered for the course, 54 are only 17 years old. The minimum age was reduced from 18 because of the war shortage here of lifeguard prospects.

TWO DYNAMITE TRUCKS COLLIDE; BLAST KILLS TWO

Homestead, Fla., May 20 (AP).—Two men were killed when two trucks carrying dynamite from Birmingham, Ala., to Key West, Fla., collided and set off a terrific explosion 11 miles north of here early today.

Both trucks were torn to bits, but the driver and another occupant of one of them escaped. The blast was heard for miles and tore a crater in the highway that made it impassable.

Sergt. Carl Spence of the Florida highway patrol identified the dead as G. H. Baker, Birmingham, and B. W. Waites, Decatur, Ala., both about 22 years old.

Charles Smith, 40, Verbena, Ala., and Oliver Cox, 39, Clanton, Ala., were in the other vehicle.

46 DAYS ON RAFT! LONE SURVIVOR TELLS HOW 2 DIED

Rocking Craft Pitches Sailor Into Sea.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 20 (AP).—A maddening 46 day voyage on a raft, during which one companion died and the other fell into the sea and drowned was described today by Michael Wajda, 28 year old American seaman brought here by a rescue ship.

Wajda said his ship was torpedoed and shelled at night in the Atlantic. Wounded on the head and in one ankle, he tumbled overboard.

He said he remembered nothing more until he was revived on the raft by Mahlon R. Benton and Lindgren Bancroft, second and third assistant engineers.

"For 10 days I was in a daze, but they looked after me," he said.

Rig Flags as Sail.

"The raft had plenty of hardtack and chocolate concentrate and two yellow quarantine flags that we rigged as a sail. We were in the rain belt, so we had no fear about water. The rain gave us about five gallons a day, but made the hardtack moldy.

"Benton made a net out of string and caught fish. When we threw their offal overboard it attracted sharks. They didn't bother us, but slapped the raft with their tails and we were afraid it would upset.

"About the 14th day Benton began growing weak. He couldn't swallow water or fish. On the 14th day he died and we put him overboard, mumbling what prayers we could remember.

"I'd been checking the days with knots on a piece of string, but I stopped two days later.

"Then Bancroft started to go out of his mind. Twice he tried to jump overboard. I grabbed him just in time.

Rolls Off Raft.

"On the 35th day he tried again. I grabbed him and we rolled around until he finally promised he would not try it again. Just then the raft lurched and he went over. I was too weak to try to save him. I don't remember much after Bancroft was gone.

"Once I sighted a ship about 12 miles off but she turned away. I remember seeing later that the water was muddy, and I almost fainted for joy when I realized it meant that land was near. The next day I was picked up."

Hospital attendants said that Wajda's wounds had healed well while he was adrift and that he was in good condition except for poor circulation due to lack of exercise. The majority of the other survivors from his ship reached safety long ago.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Mrs. Antoinette Balzer, 86 years old, 5581 North Mason street, was killed by a Chicago and North Western suburban train yesterday when pushing a small wagon containing a gallon of milk across the track near the Gladstone station.

TORPEDOED SHIP'S CREW, DOG AGAIN READY FOR SEA

All Hands Are Safe, Back in U. S.

Tampa, Fla., May 20 (AP).—All hands and the dog came safely thru repeated torpedo and gunfire attacks when their ship was sunk by submarines last month and now the sailors and their dog are ready to go back to sea.

Fifty-three men and an airedale named Mickey reached this port recently, survivors of a medium sized United States merchant ship sunk April 29. The sinking had previously been announced by the navy. The survivors spent about 84 hours in open boats, rode a sub chaser to a Caribbean port and another ship to Tampa en route to New York.

Dog a "Member" of Crew.

Mickey is the pet of Capt. Ernest V. Farrow of Staten Island, N. Y., has sailed with his master for three years, and is regarded so much as a member of the crew that when rations were being doled out in lifeboats, Mickey got his full share.

Struck first by a torpedo about 2 a. m., the ship was not disabled and was able to maintain speed with the submarine in pursuit. Soon two other submarines appeared on the surface, and for 15 minutes a brisk battle was fought with naval gun crews the ship answering the cannon and machine gun fire from the subs.

Hit by Second, Tihrd Torpedoes.

The ship was damaged, but not disabled, by this gunfire and those aboard her were unable to say if the subs were struck. A second torpedo smashed into her three hours after the gunfire died away, but again she was able to maintain way with the U-boats following under the surface.

About 10 a. m. the third torpedo hit and stopped the ship. Capt. Farrow ordered her abandoned. The 42 crewmen, nine gunners, two passengers, and Mickey piled into two boats and the ship sank in about 18 minutes.

STORE WORKERS' UNION OPPOSES WAGE FREEZING

Proposals for freezing of wages by the government were denounced yesterday at the convention of the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Stores Employés, a CIO union, in the Morrison hotel. The delegates urged that women be paid the same wages as men called to the armed services, and that workers thrown out of jobs by the conversion of industry to the war effort be trained for war work.

The convention received greetings and thanks for the union's expression of patriotism from Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The message was in response to one sent Gen. MacArthur by Samuel Wolchok, president, in which the union pledged its support in the war effort.

DAVIS HINTS WLB TO HEW TO F. D. R. LINE ON WAGES

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—William H. Davis, chairman of the War Labor board, indicated today that pay disputes would be settled in the future in the light of President Roosevelt's declaration of April 27 outlining to congress an anti-inflation program which would freeze most wages at "existing levels."

Davis indicated in a wage hearing that the board should not consider how long disputes had been under discussion or how far advanced they were toward settlement.

During the hearing a union spokesman asked the board to bear in mind that its wage demands in the Chase Brass and Copper company of Cleveland were made last November and were certified to the board last February.

"Is it your thought," the chairman asked, "that the board ought to do something inconsistent with the President's policy . . . merely because the negotiations were started before the President's message?" Davis added that he was not saying what was or was not inconsistent in this case.

How to get the best service from your refrigerator

by Helen Scott, home advisor

I've been talking with many homemakers lately. Most of them are interested in keeping their appliances in good repair so they will last longer. I agree with these women because, during wartime, appliances are more important than ever, and deserve the best of care.

Refrigerators are particularly important at this time of year. So here are several important ways to care for your electric refrigerator . . . ways which have been scientifically tested and proven worthwhile.

Read these suggestions thoroughly and start following them right now. Keep them handy as a daily reminder of how to get the best service from your electric refrigerator.

1 Be sure your refrigerator is placed away from the wall at least an inch or more. The mechanism needs proper ventilation at all times for longer and more economical operation.

2 Defrost the freezing unit regularly according to your service book. A thick coating of frost on the freezer makes your refrigerator run too often. Don't put hot water in trays to speed defrosting.

3 Don't place food against the freezing unit. This interferes with the circulation of cold air throughout the refrigerator and reduces its efficiency.

4 Cut in half the number of times you open your refrigerator. Take out the things you need at one opening of the door. This helps conserve the freezing mechanism.

5 Wash your refrigerator, including shelves and trays weekly, with baking soda and water. Wash rubber insulation around door, dry, and dust with talcum powder to keep rubber from sticking.

6 Never use sharp utensils to remove cube trays. Be sure trays are dry on the outside before you put them back in the refrigerator, and be sure the compartment is thoroughly dry, too.

7 If the mechanism of your refrigerator is not sealed, keep it free of grease and dust. Make sure that your refrigerator is disconnected before you wipe off the motor.

8 If your refrigerator gets out of adjustment or gets noisy, call a serviceman for a complete check-up of the mechanism. In the long run this will save money and inconvenience.

Good Morning!

Pearl Harbor! . . . And 20th Century-Fox galloped into action! . . . A movie must be made practically instanter, essaying to show Japanese pre-Pearl Harbor activities and the operations of those who were beginning to get wise to their cunningly concealed treachery. . . .

So—scenario writers went to work, and, presto, we have "Secret Agent of Japan"—its scenes laid in Shanghai just before the Japs struck and we declared war.

At last Lynn Bari has a meaty rôle in which she distinguishes herself, as we, who have admired her always, claimed she would do if given a chance. . . . The pity is that she hasn't much in the way of the story which shows much evidence of having been thrown together with haste.

It's a spy yarn and she plays a British agent. . . . Preston Foster is seen as a night club owner wanted by United States police. . . . He's hard boiled and not desirous of getting mixed up in anything—but he comes thru gallantly when he realizes conditions—and his country's need of him. . . .

The picture is not without surprise and not without suspense. . . . All of the acting is excellent—and the director did right well with his material.

See you tomorrow.

Chorus Sings Fine Program and Enjoys It

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A bounce and freshness one seldom encounters in choral groups distinguished the singing of "Pirmyn," the Chicago Lithuanian chorus, at Kimball hall last night.

The simple, folklike melodies which made up a great part of the program sang along with a buoyancy and naturalness that sometimes became actually exhilirating. One felt that the singers were in high spirits and having at least as good a time as the audience. A silver quality, as of suppressed laughter, sometimes colored their voices, and their rhythms had a fine cheery ping.

On the technical side the sureness of the chorus' attack and the unity and mutuality of its phrasing testified to the good work of the conductor, Charles Stephens. So did the quality and variety of the chorus' tonal effects. The group commanded a pure pianissimo as easily as it did a closely knit forte.

The program included not only Lithuanian songs but also the music of other countries—America among them. There was a variety of soloists. George Lawner played accompaniments.

An all-request program will be played by the Illinois Symphony orchestra under Izler Solomon's direction at its final concert of the season on June 1 at the Eighth Street theater. Suggestions for works to be played should be sent to the Popular Request Poll, Illinois Symphony orchestra, 632 North Dearborn street, Chicago.

Rockford College Club's Annual Banquet Tonight

The Chicago Rockford College club will holds its annual meeting and banquet at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the Orrington hotel, Evanston, with Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of the college, as the special guest. Miss Ada Sitterly will preside.

Music Speaker

MRS. GUY P. GANNETT.

Mrs. Guy P. Gannett of Portland, Me., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, praised THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Music Festival for its "special emphasis on cultural things" in a speech yesterday at the annual White Breakfast of the Illinois Federation of Music Clubs. Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president of the Illinois federation, presided at the breakfast and introduced Mrs. Gannett.

The breakfast was held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel La Salle to launch a campaign for funds to provide an ambulance for the British-American ambulance corps in the name of fighting musicians. Another speaker on the program was J. C. Auchinloss, executive vice president of the British-American ambulance corps, who appeared in the place of the president, William V. C. Ruxton of New York.

Winners of the table decoration contest were Mu Phi Epsilon, the Music Study club of Chicago, and the Chicago Woman's Music club. The winners turned the books of defense stamps they were awarded in to the ambulance fund.

Plan Campaign for Enrollees in Nurses' Schools

A nation-wide campaign to get young women to enroll in nurses' training schools was disclosed at the National Biennial Nursing convention, being held this week at the Stevens hotel. The campaign will be part of a national effort to augment the nursing power of the United States to supply 35,000 nurses to the armed forces by the end of 1943 and at the same time maintain the necessary nursing agencies and facilities on the home front.

Retired nurses, having completed a refresher course, are being used as the chief reserve from which Chicago hospitals draw nurses to fill vacancies created by members of the nursing staffs joining the armed forces' nurses corps. Nurses aides and Red Cross Gray Ladies, both volunteer groups, also are relieving the nursing staffs of many duties.

To become enrolled in most Illinois nursing schools, an applicant must be at least 18 years old, in good health, and a graduate of an accredited high school. Tuition fees in Illinois nursing schools range from $50 to $250 and cover the entire three year training period. Other than tuition, a nurse must buy only her books and uniforms. Room, board, recreational facilities, and laundry service are provided.

Tho the field of nursing has always been a comparatively secure one for granduates of recognized schools of nursing, the increased needs of medical care during the war has opened a newer and wider field than ever before.

A graduate from a nursing school today has many opportunities for positions—in the armed forces, in defense industries, and in hospitals and federal services. Pay, for a new nurse, ranges upward from $70 a month, with room and board provided, to the salary of a head nurse, who is frequently paid more than $300 a month, besides maintenance.

Members of the American Nurses' association and directors of federal, state, and Red Cross agencies gathered at a federal government section luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Stevens hotel to pay tribute to the hundreds of nurses, now attending the convention, who have enrolled for service with the army and navy. More than 10,000 nurses have gathered in Chicago for the nurses' national convention.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War York department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Are you thinking of joining the women's army auxiliary corps? If so, just be patient a little longer and around June 1 you will be able to go to the Chicago recruiting station and apply for entrance to the first officer training school, to be located at Fort Des Moines, Ia. Only about 60 will be chosen for this corps area to take this training, but in September general recruiting will begin and after that officers will be promoted from the ranks. The assistants to Mrs. Overta Culp Hobby, director of the WAAC, will be chosen from the members of the first officer school.

By the end of the first year it is planned to have 25,000 members of the WAAC, and the bill authorizing the organization makes provision for a women's army of 150,000, if and when necessary. The army now would like 45,000, but the war department does not estimate that it can train that many in the first year. The WAACs ultimately will take over the major part of the aircraft warning service, numerous army administrative duties, and whatever other tasks women can perform to release men for active service.

Life in the new women's army is not going to be all beer and skittles; it's going to be monotonous, hard, and for the most part pretty dull. But it's going to be no more monotonous, hard, and dull than a soldier's life, and there will be the satisfaction to a woman serving in the army of feeling that she is doing her part for her country, just as her brother, or sweetheart, or husband is doing his.

A few WAACs may see excitement, may participate in thrilling episodes that will make history, but most of them will never have such experiences to relate to their grandchildren. They'll drill and work and lead routine lives not any more interesting than if they were at home rather than in an army camp, but they'll have the compensative knowledge that they are pioneers in this day of total warfare; that they are doing something that no other American women ever have done before.

We, just as women the world over ever since the world began have done, have always had our work in war time, but, except for nurses, it has always been behind the lines work, and we've definitely never been able to feel that we were a part of the men's armed forces. Now, even tho technically the women's army is not a component part of the army, it will serve with the armed forces and a WAAC member can feel that she is "in the army now."

And what does that mean?

Well, for one thing it means giving up some of the little things that most girls and women love. Such unimportant, infinitesimal things as long bobs, bright nail polish and lipstick, costume or real jewelry [a WAAC may wear only a wedding ring, a guard or signet ring, and a wrist watch.] Cocktails and silk stockings, perfume, too, will come under the ban, no doubt, for we cannot imagine Mrs. Hobby's army will be permitted to wear any scent more seductive than that which results from plenty of soap and hot water.

Mrs. Hobby herself is about as feminine and attractive a woman as one could find. She's little, and smart, and perfectly groomed, with that rather melting charm that all southern women are supposed to have but that many lack. Not Mrs. Hobby, tho. She has what it takes, in the vernacular of the teen age, and it's not surprising that she was chosen to direct the women's army.

She's brilliant and keener than most men, no doubt. But she's smart enough to hide it, and we'd guarantee no man leaves her thinking: "Gosh, what a brainy woman." No indeed. After listening to her soft drawling voice and being looked at earnestly but with a certain coquettish quality, a man leaves Mrs. Hobby thinking, "Now there's a real woman, soft and clinging, and I must help her." Women like her, too.

Director Hobby's hobby is what men call crazy hats, but women who like different and distinctive chapeaux would all agree that Mrs. Hobby's hats always are chic and individual. She'll have to give them up, tho, when she gets into uniform, just as she will earrings. She's one of those women who feel that they aren't completely dressed until they have their ears adorned with baubles and, being that sort ourself, we understand the feeling perfectly. Mrs. Hobby likes horseback riding and dancing, but she does not play bridge. She says she cannot cook, but she does toss up a good chili, her friends say, and other dishes enjoyed in the southwest.

Mrs. Hobby's husband, William Pettus Hobby, was governor of Texas during the last war. They have two children, Billy, 10 years old, and Jessica, 5. The children are at home in Houston, Tex., but their mother talks to them on the telephone every few days and they exchange daily letters. Mr. Hobby was in Washington, D. C., when his wife was sworn in to her new position last Saturday, but he is not moving to Washington, for he is publisher of the Houston Post. Mrs. Hobby's headquarters will be in Washington, altho this summer she probably will commute between there and Des Moines.

Mrs. Hobby was invited to speak here tonight before the Home Economics Women in Business on "Woman's Work in a War World," but she had a previous engagement in Georgia, so her director of public relations, Mrs. Genevieve Forbes Herrick, is to take her place. Mrs. Herrick is a former Evanstonian and a former reporter on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. She has been living in Washington for 12 years and is well qualified to talk on the subject that the home economics women have chosen.

Final plans for the Soirée de Gala which the Chicago committee for the Belgians in Britain will present at the Goodman theater next Thursday night will be discussed at a tea at the Cordon club at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Benjamin P. Watson of New York, national president of the organization, will be the special guest at the tea.

The Central YMCA college dancers, who scored such a success at the recent folk festival in New York, will appear on the program at the Soirée. Mrs. Thomas A. Connors is chairman of the benefit and Miss José Gerlach and Mrs. Alfred Wolff are vice chairmen. Others on the executive committee are Mrs. Lewis Heachs, Mrs. John van Ryselberge, Miss Bertha Hendrichs, and Mrs. Emile Carton.

Chicago Chapter of D. A. R. to Hold Business Meeting

Officers and directors are to be elected, annual reports will be presented, and several proposed changes in by-laws will be voted upon. The group will name Mrs. J. De Forest Richards as its candidate for regent of the state society, to succeed Mrs. Otto H. Crist of Danville at the expiration of her term.

Adviser Details Pro and Con of War Marriages

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Three correspondents have asked about marrying their soldier boys before they go off to war.

One is 23, has a good job, she says, and has been engaged for more than a year. The second is 21 and has known the boy all of her life, the only youth she has ever dated. The third is 19 and has known her young man less than three months.

To the first two we'd say, unqualifiedly, marry your man. In each case you've known him long enough not to have much doubt about who matters most in your life. But to the 19 year old, we would say: "Don't, not just yet!" A three months' acquaintance isn't quite long enough for the serious step.

It may be argued that you know a man as well in three months as in three years, but it isn't so, not with young men who haven't reached a settled state. Too, there is the danger, in a three months' courtship, or war and emotional hysteria prompting marriage which wouldn't be entertained under normal circumstances.

One thing authorities are agreed upon in connection with these young war marriages is for the girl to make as little change in her current living conditions as possible. If she is living at home, working, and paying her board there, she should stay on with the same program. If she has an apartment with another girl, she ought to keep on living that way until the soldier husband's eventual return.

Wartime Brings Sudden Shifts in Wedding Plans

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME young women have time to plan a wedding—to others, it just happens. Wedding arrangements were made at breakneck speed for Corp. Ralph S. Longstaff Jr., and Miss Joanne Marie Matheson, who are being married this afternoon in New York. Corp. Longstaff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Longstaff of Evanston, were notified yesterday of the approaching ceremony, and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Philip Shumway, and Mr. Shumway departed for New York to represent the family. Mr. Longstaff Sr. was unable to go as he promised to be present for the 80th birthday of his father, John Longstaff, tomorrow in South Dakota.

Corp. Longstaff is being sent to an officers' training school in the southwest, hence the abrupt arrangement. He and his bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey A. Matheson of Winnipeg, Canada, will arrive in Chicago Sunday to spend two or three days here. The wedding will take place at 4 o'clock in the apartment of Mrs. Floyd Evans, formerly of Lake Forest, who is a friend of both families.

Norris H. Bokum Jr.'s Bride Reaches Chicago.

News of another quickly arranged marriage is being revealed to the friends of Norris H. Bokum Jr. with the arrival in Chicago of his bride of last March 14. She is the former Barbara Franklin Bouton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Roff Bouton of Beverly Hills, Cal., and she and Mr. Bokum, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Norris H. Bokum of Chicago, were married in Reno, Nev., while his ship was at a western port.

Young Mr. Bokum is a fire controlman, second class petty officer, and took part in the battle of the Marshall islands, where the engagement ring he was prepared to give his bride was blown up. Her wedding ring had been left at Honolulu for safe keeping, so she was married with a substitute one. Young Mrs. Bokum will depart on Saturday for Minnesota to spend the summer with her grandparents after seeing Chicago with her husband's sister, Mrs. Robert E. Kenyon Jr., and their aunt, Mrs. Richard D. Bokum. Another brother, Richard D. Bokum II., is a cadet in the army air corps.

Miss Patricia Hawley, who arrives at home tomorrow from the University of Michigan, will have a little more than a week to make final plans for her wedding. The Don M. Hawleys' attractive daughter and Lieut. Bonnie A. Little, son of Mrs. William Douglas Little of Geneva, will be married on May 30 in St. Mark's Episcopal church, Geneva. A reception will follow in the home of the bride's parents in Geneva. Lieut. Little won't know where he and his bride will be living until he receives his orders from the marines.

Tea to Be Given Today for Two June Brides.

Mrs. John Morris Miller Jr. will give a tea and shower today for two June brides, Miss Carolyn Barrett and Miss Harriett Street. Miss Street and Lieut. Eric C. Lambart will be married on June 3. Miss Barrett and Rutherford Daimond Brosious will repeat their wedding vows at 8:30 o'clock on June 20 in the Winnetka Congregational church, with a reception following in the Winnetka home of the bride's parents, the Arthur M. Barretts.

Another party for Miss Barrett is scheduled for next Wednesday, when Mrs. George W. Ryerson will entertain at a luncheon and kitchen shower in Winnetka. The Barretts will give the bridal dinner on the 19th at the Indian Hill club.

From St. Louis, Mo., comes the announcement of the marriage last Saturday of Miss Jean Sutton Wagoner, daughter of the Stanley Blewett Wagoners of University City, Mo., to Sergt. Hampton E. Tonk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Tonk of Evanston. The ceremony took place in Danforth chapel of the Pilgrim Congregational church, with a reception following at the Gatesworth hotel. Among the wedding attendants were the bridegroom's sister, Miss Doris Tonk, and their stepsister, Miss Edna Johnson. Sergt. Tonk and his bride will reside in St. Louis.

Edith Hilton Is Engaged to Donald Grant Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoyt Hilton of Glen Ellyn and Belleair, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Donald Grant Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Cooke of Kenilworth. The wedding will take place on June 12 in the Hilton Memorial chapel at the University of Chicago.

Miss Hilton attended Stephens college and the Goodman School of the Theater. Mr. Cooke attended Mercersberg academy and Lehigh university.

Hot Weather Daytime Dresses Are Smart, Crisp, and Cool

BY REA SEEGER.

One piece dresses for summer daytime wear are smart, crisp and, this summer, extremely modest in price. Every cool material from cotton to wash silk is featured and every color imaginable . . . stunning dark shades for street to wear with contrasting straw colored or white accessories, vivid reds, blue, new lime-yellow, and pastels together with soft neutrals like tobacco brown and seafoam green and caramel beige.

Usually there is a flurry of white dotted outfits every summer. This year the shoppers are grabbing up everything that features stripes. There are dozens of sleek, streamlined, cotton suits with chalk lines of white, or the slightly wider stripes, with alternate stripes of dark contrast. Some star attractions among these daytime dresses are made of clear strong white striped patterns. Chambray, gingham, pique, sheers like swiss and organdy chiffon, all the novelty rayons, butcher's linen, jersey, chantung, even plain old fashioned calico, come with varying widths of cool white striping ready for home sewing bees.

Daytime dresses for this summer are especially effective because of the emphasized simplicity; short gathered skirts, very simple neckline bodices, brief sleeves and a straight band belt. The skirt fullness has been managed with neatness and skill, most of the extreme fullness pulled way to the sides and the back so as to keep the center front comparatively straight and flat. Brand new arrivals feature the newest idea in extended peplums or overskirts, a very young looking fashion for any personality. And also new, are the dark, straight underskirts for contrast.

Too Bad, Girls! WPB at Work on Beauty Aids

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The War Production board today took steps toward placing a premium on the attainment of beauty.

America now suffers no shortage of beauty preparations, but in time to come, if WPB predictions are realized, all women may wear the same shade of powder, the identical hue of lipstick, no nail polish or mascara at all, and their own age-given variety of gray hair.

This frightening prospect came into being with today's WPB announcement that it is making a study of the relative essentiality of cosmetics and toiletries. Henceforth, it said, production will have to be selective. So, one assumes, will beauty.

Shortages of glycerin, alcohol, wax, colors, and metal containers necessitated the study, the board said. Powder and cold cream, for example, seemingly contain no wartime essentials, but the shades of powder may be reduced to one because of dye shortages, while cleansing cream is affected by a shortage of jar closures.

The principal component of lipstick is wax, the use of which now is restricted. The wide variety of colors going into it also is prohibitive in view of wartime need for dyes. Two weeks ago the WPB asked women to start saving their lipstick containers; this now may be a necessity rather than a matter of patriotism as the use of copper, steel, and tin in their manufacture has been banned and plastics are on the way out.

The cosmetic industry's use of critical materials will be restricted by three measures, the board said:

[1] Substitution of less essential materials, [2] simplification of existing lines thru elimination of overlapping products, unnecessary sizes and shades, and [3] curtailing the manufacture of nonessential products which either contain critical materials or require these for their packaging.

The remaining problem is the definition of what is a nonessential beauty aid; whether lipstick is more conducive to morale when scarlet, violet, or vermilion; whether the country is to be peopled with sun brown, peach, or dead white complexions; whether the eye is to be aided more by mascara or eye shadow, or neither. It appears as tho the study of "relative essentiality" can be battered around for years.

WPB Slashes Length of Women's Fur Coats

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The War Production board today amended its restrictions of feminine apparel to include fur coats within the original order. These now must conform in length, cut and width to rules issued for cloth coats. It also brought coats for children 3 and 4 years of age under the order, but stated that judiciary robes are exempt.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE

Statistics.

Mildred Brennan sends in this sidelight on bicycling, bulletined to Norman J. Radder of Chicago by E. I. Leighton of Fort Dodge, Iowa:

"A great way to meet people and make acquaintances is to ride a bicycle. . . . On a test trip to Sunday school, we estimate that we attracted the attention of 23 times as many people as if we'd been walking, and 126 times as many as if we'd been driving a car. Very friendly people, too. Some honked their horns, all of them smiled, and an unusually high percentage laughed right out loud!"

Memories.

In a letter from Frances Mary Hughes:

"Your recent item about Athens college at Athens, Ala., wanting old stockings to be repaired and thus help students thru school brought back memories of traveling that way on United States highway 41, which passes the tiny, tidy campus, its few buildings beautifully kept up. . . . The town, founded in pre-Civil war days, is tiny, too. Due, however, to its proximity to the Wilson dam and important bisecting highways, Athens has a wistful air of alertness, as tho shyly proud of touching the fringe of modern progress.

"Within the village is a rambling old house used as a military hospital during the Civil war. Farther down the block is a little church. . . . The churchyard is heavily sodded, yet thru the grass each April come myriads of white, starlike blossoms, and the terraced parkway is carpeted in blue grape hyacinths.

"Beyond the church is a cemetery, no longer used. Many of the headstones have fallen into picturesque decay, some having been broken by towering trees which, as if in compensation for their rudeness, bless the resting places with beneficent shade. The inscriptions on the markers are often of master and slave, side by side, and many are dedicated to little children. . . . A tiny college in a tiny town, once visited never to be forgot."

[Ed. Note: A recent message from E. R. Naylor, president of Athens college, says that the public's response to the need for stockings has been so great that all storage space is filled. He suggests that only stockings already collected be sent along now, others saved against future needs.]

Collection.

Being a collector, in a modest way, of models of giraffes, we're a mite envious of Willard M. Rutzen, who has, as far as he knows, the largest collection of elephant miniatures extant, more than 600. His most recent acquisition is an intricately carved ivory elephant mounted on a teakwood base, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Wells of exploring fame. It was one of a group of rare objets d'art brought home by the Wellses on a visit to Singapore in 1939.

By the Way.

Most thoughtful gift of any week: A box of gardenias, picked one morning in the E. F. McDonalds' garden at Miami Beach, Fla., and flown to Chicago in time to grace a dinner table that evening. . . . Bert Lahr's definition, on a radio broadcast, of a kangaroo: A king size jackrabbit. . . . The navy lieutenant strolling along Michigan avenue, accompanied by his small son, decked out in a sailor suit.

Foreclosure Action Against Auditorium Proposed to County

A resolution that the county start a foreclosure for back taxes against the historic Auditorium and bid in the property if no substantial bid is received was presented to the county board yesterday by Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh. The proposal was referred to the board's tax committee.

The Auditorium, a combination hotel, theater, and office building at Michigan avenue and Congress street, was closed last year because of continued losses and inability to pay taxes. Unpaid taxes since 1929 total $1,303,362, including $549,300 in penalties. Recently it was reported that the federal government might seek to buy the building for office space.

The board also referred to the tax committee a tabulation of taxes due in North township, the area north of the loop, showing $1,854,789 in delinquent taxes on more than 5,000 parcels. Kavanagh proposed that tax foreclosures be started against many of these properties. The board approved a voluntary tax foreclosure bid of $102,000 by owners of the Lake View building, 116 South Michigan avenue, to clean up $110,680 in taxes, plus $50,000 in penalties.

Good Theater and Art Mark Dance Concert

BY CECIL SMITH.

The dance concert presented by Ruth Hatfield, Marjorie Parkin, and Nik Krevitsky in the Woman's Club theater last night was marked by intelligence, wit, and clarity of purpose—qualities which often seem to rush into hiding when local dance groups appear in public.

The evening did not hold much in the way of drama or great emotional power, to be sure, for the dancers wisely preferred to remain within an expressive range which is actually within their scope. But granting the propriety of this self-imposed limitation, the concert was nearly always good theater, and most of the time it was also good art.

It was a tribute to the excellently controlled structure and style of the trio dances that three such diverse dancers should succeed in forming a credible ensemble. Miss Hatfield's own personal style derives from the period of Doris Humphrey's and Martha Graham's development when the downward pull of gravity and anguished extensions of the body were all the rage.

Miss Parkin is a good deal of a soubrette by nature, and makes an unfortunate impression of coy superficiality when she mimes to smart lyrics by Dorothy Parker, tho she is appealing in purely lyric movement. Mr. Krevitsky, possessing the widest command of style of the three, mirrors primarily the plastic theatricalized movement found in Miss Graham's most recent compositions; altho his dancing is a little wanting in vigorous accentuation, it is always fluid and well executed.

In the projection of expressive warmth, the best achievements were a beautifully proportioned lyric duet to Ravel's "Pavene" [danced by Miss Hatfield and Mr. Krevitsky], a dance on Negro themes in which the balanced three part form was rather too obvious, and a heavy hearted duet representing youth facing the uncertainties of tomorrow [danced by Miss Parkin and Mr. Krevitsky].

Good humor and whimsicality were presented in discreet and expert form in a gay little dance to Shostakovitch's Polka, and in a nostalgic "Horsehair Suite," which revived the '90s neatly but not too gaudily. Katherine Hart [who composed a good score for the opening "Presentation"], Verna Trine and Mabel Rarick played capable accompaniments.

"The Girl Who Stood Alone"

By Roy Vickers

Copyright: 1942: By Roy Vickers

SYNOPSIS.

Just preceding the present war, the lawn mower company in London, where June Clayton works as secretary, has secretly become an armament factory. Thru her failure to destroy some spoiled sheets of a confidential report, the report is stolen by Henry and Jacob Ferrer, who plan to sell it to Germany. But tho Jacob escapes with the report, Henry is arrested and claims June aided them. She is questioned by Glenday of the British secret service who, convinced of her innocence, promises to shield her if she will work with him. She quarrels with her fiancé, Ralph Eddis, because she cannot explain her strange work, and soon finds herself liking Glenday much better than Ralph. But she finally has to confide in her Aunt Dorothy, with whom she lives, as her aunt has become too suspicious of her. Glenday orders her to cultivate Frank Rawlings, dangerous German spy. Frank falls in love with June, but Matarasso, with whom Frank works, is suspicious of her. Frank takes June for an airplane ride, takes pictures of a munition factory and of cathedrals. When the RAF summons him down for investigation he lands June first with the munition film, and later lands himself, turning over the cathedral film to the inspectors. Merlett, an accomplice, is waiting in a taxi to drive June away from the air field, planning to rob her of the film. But she jumps from his taxi and escapes, turning the film over to Glenday, who exchanges it for the cathedral film picked up by the inspectors. When she turns it over to Frank, he thinks he mixed the films. But Matarasso insists they question June about her connection with Jacob Ferrer. She pretends to be a silly girl who sold Ferrer confidential information for a little money. In the middle of the night a Miss Grounell calls on June and takes her in a covered van to talk to Jacob Ferrer. She finds Glenday handcuffed in Ferrer's hideout. Ferrer demands that June get his brother Henry released from prison before he lets Glenday go. She realizes Glenday's rescue is hopeless unless she knows the address of the hideout.

INSTALMENT XXII.

SIDELINE INFORMATION.

June went into the house.

"I'm back, without a scratch, auntie," she said lightly.

"I'm so relieved, dear—there's still time for a little sleep."

"Not for me," June said. "I have to go out again at once."

There would be some one on the end of the telephone day and night, Miss Flinders, at Glenday's office, had said. Off in the Morstyn to the Tarlinghouse factory. The gates were open day and night, for there was an almost permanent night shift. Miss Flinders herself answered the telephone, and when she had heard the report she made the same remark as Glenday.

"But Ferrer himself must know it's absurd. We can't take any steps in that direction."

"But, Miss Flinders!" cried June. "They may murder Mr. Glenday at the end of the week if we don't do something. Surely—"

"It's an ordinary case of kidnaping and is a matter for the police," interrupted Miss Flinders. "There's an officer who works with us—altho not officially as an agent. Segrove. He's a detective inspector at the Yard."

"Will he be there now?" demanded June. "Shall I go and see him?"

"No. He's at the fire at Dornham. That, by the way, is probably the handiwork of your friend Rawlings. Stay where you are and I will see if I can pick up Segrove on the phone."

Twenty minutes later Miss Flinders spoke again.

"Go along to the Yard and ask for him. He'll be there almost as soon as you are. You can speak frankly to him. He won't ask you any awkward questions. But don't waste time talking about swapping Glenday for Ferrer's brother."

All the same, when she was sitting in Segrove's room at Scotland Yard, June told him the whole story. He was a tall, grizzled man with quick, intelligent eyes and a kindly expression.

"Let's see what we've got," he said, when she had finished her account. "Green van painted 'Moffatt, Confectioner and Pastry Cook.' Next 20 minutes approximately of traveling time. On a clear road a light van would average about 40. That means you traveled about 12 miles. And a 12 mile radius of Richmond covers pretty nearly half London—but narrowed down to a big house with garden. Hm! Not much there."

Another illusion shattered. June believed the police could do almost anything.

"Miss Grounell will come to see you this afternoon. We'll have her shadowed, but of course she'll be expecting it. This crowd aren't like regular criminals—they don't make nice easy mistakes."

June felt depressed.

"You haven't much hope of finding him, have you, Mr. Segrove?"

"Not a lot, I'm afraid. You see, they will have reckoned on our doing everything we're going to do. And they never get drunk and they don't brag to girls, like the criminals. We're looking for Ferrer on our own account—he winged two of our fellows last Monday." Segrove added, with what was very nearly a wink: "As I daresay you know, Miss Clayton."

June attempted no denial. "How did you find out?"

"That'd be telling," he grinned. "But leave it to Scotland Yard to find out things. You needn't be frightened, however. After we discovered your innocence we didn't have you shadowed."

"Thanks for telling me that much, even," said June. "No one can blackmail me about Ferrer any more. But I am frightened about Mr. Glenday."

* *

It was nearly 8 by the time June returned to Grasmere, after showing one of Segrove's men where the green van had been waiting for them. Ethel, the "half-daily," had just arrived and greeted her with obvious interest and astonishment.

"That's the longest overtime I've ever had," remarked June, "and I've got to be at the office again at the usual time."

"You'll drop, miss, if you aren't careful. Shall I make you a cup o' tea before breakfast?"

"No, thanks, I'm going to bathe and change."

At 10 she was at the office, to face a nerve racking day of total idleness. Again and again her thoughts returned to Glenday, each time with a new dread for his safety.

"When he was bound hand and foot he still looked as if he were boss of everything in sight," she mused. "But he is actually as helpless as a child."

She was determined to help him—but determination was not enough. There was, in fact, no means of helping him.

At 4 o'clock Miss Grounell called.

"Won't you sit down?" invited June, remembering that one must always be polite to foreign agents. "I'm just going to have tea—perhaps you'll join me."

"Thanks, I'd like to."

June spoke to the canteen on the house telephone.

Miss Grounell sat down and surprisingly lit a cigaret. June would have expected her to object to smoking.

"I have reported to my superiors—" began June.

"You have also reported to Scotland Yard," said Miss Grounell. "If I had made a mistake, Glenday would be free by now. But I did not make a mistake. There is no clew for them to pick up. But please don't think I am chortling."

She was, thought June, an extraordinary woman. But only extraordinary women could become foreign agents. Was she a foreigner risking liberty and, perhaps, life for her country? Or was she British and a traitor?

"Detectives," continued Miss Grounell, "will trail me from here. They'll find out that this is my address." She handed June a business card. "It's a little flat just off Maida Vale. Poky, of course. Our people don't pay the salaries that you British get. I take in typewriting—it only makes a few shillings a week but it's good cover. You've got magnificent cover here. Do they really and truly bring tea just because you telephone?"

Her words were answered by a waitress with a tray.

Miss Grounell was a woman who took tea drinking seriously. She made some remarks about the weather. Not until she had finished her second cup did she resume her professional manner.

"Are you in the market for a sideline, Miss Clayton?" she asked.

June was at a loss.

"I'm sorry, I don't understand."

"You have not been in this profession very long," Miss Grounell sighed. "A side-line is a piece of information which one agent passes to another, generally for a small consideration. In this case very small.

"The process," added Miss Gounell, "is undignified, but one is driven by poverty. I need some new clothes."

"It's rather vague, isn't it?" objected June.

"The fire at Dornham last night. The papers are hinting that it's the work of the Sinn Fein. It's the work of the Germans."

June started, half expecting her to mention Rawlings' name.

"But you're German yourself aren't you?"

"Swiss. So are the Ferrers, as your department will tell you. The Ferrers are professionals. We sell to Germany, of course, but we are all against German sabotage. It makes it harder for us to go about our business.

"That fire is not our affair or I would not be making this offer," continued Miss Grounell. "I happen to know the two men who planted the bombs. Is is worth 10 pounds to you to be able to give your people the information?"

June decided to take a risk. It might be a swindle, but there might be something in it. Somehow it was impossible to associate Miss Grounell with the idea of getting 10 pounds by a trick.

She opened her bag and took out two five pound notes.

"Shrager, radio dealer, in a shop under that name somewhere north of Croydon. You could find the address easily. He planted the bombs on a time fuse when he was installing a radio set in the canteen last Thursday—which was fixed with a man on the staff whose name is Graun. He was helped by Merlett, who drives a taxi for cover.

I haven't heard any one complain about sugar rationing. Every family I know accepts it cheerfully. "It's little enough to do for one's country," they say, and usually add: "Besides, we were eating too much sugar and throwing our diets out of balance!"

In England the same sugar ration is in force, but many other foods are rationed, too . . . 8 ounces of fat per person per week, and only two of those ounces may be butter; 4 ounces bacon or ham; ¼ pint of milk a day, except for babies, who are allowed a pint, and only 2 to 5 eggs per month!

Doubtless, other of our foods will be rationed later on, but there will be plenty of all of the really essential foods, and we can all of us take rationing in stride, knowing that it will enable our armed forces to be well fed and improve the diets of our allies who have felt this war much more severely than we have.

English cats have priorities on powdered milk that is damaged in shipping. They have ration books, too. The reason is that they are valuable in guarding warehouse supplies of foods from marauding rats and mice. Every large warehouse keeps an army of cats; every hospital, a feline staff to keep its premises free from vermin.

• • •

Since there's only a five months' supply of tea, it is being rationed to dealers who are trying to make their stocks last the year out . . . Saccharin may be used to sweeten foods, but it has no food value and has been banned by the food and drug administration as an adulterant in food. Its chief value is for persons whose diets must be entirely sugarless, diabetics, for example . . . Margarines are wholesome fat, and the best of them now are fortified with vitamin A. No longer need they be regarded as merely a "butter substitute."

• • •

Store as much of the produce of your victory garden as you can, thereby saving on canning equipment. Root crops, cabbage, squash, onions, pumpkins are good storage crops. An outdoor pit, a spare cool room, or a cool basement may be used for storage . . . And before harvesting time, be sure to "read up" on how to store food successfully.

• • •

A 92 year old reader, G. Griffin of Augusta, Mich., writes an interesting letter on the subject of canning without sugar [yes, it's done easily], and substitutes for coffee. "In 1865, when the Civil war was going on, many persons could not afford to buy coffee and, as a substitute, used bran and molasses, browned in the oven. Others browned wheat and steeped it as they did coffee," he writes. Another reader suggests browning cornmeal and molasses in the oven to make "coffee grounds."

There are available excellent commercial preparations from bran and wheat [with molasses, too] which many of us may turn to, if it develops that there is going to be a serious coffee shortage. Coffee, like sugar, is not indispensable [altho I think it might be harder for us to give up coffee than sugar], and our diets will be just as good with less of it.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Steamed Brown Bread.
[Five 1-pound can loaves.]

- 2 cups white flour [sift once before measuring]
- 2 cups whole wheat flour [not sifted]
- 2 cups cornmeal [white or yellow]
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups molasses [New Orleans preferred, altho sorghum, which makes a lighter colored bread, may be used.]
- 2 cups thick sour milk
- 1 cup seeded raisins or chopped nuts, optional

Mix dry ingredients in large bowl and make a well in center. Mix molasses and sour milk and pour in. Add raisins or nuts, or both, if desired. Stir until ingredients are well blended. Beating is unnecessary. Pour into greased baking powder tins or regular steamer cans, filling not more than two-thirds full. Cover cans. Steam two and one-half hours, then uncover tins and dry off in a slow oven [300 degrees] about a half hour.

Your recipe could be a prize winner, so send it in to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and tell us its history, if it has an interesting one. Give complete cooking directions.

[Send us your favorite recipe.]

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is not "news," nor a particularly difficult feat, when a declarer squeezes one or both defenders, but the reverse of this process, the defenders squeezing the declarer, is rarely seen. Today's hand shows what can happen when the defenders have by far the better hands.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 club	Pass	1 diamond
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's diamond bid was typical of the "hold-it-open-at-any-cost" school. A pass was North's only correct action.

West opened the fourth highest spade, East played the king, and declarer, seeing no particular reason for holding up and probably realizing that he was "hooked" no matter what he did, accepted his ace. He then led a low heart, as good a play as any. West won with the jack and laid down the spade jack. Declarer won and led another low heart. West's ace won, and now three spade tricks were run off. Dummy discarded two clubs and East did likewise despite the fact that clubs had been bid over him. Declarer discarded one diamond and one club, but his discarding difficulties had not even begun! West now shifted to the jack of diamonds. The king covered and East cashed the ace, queen, and nine. Declarer followed to two rounds and on the third had to blank his heart king in order to retain the K-Q of clubs. East's fourth diamond now put declarer to rout. He could not let go the heart king without establishing East's queen and subjecting himself to a continuing squeeze. His actual discard of a club, however, was no better. East led the club jack and West took three more tricks with the ace, ten, and seven.

Declarer had been held to two tricks, the ace and queen of spades. The 1,400 point penalty compensated East-West rather well for the game they could have made.

Woman's Symphony Board Will Give Tea for Malko.

The board of directors of the Woman's Symphony orchestra has issued invitations to a tea for Nicolai Malko, the distinguished conductor who is to lead the orchestra this coming season, from 3 to 5 o'clock next Wednesday at the Arts club. The orchestra's associate members, and the directors of ballets, choruses, and of the drum and bugle corps who are donating their services for the Woman's Symphony music pageant on June 6 at the Medinah Temple, have been invited. The pageant will mark the first appearance of Mr. Malko as conductor of the symphony.

"Music for Morale" is the slogan of the pageant, and also the slogan with which the Woman's Symphony Orchestral association will carry on for the duration. Mrs. Edward J. Kelly is honorary chairman of the pageant, with Gustave Brandt serving as director of pageantry. Mrs. Ernest J. Kruetgen and Mrs. Charles W. Wrigley are co-chairmen of the event.

Thru the Looking Glass

With every beauty on a budget these days, there's a special place in the scheme of things for bath luxuries that are luxuries in character only—not in price. And there are such, if you'll just shop around for them.

Consider, for example, one royal family of bath glorifiers in seven different scents. They're inexpensive as anything you've ever dreamed of finding, and lovely enough for the fussiest fusser. And if their use doesn't lift you out of spring doldrums and assorted kinds of blues we're utterly mistaken about feminine reactions.

Prime favorite among the seven fragrances is American Beauty, true and rich and romantic in the manner that any beautiful rose scent should be. This, like most of the others, is available in bubbles to make your bath frothy and fragrant, in cologne, an exquisite soap [rose molded] and dusting powder. With these you can have a rose garlanded kind of bath that will defeat depression any old day.

Others in the range of fragrances are gardenia, lilac, carnation [this is especially good], apple blossom, pine and a bouquet that has all sorts of good scent notes beautifully blended.

Soap, bubbles, cologne, dusting powder, and such are all matched in the fragrance of your choice, with the exception of the pine which offers you bath oil, soap and bubbles only. There is no cologne or dusting powder in this scent.

All of these, as we've said, are inexpensive. For a small sum you can build up a nice grouping of the things you want, all matched in fragrance and containers. And you'll feel rich and pampered in their use.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Please, Boss.

Another white collar girl writes to her boss:

Dear Boss: Last week we had a meeting of the office force and you gave a talk on wartime efficiency. I remember you spoke of time as being the apex of a triangle in a company such as ours doing government work. The other angles you said are materials and skill. It made quite an impression on me and I, for one, resolved to guard against such little laxities as tardiness, overstepping my noon hour, and unnecessary absence. And, I resolved, too, to get my work out as quickly and expertly as possible. As you said, it is one way we all can serve.

But, listen, Boss: As quick and efficient as I try to be, you hamstring me in my work without even knowing it. For instance—you call me in for dictation late in the afternoon . . . you want the letters finished before I leave . . . you want other mail [on which I am at work when you ring] finished before 5 o'clock. Many of these letters are to important men in Washington and must be neatly typed. And what do you do? You call me before you are ready and there I sit idle as a small town politician loafing on a cracker barrel, while you shuffle the papers on your desk . . . run out of the office for information from some one . . . send for letters from the files . . . call another department on the phone . . . and get your thoughts organized.

I waste at least one hour out of eight every day this way. The result: I hurry like mad to finish for the day, get nervous, make mistakes, and end up with the jitters. Couldn't you gather your data . . . AND your thoughts before you ring for me? Couldn't yuh, please?

DOTTIE.

Bernice and Karla.

Stories continue to find their way to this desk about career girl Bernice Clifton and Karla, her Seeing Eye dog, which would make any one think that Karla [along with her Red Cross pin for completing long hours of service] definitely has earned a white collar.

"After finishing a lecture in a Chicago suburb," writes Frances Peterson, "Bernice, accompanied by her dog, proceeded to board a bus to take her back home. Karla, on entering the bus, noticed there was only one other passenger, a young girl. So, with all the other seats empty Karla directed her mistress to the seat next to the girl. Just wanted to be sure Bernice wouldn't be lonesome."

Easy Let-downs.

"Put it in a letter."

"Sure, I'll keep you in mind."

Another Door to Career.

"How about giving the messenger girls a tip?" says a reader in an interesting letter full of this-a and that-a. "A number of top flight men began as messenger boys which should mean that the job is a stepping stone toward a career for girls, too. So, it is well worth the effort to keep their hair neat and their suits pressed."

Don't Direct Child's Use of Allowance

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In advising mothers or fathers to give their children an allowance, in order to help them to gain some idea of the value of money, it is well to ascertain whether a boy or girl who has an allowance should be free to spend it in his own way.

I believe that, if we give a child an allowance in order to teach him how to use money, we must let him use it without dictation. If it is unwisely spent, he will be more likely to learn, by his lack of judgment, to spend more wisely the next time. Whereas, if we direct his expenditures and criticize his bad judgment at each step of the way, he will not develop individual judgment. It's better for him to say: "O, why did I buy that silly little popgun?" than for you to say it.

This doesn't mean you can't talk over purchases together, especially if he is very young, and help him buy; or that you cannot point out the poor workmanship or material of an article. But, generally speaking, we might say that, if he squanders his little allowance and then is without money, he will be more likely to exercise self-restraint the next time. If he is allowed some experience, he will be inclined to make more careful and intelligent choices in buying.

Naturally, we must keep some prerogatives for ourselves in the matter. In giving a child an allowance, no matter what his age, he never should be free to harm his health, as by an excess of candy, or his general well being, as by an excess of movies.

There is one phase of this subject we haven't touched, and that is the matter of giving a child an allowance that covers big items, such as the buying of clothes, shoes, sports equipment, and room furnishings. This procedure, altho believed in by some parents, we won't attempt to deal with here. It requires a kind of budgeting that is not within the means of the average family.

Now, we have left only one question: "How much should a child have as an allowance?" That depends so much on the parents' circumstances and way of living, and on what they mean the allowance to cover, that it can scarcely be answered in figures.

Whatever your plan, the important thing is that your child shall learn from it. Don't teach your children to hoard money, but teach them to use it well.

Is the intelligence test a permanent guide to a childs' mental limits? How can the teacher hold the interest of children in studies? Answers to these and scores of other problems are given in "Talks with Teachers," new 28 page booklet by Gladys Huntington Bevans. WILSON'S WEEKLY World Famous RECIPES By George Rector
Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

THE U. S. NEEDS US STRONG

Yes, friends, Uncle Sam has drafted you for the biggest job in this U. S. A. He has made you General-in-Command of the nation's morale. In your capable hands rests making America healthy, hearty and happy.

I hope you'll put to work my knowledge gained from years of experience in food. You can always look to this column for tested help on good food preparation. Without that there is no sound nutrition. Yes, good meals can make it so.

Here's How

BUY RIGHT

Wilson & Co. have made it possible for you to tell quality meat at a glance. Look for the crystal-clear coating of edible gelatine that identifies Wilson's Gela Seald Beef, Lamb and Veal.

Specify Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham when you want a ham that's ready to serve: Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, for the ham you cook yourself; Certified Bacon; Poultry, and Canned Meat Products—and you are "buying right."

Generally speaking, a pound of meat serves 3. Where there is much fat and bone, it will serve 2. But for Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham, or Gela Seald Hamburger, or Liver, you can serve 4 to the pound.

COOK RIGHT

The French say "to boil meat is to ruin it." 'Tis true. Simmer is the word. Apply to stew.

Cook vegetables only until tender in as small a quantity of water as is suitable. Do not destroy the vegetable water. Combine it with Wilson's B. V. (beef extract) for a delicious soup.

WASTE NOT

Vegetables, meat and sauce encased in Bake-Rite patty shells give left-overs unexpected glamour. The patties will fit in muffin pans better if you first cut out a wedge from the pastry circle as illustrated. Then close together forming cornucopias.

Buy Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham to avoid costly oven shrinkage and cooking time.

Save odds and ends of vegetables for soups. Outer leaves of lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower, too. Utilize seared bones from beef roast, here, or the bone from a Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham. Where there's a will there's a way.

Wilson's MOR gives you a meat for every occasion. No waste. All goodness. Fine for sandwiches.

KEEP YOUR CHIN UP!

FOR SUMMER: Serve a platter of hot potato salad, grilled Wilson's Certified Frankfurters, and deviled Clear Brook Eggs. Fill eggs with Wilson's Certified Deviled Tender Made Ham and garnish with pimiento stars. Hail Columbia!

So Remember! Buy Right! Cook Right! Waste Not! Keep Your Chin Up! Forward March!

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—Mr. Lou Novikoff, whose fame exceeds his big league batting average, came up with a base hit today and brought the fruits of victory showering down on himself and his Cub companions. The Mad Russian exploded his first single in 16 successive attempts, thus breaking a 3 to 3 tie and starting the Chicagoans on the way to a 6 to 3 success in the opener of a two game series with the Giants.

The result was somewhat refreshing for Jim Wilson's troops, who were more than a little on the forlorn side after being bruised four straight times by the title holding Dodgers.

The Novikoff feat brought an immediate note of thanks from Claude Passeau, who until the seventh inning appeared headed for his fourth defeat instead of his fifth victory. The square jawed right hander got away to a shaky start and at the half way point discovered himself three runs in arrears.

Claude's Homer Leads Way.

He personally whittled away some of this handicap with a two run homer, his season's second, a demonstration that may have shamed his usually feeble mates into giving further aid to the cause. Even Bill Nicholson aided in the decisive seventh by singling and contributed again with his fifth homer in the ninth.

It might have been due to another batting order which among other things included the return of Nicholson to the cleanup post and the boosting of Phil Cavarretta to third, or it may have been the pitching served them by lengthy Bob Carpenter. At any rate the Chicago lads fired away with nothing short of a dozen hits, five of which occurred in the productive sixth and seventh innings. Prior to that, however, they could make no headway in their efforts to snipe at a two run Giant lead collected in the first as the result of a round trip clout by Manager Mel Ott. In the first five innings eight Cubs reached base and eight of them died there.

It's Short Homer.

While the Giants scored two runs in the first inning the achievement could hardly be charged to undue violence. Dick Bartell opened with a foul to Stan Hack and Mickey Witek followed with a single to left. Manager Ott then turned in his season's sixth homer, the ball going into the seats close to the right field line, which is so short that the home club never has had the courage to post the actual measurement. Instead of showing distress over the jolt, Passeau plugged right along and wasn't seriously threatened again until the fourth, which opened with singles by Willard Marshall and Hank Leiber. Passeau got out of this unscathed because Bill Jurges, attempting to sacrifice, popped into a double play.

The Cubs' early fadeouts began in the first inning. They got nothing from a pass to Hack and a single by Cavarretta. Hack led off with a single in the third, and after two were gone Nicholson fanned but got to first on Ray Berres' error. They expired when Lou Stringer lofted to Marshall. Hack's fly closed the fourth in which Charley Gilbert and Passeau beat out infield hits. Cavarretta endeavored to stir up some activity by coaxing a pass from Carpenter with one out in the fifth, but Nicholson fanned again and Stringer tapped to Bartell. From then on business picked up.

Merullo Starts Fun.

Passeau was almost in the clear in the fifth when Novikoff nonchalantly plucked Bartell's drive off the fence for the second out but Witek, Ott, and John Mize poured successive singles into center field for the Giants' third run. This lead was reduced by two-thirds in the sixth despite a double play into which Novikoff grounded after Gilbert had led off with a pass. McCullough fol-

CHRISTOFORIDIS POUNDS COLAN IN 10 ROUND BATTLE

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Anton Christoforidis, Cleveland light heavyweight, fought like the champion he once was last night in the Stadium. With an aggressive two handed attack that at times completely befuddled his opponent, Chris punched out a unanimous decision over 20 year old Johnny Colan of New York.

Experience paid dividends for the doughty Greek, whose skill was matched by a courage that dared Colan's right hand which had laid low six of his seven opponents in Chicago rings. Perhaps the result did not astound the crowd of 8,708, but certainly the ease with which Christoforidis compiled his overwhelming conquest was a surprise.

Decision Is Unanimous.

Net receipts were $15,171. The winner received a guarantee of $3,500, and riding with this purse probably was a bout in which Christoforidis will get a chance to regain his 175 pound title from Gus Lesnevich. Colan's share was 25 per cent of the net.

The manner in which Christoforidis disposed of Colan was mirrored accurately in the decisions of the officials. Referee John Behr voted 57 to 43 for Anton and called three rounds even. The judges, George Kenny and Jack Ripple, voted for the winner, 58 to 42 and 59 to 41, respectively. Kenny awarded the second round to Colan and the others to Christoforidis. Ripple gave the seventh round to the loser.

Christoforidis was Colan's master so completely that the course of the battle became monotonous. As early as the sixth round ringsiders agreed that Colan could win only by a knockout. Altho this threat hung over Anton, he saw to it that Johnny never got set to deliver his famed right hand blow effectively.

Colan's difficulties began in the first round when he showed he could not defend against a flashing left hook to the head or body, and that all the tricks for infighting he had learned were wasted against the experience of a veteran. In the second round Colan scored with a sharp left hook which stopped Chris' rushes, but when Johnny failed to follow up this advantage he never had a second chance.

Blow Hits Referee Behr.

The men slowed the pace in the seventh and were pried out of a score of clinches by Referee Johnny Behr. Chris then threw in the clutch for the final drive and Colan, now slugging it out, hit sneak punches on the break. One of them tagged the referee. The men fought after the bell at the end of the ninth round with Chris getting in a last blow.

Booker Beckwith, Gary, Ind., light heavyweight, knocked out Andy Miller of Sioux City, Ia., in 20 seconds of the third round of their scheduled 10 round fight. Miller, who had been substituted for Billy Nichy of Buffalo, N. Y., was dropped for a nine count in the second round by a left to the

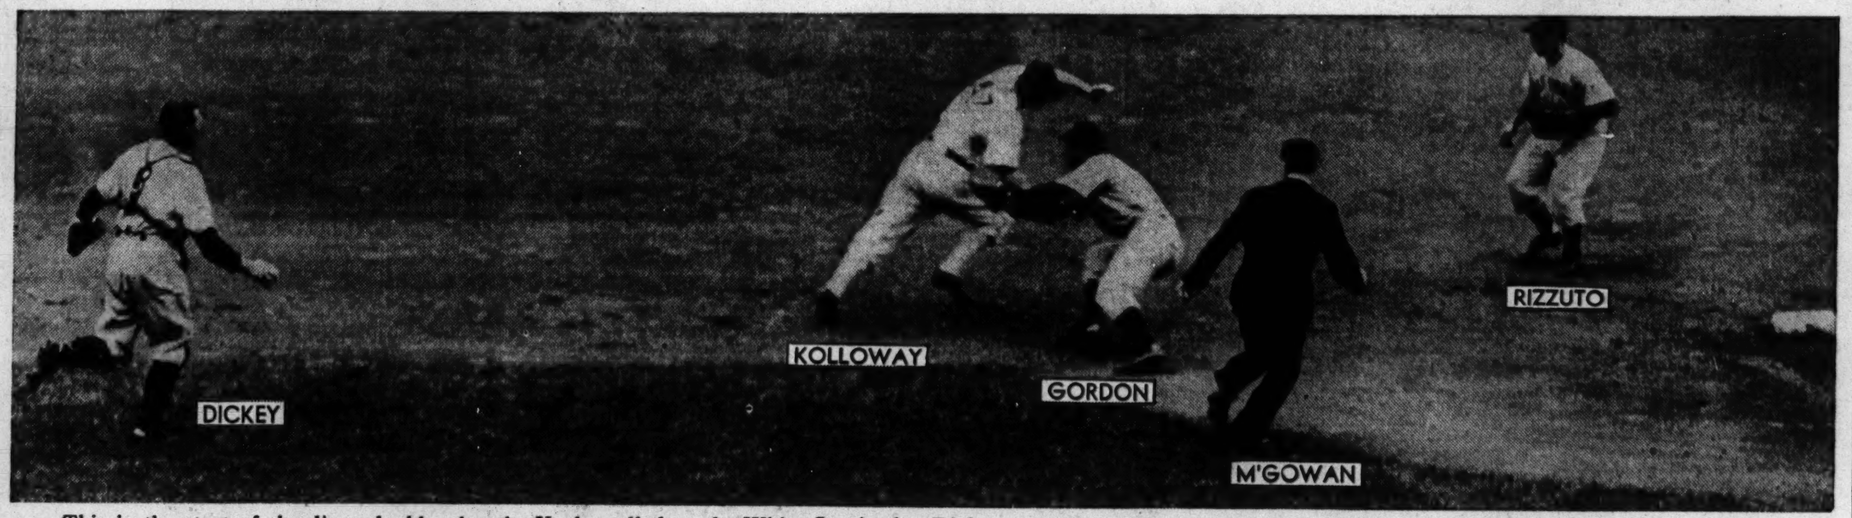
HOW DICKEY AND AIDS CAUGHT TWO SLEEPY SOX



This is the start of the dizzy double play the Yanks pulled on the White Sox in the second inning of yesterday's game in Comiskey park. Don Kolloway was on second and Dario Lodigiani on first with one out. While Bob Kennedy was batting, Catcher Bill Dickey caught the pitch and noticed Lodigiani had advanced almost to second base, forcing Kolloway to move toward third. Dickey ran out, cut off Don's path to third, chased him back toward second, then threw the ball to Joe Gordon, shown tagging Kolloway.

BILLY PEARSON HAS BUSY DAY AT LINCOLN FIELDS

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Billy Pearson was a busy little fellow yesterday at Lincoln Fields. He rode two brilliant finishes to sweep the two feature events of the afternoon on horses owned by W. B. Simpson of Chicago.

Trainer Don Jefferson hoisted him into the saddle aboard Bonzar just before the fifth race. A few minutes later Billy drove the horse over the finish line to beat Annie Alone and Yesteryear in a head and head finish at odds of 8 to 1.

Wins on Take Wing.

They came out for the sixth race and Pearson was on Take Wing, a 9 to 2 shot from the same stable. In this gallop of a mile and a sixteenth, the boy held his mount back in the early stages while Perfect Rhyme, Mordecai, and Gallant Play were struggling for the lead.

Then in the stretch Pearson sent his mount up thru narrow openings between his rivals, got him to the front in the last furlong and drove him clear swiftly. As they went over the line Take Wing had a margin of four lengths over He Man. Gallant Play, Mordecai, and Perfect Rhyme finished third, fourth, and fifth in that order. The prices on the winner were $11.60, $7.80, and $5.

Wins by a Head.

Pearson drove Bonzar up between horses in the last furlong and set him down on the finish line just in time to beat Annie Alone by the margin of a head. Yesteryear took third place, the same distance back of the second horse.

Annie Alone, the 7 to 2 second choice in the betting, was forced to meet repeated challenges in the course of the race. Ovie Scurlock sent her away fast from the gate and she drew away from Yesteryear after a brief duel. Then as they approached the turn out of the backstretch, Winamac came up to force the pace. Head and head these two went into the swing around the turn.

As they approached the stretch,

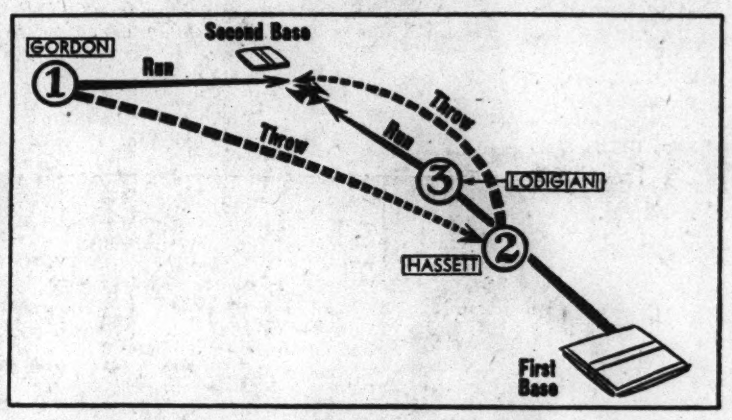
LOOKING FOR WORK IN A NEW FIELD?

If you have just completed a course of training which qualifies you for a new type of work, or if you have decided to try your luck in another kind of job, the best place to find an opening is in the Help Wanted and Employment Agency columns of the Tribune. Your chances of getting a job you can handle are far greater when you consult the Tribune because the Tribune prints more than twice as much Help Wanted advertising as all other Chicago newspapers combined.



This sketch shows how Gordon made his assist and second putout on the play. After tagging Kolloway, Gordon (from No. 1 spot) threw to First Baseman Buddy Hassett (2). Thus they had Lodigiani (3) trapped. When he broke for second Hassett returned the ball to Gordon and X marks spot where Joe retired Lodigiani. Yanks won, 4 to 1.

Browns Whip Senators, 10-1, in Night Game

St. Louis, Mo., May 20 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns, playing the first game under lights here this season, pounded three Washington pitchers for 10 hits and a 10 to 1 decision tonight as Southpaw Al Hollingsworth held the Senators to six hits.

Roy Cullenbine's second home run of the year, with two mates on base in the third inning, gave the Brownies a 3 to 0 lead. Washington scored its run in the sixth on a single by Mike Chartak and a double by Roberto Ortiz.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox plopped back into the American league cellar yesterday in joint tenancy with Washington as their beautiful seven game winning streak came to an end. It seems the New York Yankees were in town. And the New Yorkers, with Marius Russo presiding on defense and Joe Gordon leading the offense, made it five out of five in 1942 competition with the Sox. The score was 4 to 1.

The Sox avoided a shutout thru spectacular processes in the eighth inning. With one out, Leo Wells batted for Bill Dietrich, the losing pitcher, and drew Russo's first pass. Wally Moses also walked. Then came the spectacular part. Luke Appling singled to right, scoring Wells. It was earnest Luke's first run batted in in 110 times at bat and brought many a salvo from the crowd of 6,482.

Gordon Ruins Dietrich.

Joe Gordon made the first two hits off Dietrich and both of them were homers into the left field stand. These came in the second and fifth innings.

Buddy Hassett opened the sixth inning with a double, fourth hit off Dietrich, got to second while Tommy Henrich was beating out a bunt, and scored while Joe DiMaggio—hitless Joe DiMaggio, by the way—was going down in a double play. Hassett also scored the fourth and last New York run. He singled with one down in the eighth, went to third on Henrich's single and scored on DiMaggio's fly to Moses.

Manager Joe McCarthy, no doubt concerned about the Sox's seven game winning streak and irked by the fact the Yanks entered the game a half game behind the Indians on the won and lost basis, ordered a hypnotism test in the second inning. He found the Sox were in some sort of a coma, all right, as they usually are when they take the field against the Yanks.

Sox Drowse Into Double Play.

Myril Hoag opened the home second with a single and was forced by Don Kolloway. Dario Lodigiani singled and Kolloway stopped at second. While Russo was pitching to Bob Kennedy, Lodigiani ran toward second and discovered that Kolloway was standing off the base.

Bill Dickey ran, ball in hand, out into the infield and blocked Kolloway's possible escape to third. Then he tossed to Gordon, who tagged Kolloway. Gordon then looked around and saw little Dario standing halfway between second and first. So he threw to Hassett as Lodigiani belatedly started back to first. Dario went into reverse, Hassett gave the ball back to Gordon, who tagged the Sox third baseman. Thus on the Sox drowse, Gordon had two putouts and an assist, which is really functioning on a double play.

A Tale of Futility.

Mike Tresh doubled in the third inning to no avail and an error on Lodigiani and a single by Kennedy left runners on third and first in the fifth inning. Moses opened the sixth with a single and got nowhere and Kolloway became a double play victim after opening the seventh with a single.

Worried sick about the Sox uprising in the eighth, McCarthy sent in Johnny Murphy to pitch the ninth. In that inning Hoag lined to Frank Crosetti and Kolloway bounced to Phil Rizzuto. Lodigiani knocked his second single, but the game ended when Kennedy fanned.

15,000 GOLFERS IN CHICAGO AREA USE FEE BOOKS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago golf district, which this summer becomes the unquestioned capital of the game in the United States with such events as the Hale America National Open at Ridgemoor and the All-American amateur and Tam o' Shanter Open at Tam o' Shanter on the schedule, still has another argument for supremacy, if you give ear to Mr. James E. Loye.

Mr. Loye, the oracle of the Associated Golfers of America, contends that his organization is the only one of its kind in the daily fee field. The AGA numbers in its membership 47 clubs, which blanket this area from Wisconsin on the north to Momence, Ill., on the south and from the Indiana dunes country on the east to the Fox River valley on the west.

More Than 15,000 Enrolled.

The AGA already has an enrollment of more than 15,000 players, and anticipates another 10,000 individual members by the time the season gets into full swing. Mr. Loye lays stress on the fact that these men, women, and children who play on the AGA courses make up a majority of our golfing community, since most of them are unable to join a private club.

Membership in the AGA is completed by purchase of a pass book which not only enables the member to play each of the 47 member clubs four times during the season, but also to bring one guest. The two, member and guest, are charged only half of the regular rate at each club upon presentation of the member's coupon book. The AGA headquarters are located at 82 West Washington street.

Roster of Member Clubs.

Member clubs include: Crystal Lake, Greenview, Bonnie Dundee, Cary, Arlington, Bartlett Hills, Mt. Prospect, Woodridge, Green Valley, Glendale, Roselle, Mohawk [18 and 9 hole courses], Fox Valley, Villa Olivia, Fairlawn, Hillside, Wauconda, Golfmoor, Rob Roy, St. Andrews [two courses], Techny Fields, Blackheath, Commodore Barry, Countryside, Brae Loch, Libertyville, Brown's Lake, Cedar Crest, McHenry, Hillmoor, Pickwick, Southmoor, Glenwoodie, Lansing Airport, Indian Wood, Minne Monesse, Silver Lake [two courses], Beverly Shore, Kinsman, Bass Lake, Indian Ridge, Lincoln Hills, Cressmoor, Gleneagles [two courses], and Oak Knoll.

The West District Golf league will open its 1942 program at Riverside on June 11, according to an announcement by Secretary Fred Gariepy of Hinsdale. Hugo T. Fischer of Westward-Ho is president of the league. The team captains are Ted Wilde of Brookwood, Bob Kevil of Butterfield, Ken Moore of Edgewood Valley, Ed O'Connor of Elmhurst, Bud Brown of Glen Oak, Knud Nielsen of Hinsdale, Charles Wilson of Riverside, and Hugo Fischer of Westward-Ho. The 1942 schedule includes three other matches, June 25 at Butterfield, July 16 at Glen Oak, and July 30 at Edgewood Valley. The windup tournament is set for Westward-Ho Aug. 13.

The June 11 pairings at Riverside will bring together Edgewood Valley and Elmhurst, Glen Oak and Brookwood, Westward-Ho and Hinsdale, and Riverside and Butterfield.

More than 100 members of the Executives' Club of Chicago will tee off in their first tourney of the season this afternoon at Tam o' Shanter. C. Hilding Anderson is golf chairman of the club.

The 38th annual Midlothian Derby, most venerable of all Chicago invitational events, will be run on Saturday and Sunday at the big south side club. The Saturday program includes the classic sidelight, the Boneyard Derby, with post time set for 5 p. m. Members will guide chariots hitched up to steeds, none younger than 20 years. Today marks the deadline for entries. N. A. Shanahan is chairman of the Derby committee.

Winning with Wood

Those Hard-to-Take Defeats in Masters and PGA Tourneys of 1934 Recalled by Craig

[This is the fifth of a series of articles on golf by Craig Wood of the Winged Foot club of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who last year, at the age of 40, won the Masters' and National Open championships.]

BY CRAIG WOOD.

WHEN I made the winter tour in 1933-'34 I played in the Texas Open, among other tournaments, finishing second. It was here that the older generation of golfers began to take respectful notice of the swings of two Texas kids who were to go far in this game. Their names were John Byron Nelson and James Newton Demaret, who have since borne out the promise they showed at that time.

High spot of that particular trip was a new tournament, which was to grow so quickly in prestige that it is now rated one of the most valuable prizes in the game. This was the first annual Masters' tournament at the beautiful Augusta National club in Georgia. For the old timers and for those of us who had played against him before he retired after the grand slam year of 1930, the new event meant one thing at that time—another shot at Bobby Jones, the man who had ruled amateurs and pros alike.

My own best performance against Bobby came in that same great 1930 season during the National Open at Interlachen in Minneapolis. I say best because it was considered something of a feat in those days if you could finish within the same 10—first 10, of course—with Bob. I was as much in the running for three rounds of that tournament as you could hope to be, altho Bob's main competition at Interlachen came from two fellows named Smith—MacDonald and Horton—who ultimately finished second and third back of him. I wound up ninth with a 300, 13 strokes back of Jones, but that might have been slightly better if I hadn't taken an 80 on the final round.

That first Masters' was played with the present nines reversed, the 10th tee, as it's played today, being the first. Incidentally, a majority of tournament players regard that present 10th as one of the finest par four holes in golf, one that demands a great drive every time. I finished first of the leaders with a 285 that looked quite secure at the time.

But Horton Smith, who until Byron Nelson won again this spring was the only man in Masters' history to hit it twice, was quietly working his way home. He finally needed a 5-4 for a tie on what are now the eighth and ninth holes. The former was tough to reach, but Smith dropped a 20 footer for his birdie four. On the 18th, he dropped his second short of the cup and his first putt overslid the cup by six feet. He had to get that down to win, and it was a tough one, considering that the green then sloped even more than it does now. He might well have run down and past by another 10 feet, but Horton proved why he's a great putter by dropping it.

I worked hard on my game when I got back to the Hollywood club, concentrating on the elimination of the hook that had bothered me for years.

By the time I left for Buffalo to play in the 1934 National PGA I felt that I was playing the best golf I ever had played.

As a younger pro I had aways favored match play, in which you could look your opponent in the eye, but in later years, I leaned toward the medal style, and still do. I determined that I should set a winning score in my own mind before a medal play tournament and aim at that, and that alone, while playing. I further told myself that I would follow Jones' method of playing medal play golf in match competition.

The PGA being the fast show that it always is, I chose a score of approximately 140 as my goal in the qualifying round. I hit it on the head, finishing two shots back of young Bob Crowley, the medalist. I won my first three matches with fine golf from Leo Fraser, Harry Cooper, and Al Watrous. Al was playing grand golf in that event, having eliminated Gene Sarazen in the second round. In the semifinals I encountered my British open rival of the preceding year, Denny Shute. I was over the first 18 in 65 to be six up, but Denny was, and still is, a great competitor. He was out in 32 in the afternoon and squared the match on the 32d. In order to win I had to take the 33d and 35th with birdies.

TEE TIPS.

Craig Wood, National Open champion and winner of the 1941 Masters' title, says that the arc of the backswing is one of the most highly misunderstood factors in practical golf. In the past the theory has been to hit from the inside out. This, Wood says, has caused the misunderstanding as to procedure. Most beginners trying to hit from the inside out, will bring the club inside on the backswing, causing an inside-out loop. Today, a majority of leading tournament players start the backswing either straight back, or, possibly, a bit on the outside. This, if anything, creates the outside-in loop, which always keeps the club head back of the ball.

My opponent in the final was Paul Runyan, an old friend and assistant.

He Loses Thrilling Overtime Match to Runyan, His Assistant.

To me the deciding hole of that match was the 27th. I was two up at the time, but instead of going three up I found myself only one to the good, for Paul dropped a 20 footer after having been 100 yards short of the green, while I three putted. We were all square going to the 33d. I was off the putting surface about 15 feet, and went for the hole, finally losing it to Runyan's four. He got a good half at the 34th and I evened it again with a mashie niblic dead to the 35th hole. On the home hole Paul was over the green with his second and I missed it to the left. We were on with our third shots, and they had to measure the putts. He was 13 feet 6 inches away, while I was 13 feet 4 inches off of the cup. After he holed his I dropped mine.

I hit my best drive of the tournament to the long 37th and was eight feet above the cup with a 7 iron second. Runyan sliced his second and it was headed for the trees but struck a sound truck and dropped in the rough. He hit a grand shot out of there to within four feet of the cup and sank it for a half after I had missed my eight footer for a winning eagle. I hooked my drive to the 38th but Paul sliced his second 30 yards off the green. My second from the road went over the green but I came back within 12 feet. Paul's recovery was just inside of that. I lipped the cup and Paul holed to end the match and hang another second place on C. R. Wood, who by this time was beginning to wonder if this business wasn't becoming too much of a habit.

JONES APPLIES FOR COMMISSION IN AIR FORCE

Atlanta, Ga., May 20 (AP).—Bobby Jones revealed tonight that he had applied for a commission in the United States air force.

The 40 year old golfer who won 13 national championships before retiring in 1930, said he had not yet been informed as to the status of his application and did not care to discuss his plans pending developments.

Jones, now practicing law here, studied mechanical engineering at the Georgia School of Technology and at Harvard before obtaining his law degree from Emory university in Atlanta. He is married and the father of three children, the eldest of whom is 16.

Night Baseball Banned in Jacksonville, Fla.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 20 (AP).—Night baseball in Jacksonville has been ruled out for the duration. The step was taken after Jacksonville's dim-out was termed unsatisfactory by Brig. Gen. Kenneth T. Blood. He said the ball park lights were distinctly noticeable from two miles off the Atlantic beach. Crowther M. Boyd, business manager of the city's South Atlantic league club, indicated that twilight games would be tried.

GEORGE MAY WILL STICK TO $500 WAR BOND PRIZE

Offer Has Golf Amateurs Somewhat Puzzled.

George May, president of the Tam o' Shanter Country club, stuck to his story last night that he is involved in no disagreement with the United States Golf association. May is offering a $500 war bond as first prize in Tam o' Shanter's All-American amateur tournament; the USGA has limited war bond prizes for amateurs to $100.

"I'm just offering the prize," May said. "Any amateur who wants to play is welcome—after that it's a matter between USGA and the players."

"Not Defying USGA."

May said he was not defying the USGA as reported. He emphasized that Tam o' Shanter was coöperating wholeheartedly with the USGA in the promotion of the Hale America Open at Ridgemoor June 18 to 21. "Tam o' Shanter has bought more tickets than any other club in the Chicago district," he said.

May's $500 war bond has the amateurs puzzled. They like the added money feature, but fear suspension.

Lehman Is Doubtful.

Johnny Lehman of Olympia Field, former Western champion, said yesterday he was inclined to go along with the USGA rules. Which means Johnny will not be in the starting field in July.

Art Doering of Medinah took the opposite view. Art said he was willing to play for the $500 bond.

OPENER IN NORTH SHORE GOLF WON BY SUNSET RIDGE

Sunset Ridge scored 22½ points to take the lead in the opening match of the North Shore Golf league at the Evanston Country club yesterday. Edgewater was second with 18½ points. North Shore was third with 16, followed by Westmoreland, 15; Evanston, 14½; Park Ridge, 9; Ridgemoor, 7½, and Skokie, 5.

Ed Kerber of North Shore made a hole in one on the 135 yard seventh. Kerber shot a 36—35—71, the best low gross score.

Johnny Lehman of Edgewater carded a 73 for second honors. Tied for third with 80 were, Steve Williams, Evanston; Bob Lockridge, Sunset Ridge; Jim Buchanan and Ray Matson, Westmoreland, and Red Cormack, Skokie.

Wave the glad pennants for fair yoohoo-tenants
And redheaded kickin'-police.
Sweet quartermisses will ration our kisses
And squadrons of cute briga-dears,
With blue Garand ruffle and boogie-beat shuffle,
Gay majorettes in their bayonhairnets,
And beautiful blondbardment groups
Will march in precision, with streamlined division,
American beauties assuming war duties—
Perambulance, ladies' first-aid—
March on, selecteasers, with drawn eyebrow tweezers,
In elegant gas-masquerade.
With garlands of roses and gunpowdered noses
The sewing machine gunners race;
To face to the powder, and be all the prouder,
To win when they've powdered the face.
High-stepping before us, a smart signal-chorus,
With marksmisses sturdy and neat,
And nice corporalices wearing lace galluses,
Uni-formfitting and sweet.
You'll all be too cute for attack and pursuit,
In your dimity, crêpe and percale,
But in post, camp and station you'll rate observation,
And over the home of the brave
And the land of the free, we know that you'll see
That the flag has a permanent wave!

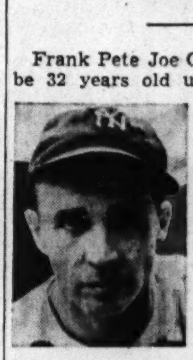
COAST GUARD GETS PUKEMA.

Omaha, Neb., May 20 (AP).—Helge Emil Pukema, 25, Duluth, Minn., star tackle at the University of Minnesota last fall took his final induction examination for the Coast Guard here yesterday.

CROSETTI KEEPS BUSY FOR JUST A UTILITY MAN

Veteran Yank Invaluable as a Stop Gap.

Frank Pete Joe Crosetti, who won't be 32 years old until next October, would have brought a pretty penny in the major league flesh marts any day they were open for business after Frankie yielded his regular shortstopping job to Phil Rizzuto early in 1941. But the Yanks do not need a pretty penny at any given time and besides, nobody ever accused Joe McCarthy, the manager, of being foolish even when he was a little shaver running around Germantown, Pa.



Frank Crosetti.

Theoretically Frankie still is a utility infielder but he has been busy at infielding in competition during a series of casualties that has had Red Rolfe, Joe Gordon, and Rizzuto out of action for spans of varying length.

He Manages to Keep Busy.

Frankie has not played second but while Gordon was out with a sprained back there were infield changes that continued Frankie in action, as he would have been anyhow in the absence of Red Rolfe, just now enjoying a happy convalescence from serious internal disorders.

During the illness of Rizzuto, who returned to work yesterday in Comiskey park against the White Sox for his first game on the western tour, Frankie had a whirl at his old shortstop job. With the return of Rizzuto yesterday Frankie went back to third where he is expected to remain indefinitely.

His 12th Year with Yankees.

Crosetti, who is playing his 12th year with the Yanks, never participated in fewer than 115 games in any season except 1935, when a knee operation held him to 87 and last year when Rizzuto's showing reduced his endeavor to 50 games. In 1939 he played in 157 games and led the league in base thefts and in 1939 he had the most times at bat, 656.

A lot of teams in the American and National leagues could use Frank Pete Joe, but won't for a few years at least.

The Yanks and the White Sox will play this afternoon, after which the American league leaders will head for the east. The Sox will stay at home to gird for their first night game, with the Detroit Tigers tomorrow night. Ernie Bonham, who has won five and lost none, probably will pitch for the Yanks today and will be opposed by Eddie Smith, who, despite a lot of able pitching, has won none and lost five. DODGERS, HELD TO 2 HITS, LOSE TO CARDS, 1 TO 0

Medwick and Herman Get Singles Off Cooper.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 20 (AP).—Two of the top right handers of the National league met today in one of the best pitching duels of the season and when Mort Cooper and Whit Wyatt had finished the St. Louis Cardinals held at 1 to 0 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

It was the first shutout for the champions and it halted their eight game winning streak—all in an hour and 35 minutes before a week day crowd of 15,843.

Cooper yielded only two singles to Joe Medwick and Billy Herman. Wyatt pitched four hit ball in rebuttal, but one was a triple by Catcher Walker Cooper, Mort's younger brother, in the fifth inning, and a fly to center by Frank Crespi brought him home with the game's only run.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 20 (AP).—Ray Lamanno, the rookie catcher who is leading the National league batsmen, fattened his average today with a perfect day at the plate as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Phils, 10 to 3. Lamanno's home run with the bases loaded in the third was backed up with a single and a triple in three times at bat.

Ray Starr, 35 year old rookie, limited the Phils to six safeties for his fourth victory of the year, against one loss. Score:

Whirlaway Draws Top Weight in Belmont Race

New York, May 20 (AP).—Whirlaway, Warren Wright's star 4 year old, has been assigned top weight of 129 pounds in the Suburban handicap at Belmont park May 30, with Market Wise, Mioland, and Attention each allotted 124. Alsab, this year's Preakness winner, must carry 112 pounds, four more than the scale for a 3 year old. Challedon, War Relic, and Fenelon were assigned 122 pounds.

Tony Motisi of Chicago's CYO dropped Harry Teaney of Cleveland for a no count in the first round. Tony then made Teaney's body his target, but the Cleveland youngster countered with solid smashes to the head. The bout followed the pattern of the 10 round draw between these rivals in the same ring last month.

In the seventh round Motisi was pushed down by a left that landed high on his shoulder. There was no count. The boys followed with dogged right hand exchanges for the rest of the way with Motisi's superior weight—he had an advantage of 8½ pounds—a decisive factor. Motisi received the unanimous decision.

YANKS, SOX TO AID ELSON TODAY IN WAR-BONDS DRIVE

Members of the Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees today will coöperate with Bob Elson, W-G-N sports broadcaster, in promoting the sale of United States war savings bonds and stamps.

At noon Elson and five ball players will be in the Victory Corner at the Sears-Roebuck department store at State and Van Buren streets, for an informal chat about baseball and most important—bonds and stamps. The Victory Corner is operated by the United States treasury department.

With Elson will be Bill Dickey and Joe Gordon of the Yankees, Coach Muddy Ruel, Luke Appling and Don Kolloway of the White Sox. They will be in full view of loop crowds and their remarks will be amplified by loud speakers.

Soccer Game Will Be Free to Service Men

Nova to Battle Savold Tonight in Washington

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Lee Savold of Des Moines, Ia., and Lou Nova, the Californian, warmed up briefly today on the eve of their navy relief fund show in Griffith Stadium and then took time out to make identical predictions—that the bout would be short.

The unanimity ended there.

Said Nova:

"It ought to be over early. I expect to clip Savold down within six rounds."

"Five or six," was Savold's estimate, but he didn't mean the same thing Nova meant. He expected to use a short right effectively.

Some of the observers of the 10-round-limit affair took the view that Savold must knock out Nova within three rounds or go down himself before the end. All seemed agreed that from past records the one who gets the first opening will come out best.

Some of the pre-fight estimates were that the heavyweights would draw up to 20,000 fans who would pay about $60,000 at the gate, of which $40,000 would go to the relief kitty.

W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system will broadcast a blow-by-blow description of the Savold-Nova bout beginning at 9 p. m. [CWT]. Don Dunphy will be at the ringside microphone.

Len Merullo started the Cubs out of the wilderness in the seventh by leading off with a single to center and Cavarretta assisted by working Carpenter for another pass. Nicholson atoned for his two strikeouts by singling to right, Merullo scoring the tying run and Cavarretta taking third. For a few minutes thereafter the rally was barely fluttering. Stringer fanned and Gilbert fouled to Bartell.

Nicholson stole second because the Giants figured they had Novikoff struck out, but Umpire Barr ruled otherwise. Then the Mad Russian came thru with his colossal feat, a single to left, on which Cavarretta and Nicholson scored.

SCHMITZ VS. MELTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—Johnny Schmitz will southpaw in behalf of the Cubs here tomorrow, after which Jim Wilson will lead his boys to Pittsburgh for a week-end series of three games. Schmitz's opponent probably will be Lefty Cliff Melton.

With everything else turning sour, the Cubs now are a bit more outspoken about their powder blue vestee, pantalette road uniforms. They maintain that the giddy attire is not in keeping with their low estate, which happens to be seventh place.

Completes Double in Two Feature Events.

Winamac gave way and Annie Alone continued steadily. Then Yesteryear, which had been kept close to the pace after that first brief brush with the leader, came on with a fresh bid. Still Annie Alone had enough left to withstand it.

In the closing strides, however, Bonzar, which had been taking it fairly easy in sixth place to the stretch turn, came in between the two leaders. Pearson drove him to the front just as they went under the wire. The winner's payoff was $18, $9.20, and $4.80.

Grill Exhibits Strong Riding.

Frankie Grill gave an exhibition of strong riding in the stretch as he brought in a 21 to 1 shot, Monk's Memo, a length and a quarter in advance of the even money favorite, Epistle. After opening up a lead of two lengths and maintaining it around the turn in this seven furlong dash, Monk's Memo showed an inclination to drift out while Epistle was making a strong challenge half way thru the stretch.

Grill thereupon delivered some fancy whip and hand riding to hold his tiring horse together while still keeping her going fast and straight. He accomplished the trick so well that those who backed this 4 year old filly were able to go to the cashiers and collect $44.20, $9.20, and $4.40 across the board.

Another Long Shot.

Earlier in the afternoon another long shot upset the calculations of the favorite players, who had been enjoying so much good fortune during the first two days of the meeting. This occurred in the opening race when Miss Baker, making her first start of the season, got up in the closing stages. She was drawing clear swiftly at the finish. She paid off at $31.60, $9.60, and $6.40.

Miss Baker's victory was scored at the expense of three popular choices which shared the main betting support among themselves, all in the neighborhood of 2 to 1. These were Sir L., Millmore, and Go Home.

SENATE VOTES WHEAT SALE AT 85% CORN PARITY

Passes 865 Million Bill; Farm Bloc Split.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20 [Special].—With the powerful farm bloc split for the first time in years on the question of maintaining parity prices on agricultural commodities, the senate today passed the 865 million dollar farm appropriation bill, including an amendment permitting the sale of limited stocks of government owned wheat at below parity for cattle and hog feeding. The vote on the wheat sale, which constituted a partial victory for the administration in its long battle with the farm alliance over fundamental agriculture policies, was 62 to 18.

The measure will enable the Commodity Credit corporation to dispose of 125 million bushels of wheat for feed at a price as low as 85 per cent of the parity price of corn. The house version of the bill imposes a flat ban on the release of any government surpluses below parity.

Fear Corn Market Break.

Parity is the formula designed to give farmers the same relative purchasing power they enjoyed from the sale of their products in the 1909 to 1925 base period.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] warned that passage of the amendment would undermine the farm parity principle and open the way for lowering the prices on other commodities. During the prolonged and bitter debate, members from the corn states protested vehemently that the action would break the corn market.

Brooks Sees Farmers Penalized.

"The proposal is the beginning of a definite penalty that will rest on the corn farmers of America," declared Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.].

Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] asserted the action will penalize the corn farmer for the benefit of the wheat farmer. He said there is little hope of corn ever reaching 85 per cent of parity if farmers can procure wheat, a better feed, at lower than parity prices.

The measure, carrying 680 millions cash and 185 millions loan authority, now goes back to the house for concurrence in amendments.

Those who voted against the wheat sale measure were:

An attempt by Thomas to require that the excess wheat stocks be sold at least at the parity price of corn was defeated by a vote of 55 to 25.

The parity price on wheat is $1.33 per bushel and on corn is 96.9 cents, the price at which the government would have been required to sell wheat under Thomas' proposal. As finally adopted, the government would be required to get at least 82.4 cents per bushel for the wheat stocks, representing 85 per cent of the corn parity.

GASOLINE BLAST INJURES THREE; ONE NEAR DEATH

Three young men were burned, one critically, last night when a can of gasoline they had carried into an abandoned garage at 3012 Van Buren street exploded and sprayed them with flaming liquid. They are Martin Joyce, 18 years old, of 330 South Whipple street; Aris Samson, 17, of 2880 Harrison street, and Arthur Newman, 16, of 3043 Jackson boulevard. Joyce and Samson were taken to the County hospital, where little hope was expressed for Joyce. Newman said the gasoline was set off when one of the party lighted a cigaret. They had taken refuge from the rain in the building, he added.

Day by Day on the Farm

Wood Duck Mystery.

May 20, 1942.

THE mystery of the wood ducks hasn't been solved on the farm. A pair of these birds may be nesting near one of the ponds on the Wheaton place, but it has been impossible to determine definitely whether they still are there or have gone to other parts of Chicagoland to nest.

About six weeks ago we saw a pair of wood ducks in a little bay of the big pond. Early this month one of the farm workers saw wood ducks in the same location. He felt sure that this pair was looking for a nesting site. Since then we have been hesitant about walking thru the brush adjacent to the ponds because the geese, swans, and ducks are nesting and we don't want to disturb them.

Species Increasing.

So a thoro checkup on the wood duck mystery hasn't been possible. Furthermore, it's doubtful that a hike around the pond now would provide any additional evidence, because a female wood duck which has taken a nesting site doesn't make any particular efforts to be seen.

Grebes, rails, and many other aquatic species have nested on the shores of the farm ponds in former years, and with many natural nesting sites for wood ducks it's possible that they have moved in this year.

This species has been increasing in Illinois, with thousands hatched every summer along the Illinois river and in many other areas. The Illinois Natural History survey has encouraged this increase by putting up special nesting boxes for the wood ducks, a project that we would like to try on the farm next season.

Amusing Spectacles.

The handsome wood ducks think nothing of occupying nesting boxes a quarter of a mile or a half mile from water, and one of the amusing spectacles that residents along the Illinois river see every season is that of a fussy old female wood duck herding her brood on the long hike to the river after she has gotten the fuzzy ducklings to take the "leap for life" from the elevated nesting box on the tree trunk.

If we do have one or more pairs of wood ducks on the farm they are behaving themselves and staying on the ponds. The same levels of duck behavior evidently aren't in effect on the S. A. Goodman property near Barrington. Mr. Goodman reports that when he walked into his home the other day a bird of this species was under his bed!

The only explanation was that Mrs. Wood Duck had fallen down the chimney. When members of the household tried to catch her she retreated to a shelter under the bed. Later she was captured and released to rejoin the mate which was frantically circling over the house.

PLAN MAMMOTH MEMORIAL DAY, JUNE 14 PARADES

Veterans of All Wars to March in Review.

Two mammoth parades for Chicago were planned yesterday, the first to occur on Memorial day and the second on Flag day, June 14. Each will take place on Michigan avenue from Chicago avenue south to Roosevelt road and will be reviewed at the Congress street plaza.

The Memorial day parade will be under the direction of Capt. Thomas Ambrose of the G. A. R. as grand marshal. A detail of police will escort the procession and there will be a military band and a color guard of military police from Fort Sheridan. Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the 6th corps area, will be the principal guest.

Consuls to Be Guests.

Among the guests will be Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, the consuls of the foreign nations represented in Chicago, Senators Wayland Brooks and Scott W. Lucas, Rear Adm. John Downes of the Great Lakes Naval station, and Col. Fredrick C. Rogers of Fort Sheridan.

The Fag day parade is being arranged under the joint auspices of the Office of Civilian Defense and the American Legion. It is planned to start at 10 a. m. and last all day, "the biggest Chicago ever has seen," Mayor Kelly, metropolitan OCD coordinator, told the group assembled last night in the council chambers to plan the events.

Industries to Be Portrayed.

The parade is to be known as "the United Nations parade" and all the flags of the nations allied against Germany and Japan will be carried in the procession.

A principal feature of the parade will be the portrayal of industries in Chicago engaged in the war effort, and their products.

The 108 civilian defense communities in Chicago and those from the suburban area will be asked to be represented in the procession. The army, navy, police, and fire departments will lead the parade. In the line of march will be veterans of the G. A. R. on up to the present war, Red Cross contingents, Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts, civilian defense workers, fraternal orders, ROTC, bands of the ROTC and schools, public and private, national groups in costumes, parents of soldiers now in service, civic organizations, industrial and mercantile floats and labor unions.

10,000 TAILORS LAID OFF; PRICE CEILING BLAMED

Manufacturers Point to Increased Costs.

Chicago manufacturers of men's clothing have laid off more than 10,000 tailors, members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers [CIO], because of a pricing problem created by the manufacturers' price ceiling imposed May 11 by the Office of Price Administration, it was learned yesterday.

Faced with an estimated increase of $4 a suit in labor and material costs, manufacturers of quality clothing declared they would be unable to continue operating at their highest March prices. They said that they had contracted to deliver fall clothing lines at prices which prevailed in April, the opening of the new season.

Wage Increase Granted.

The higher costs resulted from a 10 cents an hour wage increase granted to the union May 4 and increased prices on woolens and other materials, manufacturers said. With the OPA refusing to increase the price to the consumer and having no power to direct the union to take a smaller wage increase, the manufacturers and retailers would have been forced to absorb the higher cost, it was said.

Manufacturers are awaiting an interpretation from the OPA which would adjust the squeeze which forces them to sell at March levels despite higher costs. The OPA is faced with the problem of having retailers take a lower profit margin, directing the manufacturers to absorb part or all of the increased costs, urging labor to take a smaller wage boost, or setting textile prices at lower levels.

Contract for Material.

"We can't get our plant back to work," said Bertram J. Cahn, president and chairman of B. Kuppenheimer and company, "because we don't know how to price our fall lines. We have already contracted for delivery of the goods from July to November but the OPA will not permit us to charge the prices agreed upon.

"The whole problem hinges on fair pricing of seasonal goods. It would be unfair to ask the manufacturer to bear the entire weight of the increased costs. Many of us could not stay in business if we had to lose $3 or $4 a garment. The problem might be solved if labor, management, the retailer, the seller of raw materials, and the consuming public all absorbed a share of the burden. Labor has refused to surrender part of its increase."

Challenges Cahn's Statement.

Lewis Siegel, 1444 South Kolin avenue, shop chairman of the Kuppenheimer plant for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, took exception last night to Cahn's statement that "labor has refused to surrender part of its increase." He asserted that when the union gained a 10 per cent increase during its last negotiations, on the plea of Cahn that he could not operate at such an increased cost, the union voluntarily relinquished 7 per cent.

Approximately 3,000 of the workers affected by the layoff are employed by so-called tailor contracting firms which make parts of completed suits for merchant tailors. A score or more of officers who had ordered army and navy uniforms found that they could not get delivery because of the refusal of the contractors to pay the May 4 pay increase unless the OPA adjusted the price ceiling.

ESTRANGED WIFE SEES POLICEMAN KILL HIMSELF

While his estranged wife looked on, Policeman Andrew Michaelson, 34 years old, shot and killed himself with his service revolver yesterday in the home of his 80 year old mother at 3911 Addison street.

Michaelson had been separated from his wife, Katherine, 3053 North Troy street, for the last seven weeks, paying her $20 a week for herself and the support of their two children, Joan, 5, and Dennis, 1½, pending decision on her suit for divorce.

Yesterday afternoon he met Mrs. Michaelson and the children at Troy street and Belmont avenue, took them to his mother's home, where he has been living, and then for a shopping tour to purchase clothing for the children. They returned to the home, and Mrs. Michaelson said he asked her to meet him last night. When she refused, she said, he rushed into a bedroom and killed himself. His mother was at home, but did not witness his act.

A. T. & T. STOCK UP 3¼ AS MOST OTHERS DECLINE

Steels, at Year's Lows, Pace Downward Trend.

New York, May 20 (AP).—American Telephone put a little sunshine in an otherwise drab stock market today, pushing up 3¼ points on the company's announcement of the usual quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share.

But far from following Telephone the market generally moved in step with the steels which were on the defensive thruout. Losses in United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Youngstown Sheet ran to a point or more and all entered new low ground for a year or longer.

Aircrafts Down Slightly.

In rubbers, aircrafts, farm equipments, coppers, rails, and industrial specialties moderate declines were the rule. Motors and merchandising stocks held up well and du Pont added 2 points.

The Associated Press 60 stock average recorded a net decline of .1 of a point at 33.8. The rail composite was down .3 of a point.

CHICAGO STOCKS RISE.

Midland Utilities 7 per cent prior lien stock featured yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock exchange, rising a point to 8 on a turnover of 1,400 shares, and leading the list in trading volume. Commonwealth Edison closed ⅛ point lower, at 18⅞, and similar small gains and losses were recorded by other of the more active issues. Trading involved 17,000 shares in 76 issues, of which 28 advanced, 19 declined, and 29 closed unchanged.

Gasoline Supplies Drop for Ninth Week in Row

New York, May 20 (AP).—The nation's gasoline supplies in their ninth consecutive decline dropped 1,516,000 barrels during the week ended May 16 to a total of 99,134,000 barrels, the American Petroleum institute reported today. However, stocks remained well above the year ago total of 94,286,000 barrels. Heavy fuel oil stocks also dropped sharply to 78,826,000 barrels from 80,155,000 the week before. Gasoline output was estimated at 18,945,000 barrels against 10,658,000 the preceding week.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed 25 to 50 cents a bale lower yesterday after recovering late in the session from early declines of as much as 85 cents. Uncertainty over the war situation and continued confusion over what will be done about farm legislation and commodity sales were said to have caused much of the selling. Wool tops were unchanged to 0.3 cent a pound higher. Coffee, cottonseed oil, and cocoa were unchanged.

OFFICIALS WARN OF MORE CURBS FACING EXPORTS

Ceiling on Imports

Washington, D. C., May 20 [Special].—The federal government is developing plans to prevent prices paid abroad for imported merchandise from disturbing domestic price ceilings, Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced today. Whether this will be done by subsidy was not stated.

Ceiling prices, it was emphasized, apply to imported as well as domestic commodities. Imported items cannot be sold for more than the highest prices charged by the importer on resale last March. Henderson outlined several rules which defined types of import purchases subject to ceilings.

Officials of the Office of Price Administration and the Board of Economic Warfare told exporters yesterday that they can expect a continued decline in export trade aside from lend-lease business as well as more restrictions. The warnings were given by Dr. Seymour E. Harris, chief of export price control for the OPA, and Col. F. R. Kerr, chairman of export price control for the BEW, at a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Export Managers' Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

Dr. Harris, professor of economics at Harvard university, discussing maximum export price regulations, asserted the OPA does not "want to drive a single exporter out of business by virtue of our regulation." He told the exporters his office will not be "petty in our administration," but expected coöperation in making regulations effective.

Plans no Subsidies.

Exporters cannot, he asserted, expect price regulation to act as a subsidy to keep them in business any more than other industries affected adversely by the war can expect subsidies. He declared that in a war economy as much as possible must be conserved for domestic use. He said that American export trade has continued to grow in contrast with dwindling British exports because of this country's support to its allies, but that as long as exports are taken over by the government directly thru lend-lease, nonlend-lease export trade will "undoubtedly continue to fall," and will be further affected by priorities, limitation orders and lack of shipping.

Dr. Harris said his office has suggested thru the state department that foreign countries be informed of United States export price regulations in order to prevent speculative profits by foreign dealers who sell to consumers.

Predicts New Curbs.

Col. Kerr, commenting that regulation is "a distasteful thing," predicted further export restrictions. He added, however, that the shipping situation will be relieved "at least for a few months."

The priorities of supply, he declared, overshadow shipping priorities. He warned that allocation of materials essential to the war "is definitely coming" and that such plans are being worked out. The United States and friendly nations soon will be functioning completely on an allocation basis in certain commodities, he predicted.

William H. Stanley, vice president of the William Wrigley Jr. company, presided at the meeting. John Weigel, Chicago regional director of the OPA, was a guest.

It was announced that Thomas M. Woodward, member of the United States Maritime commission, will speak today at a luncheon of the Traffic Club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel. The meeting is being held in observance of Maritime day as part of National Foreign Trade week.

3,000 TO ENFORCE ORDERS FOR CURB ON CONSTRUCTION

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Three thousand government examiners have been assigned to check on violations of the construction stop-order in all parts of the country, the WPB announced today.

The examiners, borrowed from the Home Owners Loan corporation, will check building permits in every principal city and gather information from building supply companies, labor unions, and any other available sources of information, WPB said.

"The survey of persons engaged in construction activity should reveal whether there are violations of the provisions of the construction order and also prevent the diversion of scarce materials for nonessential uses," an official said.

However, WPB spokesmen said, only a handful of violations had been reported so far, and no punitive action had been taken except in a few cases where warning letters were sent.

Congress Boosts Limit on FHA Insured Loans

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—The house completed legislative action today on a bill to boost the total amount of loans which the Federal Housing administration can insure from 300 to 800 million dollars. The measure is designed to relieve congestion in areas where the population has been increased by the war.

Dividend Rate Is Maintained by A. T. & T.

New York, May 20 (AP).—The American Telephone and Telegraph company continued today, in the face of rising taxes and dropping income, its policy of two decades—dividends at the annual rate of $9 a share to its 635,000 odd owners.

The announcement that "directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25"—broke tension in financial centers, heightened yesterday when another operating subsidiary cut its payment to the parent company.

Many Small Holders.

The average stockholder has been able to count since 1922 on an income of $261 a year from the 29 shares he owns. The grand total is 18,686,794 shares.

Those little stockholders make the world's biggest public utility also the most widely owned. They will share about 42 million dollars when the dividend is paid July 15 to stockholders on record as of June 15.

A. T. & T.'s dividend record, company officials had warned, was threatened by taxes that Keith S. McHugh, a vice president, said would reduce earnings on the stock "to the lowest point in the entire history of the business, including the worst year of the recent depression."

SOME TO PAY LESS

Directors of the National Biscuit company yesterday announced a quarterly dividend of 30 cents on common stock. Previous quarterly payments have been 40 cents. Vice President Frederick Beers told stockholders on March 11 that the prospect of increased corporation taxes might bring a cut in dividends.

The American Cigarette and Cigar company, New York, which derives its income principally from rental of properties to the American Tobacco company, reduced its common dividend by 50 cents a share with the declaration of a $1.50 payment. Dividends of $2 have been paid for the last five quarters.

Directors of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company voted a $1.50 dividend on common stock. The last payment was $2 a share on March 14. On June 13, 1941, the company paid $2.25.

NEW FARM SCRAP DRIVE MAPPED TO HELP PRODUCTION

The Farm Equipment institute, representing all major implement companies, mapped plans yesterday for a national "scrap harvest" this fall as the nation-wide drive of the International Harvester company to collect one million tons of scrap metal from farms entered its third day. The institute's drive is designed to double the million ton figure and is aimed at the estimated 1½ to 3½ million tons of scarp lying idle on farms.

International Harvester is conducting its campaign this week thru its 10,000 dealers. The institute plans its drive on an industry-wide basis with 18,000 dealers participating. Harvester collected an estimated 300,000 tons of scrap in March and April. Dealers organize local drives among farmers and urge them to bring the metal to central clearing depots.

FAST TOOL BUILDERS TO RECEIVE ARMY AND NAVY 'STAR' AWARD

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—A new award—the army-navy star—for companies building machine tools and accessories which are recognized for outstanding contributions to the war production effort, was announced today by the war and navy departments.

A company receiving the award will be given the right to fly a burgee type flag over its plant. The burgee is blue with a white star in the center, and displays the words "army" and "navy" in large red letters. Each employé of a plant receiving the award will receive an enameled silver button.

"This award is not readily given, nor easily earned," said a joint statement by Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, and James V. Forrestal, undersecretary of the navy.

"To receive it means the management of the company and employés have done and are doing a vital job of supplying the army's and the navy's constantly growing need for the tools which make front line weapons."

ROADS RESTRICT MOVEMENTS OF STORAGE GRAINS

Railroads yesterday put into effect embargoes on all shipments of grain to terminal markets to be stored except when assurances can be given that cars will be unloaded promptly at their destination.

At a meeting of grain men with government officials and railroad representatives in the Palmer House J. E. Wells Jr., special assistant to the administrator of the Agricultural Marketing administration, requested that plans for embargoing all grain shipments except by permit be worked out by each market and submitted to him by June 1.

The majority of the grain men attending the meeting agreed that complete embargoes on grain shipments except by permit probably would not be necessary before June 10. However, Wells instructed the market storage and transportation committees to put a permit system into effect the moment they believed overall restrictions required.

AAA CHIEF SAYS WAR CROP GOAL WILL BE REACHED

Goals for all crops essential in the war effort will be met this year, Fred S. Wallace, director of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, said yesterday after three days of conferences with AAA state chairmen in the Morrison hotel.

It was decided to poll state AAA committees on a suggestion that the formula for paying farmers for conservation practices be revised so that owners of poor land would benefit most. The present flat per acre allowance provides equal allotments to owners of rich and poor lands.

E. D. White, assistant AAA chief, told the chairmen, who also serve as heads of the state agriculture war boards, that their state and county war boards shortly may have to take over the job of rationing farm supplies such as machinery, fertilizer, and bagging.

Sinclair Tells Salary Critic: I Can Get More

H. F. Sinclair, president of the Consolidated Oil corporation, answered a stockholder's criticism of his $155,000 salary in 1941 at the annual meeting in New York City yesterday by asserting that "I can step out this door, just for your information, and get a salary four or five times as much as I am receiving from this company."

The stockholder had said Sinclair's salary is perhaps the highest in the oil industry. The president said the reason he is continuing to operate Consolidated Oil is because "it is my baby. . . . I organized it and I'm going to stay with it."

Reports Earnings Mount.

Sinclair told the stockholders the company's earnings for the first four months of this year were satisfactory and were "a number of times greater" than in the same 1941 period. He warned, however, that because of conditions in the industry subsequent earnings probably would be affected adversely.

In answer to questions regarding dividend policy, Sinclair said he would advocate continuance of the present dividend as long as such dividends are earned, and added that currently earnings are "much more" than dividend requirements.

Sinclair said the company's Venezuela's interests have progressed, with the investment of more than 8 million dollars and completion of a coast terminal and a pipeline to a field having enough oil to justify both projects. He said the company is ready to load tankers to bring oil to the United States.

Cuts Airplane Prices.

E. S. Cramer, secretary and treasurer of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, told stockholders at a special meeting in Wilmington, Del., that some price reductions have already been made on government airplane contracts, altho these have not been announced.

Cramer, who presided in the absence of Guy W. Vaughan, president, answered a stockholder's suggestion that four quarterly dividends of 25 cents each be declared immediately or that unissued class A shares be used for this purpose if it is preferable to conserve cash, by saying that the directors did not want to commit themselves when they were unable to predict the future.

Stockholders of the United corporation, utility holding company, paved the way for payment of arrears on the $3 dividend preference stock by approving at a special meeting in Wilmington a reduction in the stated value of from $60 to $5 a share. Arrears as of April 1 amounted to $3.75 a share on 2,488,712 shares. George Howard, president, told the shareholders that directors expected to act soon on an arrears declaration.

Woolworth "Optimistic."

E. C. Mauchly, vice president of the F. W. Woolworth company, said the company's officials are optimistic regarding sales outlook at the annual stockholders' meeting in Watertown, N. Y. He added that the management is confident its facilities for procuring merchandise as long as it is available are excellent, but that the principal effort will be to protect sales and profits.

Stockholders rejected a proposal by a shareholder that the directors attempt to obtain revision of existing contracts and limit new executive contracts to prevent increases in compensation when the consolidated net income and dividends decrease. Proposals to transfer the annual meeting to New York City and to require the president to attend annual meetings were likewise voted down.

At the annual meeting of the Hudson Motor Car company in Detroit, Mich., A. E. Barit, president, said regular deliveries are being made on all war contracts and that deliveries are increasing each month. All contracts "either were up to or substantially ahead of schedule," he said.

Addition to Whiting Corp. Plant Gets U. S. Approval

Government approval of construction of an addition that will add approximately 55,000 square feet of manufacturing space to the Whiting corporation plant at Harvey, Ill., was announced yesterday by Howard D. Grant, executive vice president. The addition is expected to cost approximately $325,000.

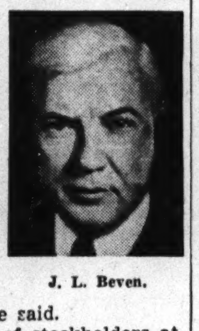
Liggett Veterans Will Get War Bonds, Extra Leaves

More than 200 employés of the Liggett Drug company who have completed 25 years or more of continuous service will be awarded $25 war bonds and an extra vacation week with pay during the winter months, J. J. Clark, personnel director, announced.

I.C. SETS RECORD 4 MONTH HIGH IN FREIGHT HAUL

Beven Is Pessimistic Over Dividends.

More freight has been carried by the Illinois Central railroad in the last four months than at any other time in its history, J. L. Beven, president, told stockholders yesterday at the annual meeting of the company in its general offices. Rising revenues and still faster rising taxes have accompanied the increased volume, he said.



J. L. Beven.

Only a handful of stockholders attended the meeting, most of those present being retired employés.

"How much more freight we can handle, I don't know," Beven said. "You can't make a mathematical calculation as to how much freight a railroad can handle because there is the human element. A year ago if I had been told how much business we were to handle, I might have said it couldn't be done. So now I believe we will be able to exceed our present volume.

Lauds Road's Workers.

"The rank and file of our workers have done a grand job in the crisis. Management on its part prepared for the things that have come altho when preparations were started it was not just clear what the preparations were for."

Beven estimated net income for the first four months of this year at $5,516,000, compared with $3,485,000 a year ago. He estimated April net income at $1,381,000 against $379,000 in April, 1941. The four month increase in net income was approximately 58 per cent and gross revenues were up 42 per cent.

The road's tax bill for the first four months was estimated at $8,399,000 compared with $3,612,000 a year ago—an increase of about 132 per cent. Beven said the management expects further tax increases and is making provisions.

Outlook Not Bright.

With taxes taking an increasing amount of the road's revenues, the outlook for dividends on common stock is not very bright, Beven indicated. He said that reduction of the road's debt offers the best assurance as to dividend possibilities in the future. Some progress has been made in this regard.

"It is as certain as night follows day we will not be permitted to make much money," Beven continued. "If any one looks forward to the satisfaction of having his pocketbooks lined with money, he will be disappointed. Our satisfaction will have to come from seeing a job well done."

Beven said the materials situation is becoming more difficult. The road is unable to get all the materials it needs, but is hopeful of getting more later.

DRAFT PROGRAM TO LIFT STATE TRADE BARRIERS

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Five state governors acting as a committee for all the states drafted a program here today designed to remove for the duration of the war any state and local traffic, labor or other regulations hampering the war effort.

The committee indicated it would propose uniform trucking regulations, in line with recommendations of the federal Public Roads administration, and that relaxation of labor laws in some instances was discussed. Members expressed the opinion most governors had authority to carry out the proposals without legislative action on an emergency basis.

TREASURY WILL REFUND RFC AND HOLC SECURITIES

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Secretary Henry Morgenthau announced today the treasury will offer 1 billion 151 million dollars of treasury notes for refunding of maturing securities of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Home Owners Loan corporation. The interest rate and maturity date of the notes have not been decided.

They will be offered in exchange for 875 million of 2¼ HOLC bonds which have been called for payment July 1, and for 276 million of 1 per cent RFC notes which mature July 1.

The New York Central's all-coach streamliner between Chicago, Indianapolis, and Cincinnati, the James Whitcomb Riley, will start Sunday operation this week, leaving Chicago at 4:40 p. m., J. W. Open Harvester Plant Voting on Union Maintenance Clause

Union members among a vast army of International Harvester company employés began casting secret ballots yesterday in an election holding national interest for its prospective effect on the controversial issue of "union security" and the government's policy toward the question.

For the first time in the National War Labor board's recent handling of similar questions, rank and file union members were polled on the question of union maintenance—keeping union memberships in good standing thru payment of dues and otherwise abiding by union rules as a condition of continued employment.

Called Closed Shop Variant.

"Union security" is an issue on which some managements and some labor officials are at wide variance. Maintenance of membership, which some management representatives have termed just another variation of the closed shop, has been written into other union contracts at the behest of WLB, but without definite knowledge that union members desired it.

To decide the point in Harvester's case, an estimated 3,626 employés eligible to vote, cast ballots in a big tent opposite the main gate of the company's tractor works at 2600 West 31st street. Another 2,664 voted at the company's Milwaukee works, and by tomorrow, about 20,000 will have cast their ballots at the eight midwest plants of the company.

The elections will decide the remaining point at issue between the company and unions of CIO and AFL employés. Other points, including a retroactive wage increase of 4½ cents an hour, were agreed upon and written into the contracts already in effect.

The Chicago vote was among members of the Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee [CIO]. The Milwaukee vote was cast by members of an American Federation of Labor union. Office workers and nonunion plant employés are not involved in the election.

CIO CLAIMS VICTORY

Local officials of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] announced last night that they had won in two elections held under orders of the National Labor Relations board at the Buick airplane engine plant in Melrose Park. In the toolroom election, according to Robert Wright, organizer for the UAW, the count was 241 CIO and 142 AFL, while in the production and maintenance department the count was 3,883 CIO and 471 for no union. The AFL was not an issue in the latter election.

Ford Asks New Pact

Detroit, Mich., May 20 (AP).—The Ford Motor company served notice today on the United Automobile Workers [CIO] that it wishes to write a complete new contract with the union to supplant the present agreement which was signed last June 20. UAW-CIO officials already have notified the company they would seek amendments to the contract, including a provision for a general $1 a day pay raise.

2 More Firms, 5 Copyrights Seized by U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 20 (AP).—Leo T. Crowley, alien property custodian, today assumed control of two German controled companies in the United States and copyrights of five German textbooks.

The companies were Steel Union, Inc., a California corporation which is the selling agent in this country of the German steel trust, and the American Bosch corporation, manufacturer of automobile and airplane fuel injector equipment.

First Copyrights Seized.

The textbook copyrights constituted the first seizure by Crowley of anything except corporations or patents. Crowley said the books were texts on military and medical subjects. Copyrights had been turned over to the Library of Congress and the Office of Scientific Research in order to avoid any complications in the use of the books by the army and navy.

The seizure of the Bosch company was the second for this firm. Under a slightly different name it was seized by the alien property custodian in the first World war, but eventually returned to German control, particularly because of its use of patents of the late Robert Bosch, who died in Germany a few weeks ago.

No Criticism Implied.

Crowley said that, while it was necessary for him to supervise the company, the seizure "implies no criticism of the present management of the American Bosch corporation, which have made an excellent effort in the war effort."

Technically, Crowley's order vested in him control of 535,000 shares of Bosch capital stock, which had been deposited in the City Bank Farmers' Trust company of New York as agent for a voting trustee. This stock amounts to 77.24 per cent of the stock in the corporation.

In the case of Steel Union, Inc., Crowley vested in himself 25 shares of the capital stock, representing 100 per cent control.

ODT LISTS 21 VESSELS ON LAKES AVAILABLE FOR GRAIN MOVEMENT

Fred S. Keiser, transportation consultant of the Office of Defense Transportation in Chicago, yesterday announced a list of 19 boats and two lake barges that will be available for hauling grain on the Great Lakes this year. The boats are unsuitable for hauling ore and thus can be used for other cargoes, Keiser said.

Permits to ship grain in these vessels must be obtained from the ODT office in the Civic Opera building. Keiser said that when the ore boats have accumulated a surplus at steel mills, some of them likely will be made available to the grain trade. Meanwhile, any grain shipper desiring a boat can obtain one by calling his office, he said.

GOLDBLATT EMPLOYES SAVINGS AND PENSION PLAN PUT IN EFFECT

Installation of an employés' savings and profit sharing pension plan was announced yesterday by Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., Chicago department store chain. The plan was set up last January with an initial contribution of $200,000 by the company.

The plan provides that in order to participate employés must deposit 5 per cent of their salaries, but in no case may they deposit more than $250. The company is to contribute an amount not less than 5 per cent of its consolidated net profits after provision for federal income taxes.

Employés who have completed 10 years of participation in the plan have the right, on cancelation of membership, to withdraw all monies and securities credited to their accounts. An employé who has not completed 10 years of participation may withdraw the amount he has deposited plus accrued interest.

Trustees of the plan propose to invest deposits of the employés in war bonds. The plan, it was explained, seeks to encourage the savings habit and to help employés accumulate savings to provide for retirement.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT OFF, BUT TOPS LAST YEAR

Electric power production in the United States during the week ended May 16 was 3,356,921,000 kilowatt hours, a decline of 0.3 per cent from the preceding week but an increase of 11.5 per cent over the output for the corresponding 1941 period, the Edison Electric Institute reported yesterday. The decline from the week before was considered contraseasonal.

Pacific coast power production gained 19.6 per cent over a year ago to top the regional increases. The central industrial region was 9.3 per cent higher.

Last week's electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area amounted to 153,733,000 kilowatt hours, against 153,835,000 the preceding week and 140,082,000 in the same period last year.

RISING SKILLED WORKER NEEDS ARE PREDICTED

An increasingly acute shortage of all types of skilled workers was predicted yesterday by Maj. L. M. Warfel, occupational adviser to the selective service system in Cook and Du Page counties. He spoke at the war problems school of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel.

Competition for skilled mechanics and other workers will increase with each new plant in the Chicago area, Maj. Warfel asserted. Noting that the basic requirements for occupational deferment are important occupation in essential work, he advised employers to state specifically the type of war production their companies are engaged in when seeking deferment for employés.

PACKARD CHIEF SAYS: JUST GIVE US MATERIALS!

Ready to Make Any Engines Needed.

Detroit, Mich., May 20 (AP).—George T. Christopher, president of the Packard Motor Car company, which now makes airplane and torpedo boat engines, said today that if it could get materials the company "would be able to build as many as anybody wanted."

In converting its production from civilian manufacture, Christopher said, Packard has utilized 60 per cent of its original machinery working on marine engines. He said both marine and aircraft motors "are being produced on schedule," but the numbers must remain a military secret.

Visit Hudson and Chrysler.

Newspaper reporters on the National Association of Manufacturers "production for victory" tour visited the Packard plant, the navy arsenal operated by the Hudson Motor Car company, and the army arsenal operated by Chrysler corporation.

At the Hudson factory A. E. Barit, president, said, production of the 20 millimeter navy anti-aircraft guns, modeled after the Oerliken weapon, was being speeded. The Detroit naval arsenal is a branch of the navy's gun factory in Washington, D. C., and is accepting supplemental jobs for material required by naval ordnance.

G. T. Christopher.

A. E. Barit.

In addition to the anti-aircraft guns, Hudson is making heavy gun mounts, instruments, and stationary and mobile mounts for the Oerliken gun, Barit said.

Chrysler Making Tanks.

At the Chrysler arsenal, which is engaged in manufacturing old model tanks while at the same time switching to a new design, reporters saw tanks being turned off the production lines at a rate several times higher than has been previously reported.

The automotive industry is turning out airplane parts, tanks, guns, and engines far above the scheduled rate and is ready "to make a million of anything if they will let us know what they want," K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation, told the reporters.

He said Chrysler's schedule for bomber sections has been maintained and would soon be increased 150 per cent. He also enumerated a long list of his company's war products, which he said had utilized 78 per cent of old machinery and would increase employment by 60 per cent this year.

Items in Production.

Among projects itemized by Keller as now being carried forth by Chrysler are making of cores for armor piercing cartridges, shell forgings, anti-aircraft guns, fire pumps and sirens for civilian defense, infantry trucks, compasses for airplanes, motor powered pontoons and landing apparatus for airplanes.

He said a new midwest plant soon would be in volume production of bullets and would employ tens of thousands of workers.

"We are operating nearly 100 per cent on war work," he declared, "and have retained only a few small jobs in our civilian work.

"We may not be the biggest automobile firm to switch over to war production, but we certainly are the most diversified."

TAX CUTS PUBLIC SERVICE OF N. J. PROFIT FOR YEAR

Federal Levies Placed at 21 Million Dollars.

Federal tax bills which nearly doubled in the 12 months ended April 30 resulted in a sharp drop in earnings of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. The company reported yesterday that its net income for the period amounted to $17,809,882, equal to $1.44 per share of common stock, compared with $23,618,275, or $2.50 a share, in the 12 months ended with April, 1941.

The company set aside $21,382,321 for the period's federal income and excess profits taxes, compared with $11,584,510 in the earlier period. Directors of the company on Tuesday had made another cut in the common dividend to 20 cents a share.

United Drug Earns More.

United Drug, Inc., announced from headquarters in Boston that March quarter net earnings were $476,640, equal to 34 cents a share, against $207,588, or 15 cents a share, a year earlier.

Sales and earnings of the Electric Household Utilities corporation during 1941 were the largest for any year since 1930, shareholders were informed in the annual pamphlet report of E. N. Hurley Jr. Net profit was $701,665, equal to $1.81 a share, compared with the 1940 figure of $247,321, or 64 cents a share.

"War work accounted for 10 per cent of our 1941 sales volume, but should account for over 90 per cent this year," Hurley said. "The volume of war orders on our books is about three times our normal annual volume."

GRAINS UNEVEN; TRADE ACTIVITY AT WEEK'S HIGH

Big Demand for Corn Factor in Market.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grain prices fluctuated nervously yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. The market finished irregular with dealers completing the best day's trade in a week. While speculative interest accounted for sporadic reactions in wheat and rye, dealers said the big industrial demand for corn continued to dominate the market.

Several of the large grain firms disclosed sales of corn to industrial consumers the last few days will practically exhaust stocks stored in interior elevators.

Buy Now for July.

Grain men said they believed some industrial consumers had already booked June requirements and were buying now for July. They estimated that corn booked to come to Chicago alone would exceed 3 million bushels. They said Iowa industries were particularly active in the market.

The range of corn futures was limited to less than a cent a bushel in trade expanded by cash house operations on both sides of the market. Prices were unchanged to ¼ cent higher at the close, with July at 88⅝ cents a bushel.

Wheat finished ¼ to ½ cent higher, with July at $1.21½ after shorts in rye rushed into the wheat pit to hedge sales when they were unable to cover in the rye market. Wheat had dipped about a cent a bushel early and advanced more than 1½ cents when the rye shorts came into the market.

Oats Down Fractionally.

Oats were ⅛ to ¾ cent lower; rye, ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, and soy beans, 1½ to 2⅜ cents lower.

Oats covered a range of more than a cent a bushel as export sale of 60,000 bushels was reported. Added to other shipping sales, oats for shipment from Chicago totaled 86,000 bushels. Dealers reported purchase of 10,000 bushels of new crop oats for the Chicago market.

Shippers reported sale of 15,000 bushels of wheat and 34,000 bushels of corn.

LARGEST LEAD PRODUCER.

What company is the largest lead producer in the United States and what were its financial operations over the last several years?—M. T.

Answer: The St. Joseph Lead company is ranked the largest lead producer in the United States. The company supplies about a third of the nation's output. Mines are operated in southeastern Missouri, one of the largest producing areas in the world, and in Oklahoma and Kansas, with a total annual capacity of 180,000 tons.

The company owns and operates a lead smelter with an annual capacity of 100,000 tons of pig lead adjacent to the mining property in Missouri. In addition, the company owns two low cost zinc mines with a combined annual capacity of 50,000 tons in New York state, and an Argentine subsidiary operating a lead, zinc, and silver mine in that country.

Incorporated in New York in 1864, the company's sole capitalization is 1,955,680 shares of $10 par capital stock outstanding. Besides ammunition, a growing use for lead is in the manufacture of lead-tetraethyl, used for tempering gasoline. A record of recent financial operations follows:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Dividends.
1941	$42,647,811	$4,893,455	$2.00
1940	38,507,829	5,111,942	2.25
1939	30,362,605	5,855,562	2.00
1938	19,646,827	1,640,858	1.00
1937	32,776,805	7,553,987	2.50
